

Pagan Revival

#44

Celebrating 2,000 Years of Cultural Imperialism and Genocide

Happy Birthday, Jesus

What's In This Issue

Book Reviews By Thomas Padgett Page 3

The Traps and Pitfalls of the Financial Market
by Market Wizard Page 4

Music Reviews by Wyatt Kaldenberg Page 4

Letters 5 & 23 & 25 & 41 & 43

Ohio Deathfest 99 and Interview With Death Metal bands:
Vomit Remnants and Intestinal Infection By Tom Padgett
Page 6

CAN "GOD" UNIFY OUR WESTERN DESTINIES?
By: A member of the Gallic Heathen Front Page 7

The Blot And The Folk's Relationship With The Gods
Page 10

CHRISTIANS: CITIZENS OR TERRORISTS Page 11

Computer Muzik: Industrial to Techno-Core Page 11

DEFINING MAGICK ...AND THE MAGICKIAN and
The Satanic Bible: A Revelation or a fraud? By Lord
Slayer Page 12

An Introduction To Odinism by the Odinic Rite Page 14

PARAMETERS MAGAZINE By Allen Semenenchuk
Page 20

WILL OF POWER AS A POLITICAL WEAPON
By: A member of the Gallic Heathen Front Page 22

In Short Page 23

SEPARATING THE THRALLS FROM THE JARLS:
Some Thoughts on a Constitutional Meritocracy and M.O.
G: Monotheist Occupational Government by Wyatt Kaldenberg
Page 24

The Prophet Julian And The First Pagan Revival
Page 39

Christian Knavery Re-Captures Rome Page 40

THERE IS NO FREEDOM WITHOUT A GOVERNMENT OF OUR OWN: There Can Be No Freedom Without Power! By Wyatt Kaldenberg
Page 42

Pagan Revival
magazine
#44

Pagan Revival

Post Office Box 686

Bonsall, CA 92003-0686

Subscriptions : $20

Make All Checks & Money Orders Payable to:
Wyatt Kaldenberg, publisher.

Notice:

The Pagan Revival publication is a voice of the Eurocentric polytheistic communities. Opinions expressed within Pagan Revival do not necessarily reflect the policies and views of the publisher nor this magazine.

Pagan Revival magazine is strongly Odinic and its main goal is to promote the religion of Asatru which worships the living Gods Odin, Thor, Tyr, Frey, Njord, Heimdal, Ull, etc. and the living Goddesses Frigga, Sif, Jord, Freyja, Zisa, Ostara, etc., but Pagan Revival supports all Aryan Pagan and Eurocentric traditions.

The magazine's goal is to promote the survival and advancement of the Folk by... (1.) Re-uniting our people with their true spirituality and to combat Europhobia and xenophilia by teaching our people how to love themselves...(2.) Building an economic base for the Odinic community through the encouragement of Odinic run businesses and urging Odinists to invest in the stocks of legitimate, mainstream companies...(3.) Creating public outreach programs...(4.) Assisting White couples in having large Odinic families and to enlighten White children in the art of rejecting the self-hate which democracy casts on our people. ETC.

Articles, poems, artwork, etc. submitted to Pagan Revival become the property of the magazine. Pagan Revival will not return any submissions of any kind, so make yourself a copy or kiss that sucker good-bye. Pagan Revival is copyrighted by Wyatt Kaldenberg, except for articles previously published elsewhere or which are individually copyrighted. Permission is granted to copy, or quote in part or in full provided credit is given to Pagan Revival and the author of said article and the Pagan Revival address is included with the copy.

Pagan Revival has an US FIRST! policy for if we don't put ourselves first who will? Articles written by Aryan Pagans have a greater chance of being published, although writers need be neither Aryan nor Pagan to be published.

Book Reviews

By Thomas Padgett

The Next World War:

Computers are the weapons and the front line is every where
By James Adams Simon & Schuster 366pp 1998

Conventional weapons like warplanes, battleships, tanks, artillery and infantry will not decide wars of the future. The new weapons will be computer viruses, logic bombs, back door entries, worms and Trojan horses. Welcome to information warfare. The war in cyberspace, where the target is not the enemy military but the enemy society's computer infrastructure, electrical power, transportation systems and electronic commerce.

Adams states that during the cold war the balance of power was divided between NATO and the Warsaw Pact. This was a clean, neat division; we knew who had what territory. This is also a vision that today can be found only in history books. Today there are no walls, no fronts, and due to the rapid increase in technological development the dynamics are constantly changing.

This sets up several interesting and ironic developments. First off, back in the 1950's the flow of technological innovations went from the military to the civilian sector. Today the flow is reversed, much to the consternation of the Pentagon. Second, as was mentioned before, information warfare has become vastly more important than standard weapons of war, but not in the minds of career generals and admirals. In their minds, information warfare should be regulated to a subsidiary role to their conventional toys, and the thought of being behind the learning curve to a twenty-something junior officer is something that has the top brass in complete denial.

Another interesting development Adams covers is the destruction of nationalism. He gives examples in the book of a worldwide community in cyberspace of mountaintop dwellers, who feel more in common with other mountaintop dwellers in other countries than their own country's citizens in the valley. Racially, I feel the same way about white people anywhere in the world compared to non-whites in America. Adams also quotes a computer hacker discussing a High-Energy Radio Frequency gun (HERF), which is a high energy device that resembles a giant microwave. These are extremely dangerous to make, as it is easy to microwave yourself, but once it is ready, look out. The hacker discussed flying over Silicon Valley in a private plane, zapping Cisco, Sun, Oracle and a host of other high tech companies. I wonder what effect that would have on the stock market?

But the most encouraging idea in the book is that the government, by its bureaucratic nature, is doomed to remain behind the hackers and cyber warriors. Cyber warfare requires lateral thinking, something that is quite alien to the average bureaucrat. Also, computer technology doubles in efficiency approximately every 18 months, which is about the length of time it takes the government to assemble a task force to study the problem! Ideas, anyone?

NO MORE HERO'S:

Madness and Psychiatry in War
By Richard A. Gabriel 1987 Hill & Wang

The author's main premise is that due to the increased killing power of modern weaponry we may be reaching the limits of hu-capacity to withstand the shock of the battlefield. This has led the various governments of the world to search for a chemical compound that will remove all fear from future combat soldiers. Quoting the author: "If the chemical soldier becomes a reality, he will know death but not fear it. There will be no limit on his ability to kill. We will thus cross a new and frightening frontier that will alter forever accepted definitions of normality and mental illness".

Psychiatric breakdown in combat is nothing new, Gabriel details a history of battle fatigue going back to the Greeks and Romans, and subsequent wars through Vietnam. An interesting conclusion is that 1% of combat soldiers are immune from psychiatric collapse, and these are "aggressive sociopath personalities". In other words, only the insane can function normally in an insane environment.

Gabriel also reviews a history of the attempts to control fear using other substances. He describes a drug made from the Amanita Muscaria mushroom, a red-speckled cousin of the deadly "Angel of Death" that was used by the Koyak and Wiros warriors of Central Russia and various Viking tribes to induce berzerker fury. Apparently, the men who took the drug became almost totally immune to pain and at the same time became capable of great feats of physical strength and endurance. All of these tribes were feared for their brutality and endurance in battle.

The Modern English word "assassin" is derived from hashshashin: a band of Moslem warriors who used hashish prior to battle to reduce fear and control pain. Alcohol, valerian root, Valium, Elavil and Librium are also discussed. The problem with these substances is their reduction of the ability of the brain to process information and think quickly. In addition, they interfere with normal sleep and are short lived. The problem is to find something that will prevent or at least reduce anxiety while allowing the soldier to retain his normal levels of acute mental awareness. The U. S. military has already developed at least three prototypes that show great "promise". One of these drugs may be a variant of buspirone (prescription drug BuSpar).

The author finishes with a plea for settling disputes by other means than war. If my memory serves me correctly, since 1987 (when the book was written) the world hasn't been without wars at all. Therefore, to me the questions are: Should we consider chemical methods in battle? Are other, more natural ways (rituals, strong racial beliefs and convictions, meditating on warrior runes, etc.) as effective?

And on the lighter side, what will be the effect on "the streets" if this compound is developed and is available in the underground black market, as it inevitably will be.

There should be some interesting times ahead.

PSYCHIC WARRIOR:

What the government doesn't want you to know. The true story of America's foremost psychic spy and the cover-up of the CIA's top secret Stargate program. David Morehouse St Martius Mass market paperback. 320 pages (1998)

- "Your life will never be the same". Thus came the first chilling words to Captain David Morehouse as he sat facing the program director of Stargate, the U.S. government's top secret, psychic espionage program. "What we do here is train selected personnel to transcend time and space, to view persons, places and things remote in time and space, and to gather intelligence information on the same". Morehouse describes his training in remote viewing, and he makes it clear that he was not a natural psychic, but was just applying technical skills. He also shared research from the Soviet Union about machines designed to disrupt human brainwaves, causing nausea, stupor, vertigo, and even death. Other things discussed were energy alarms to detect the presence of remote viewers, remote mind manipulations whose principal focus was to access the mind of another human being and kill him, and the history of out of body (OBE) experiences going back to ancient Egypt.

Morehouse described incredible remote viewing adventures of recent events as well as viewing evidence of ancient civilizations on Mars. He also claims the ability to view historical events and contacting the spirits of the deceased on the other side.

He eventually became disillusioned with the program, feeling that remote viewing could be used for positive break throughs in education, science and medicine, instead of gathering military intelligence and using it as a weapon. When he threatened to go public about the program, there were numerous attempts on his life and the lives of his wife and children as well as phone taps and alarming calls in the middle of the night. Naturally, the federal government denies any responsibility, but if you are enlightened enough to be reading Pagan Revival I'm sure that you can see through that smoke screen.

Court-martialed, Morehouse resigned from the Army under duress, following being on the receiving end of the chilling lengths certain facets of the U.S. government will go to hide the truth. There are several different courses offered to learn remote viewing (including one offered by Morehouse). Let's think about what the ability to transcend time and space means, and the exciting possibility that with the right training we all have that ability. The potential exists to change our whole view of reality to a much more accurate and exciting one. Stay tuned for further developments.

The Traps and Pitfalls of the Financial Market

By Market Wizard

As has been discussed in previous articles: trading stocks, commodity, futures, and options can be an ideal business. There is no inventory, no overhead, no employees, no selling, and due to technology a trader can work from virtually anywhere in the world. But there are a number of sharks swimming in the water surrounding that island of financial freedom. Let's take a look at a few of them.

First off, out and out fraud. A rule that I follow is to never, ever speculate in penny stocks. These stocks are just concepts and ideas; the regulation and registration requirements of stocks listed on the "pink sheets" are an invitation to scam artists. If a stock is really a good idea, there will be plenty of time to get in when it is listed on a major exchange like the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) or the NASDAQ/AMEX.

Another area of fraud is the late night, highly hyped infomercials that promise unlimited returns in commodity, futures, options in commodities like grains or heating oil. Please understand that the options market is highly complex. A future article will discuss it in detail, but for now it is enough to say that any money sent to those late night hucksters is gone, to the last penny. Likewise, avoid the Initial Public Offering (IPO) markets. For those of you new to the game, an initial public offering occurs when a company has convinced an underwriter to raise money by issuing stock in the company. If it is a promising company, the underwriter will approach the big institutions (i.e., banks, insurance companies, mutual funds, etc.) first. Assuming that the stock is under priced, they will enjoy a ride up (on the backs of small investors who are pitched later) and "flip" the stock, selling out a day later, leaving the little guys holding the bag. This is not a level playing field, and I would never get in an IPO that would have me.

Another dangerous area is trading on tips, particularly on the Internet. There is an old scheme called "pump and dump" which works like this: I have a huge amount of shares in a worthless penny stock. I set up a web page, call myself an expert and start hyping the stock. Suckers buy in, the price goes up and I'm out of here, see ya! Remember, always question the motive of anyone. How about the experts in the financial press and on CNBC? They have to know what they are talking about, don't they? Well, yes and no. Yes in the sense that many of them have tons of experience and devote a lot of time to the markets and equities that they are discussing. But very few of them make their living solely off their trading profits, and they almost never admit that they are wrong just early. At times I feel like screaming at these people: "Fuck you, you're not early, you're wrong"! Because most of us watching are putting up our own money we have learned not to listen blindly to these "experts".

Same thing with a full service broker. If you are really serious about succeeding you will put in the study time and do it yourself with a discount broker.

Finally, remember my two rules and you will have a chance. Rule number one; if you don't understand it completely, stay out of it. Rule number two: This is not your lucky day! People who rely on luck over knowledge get burnt in the market place. Good trading!

Music Reviews

CATHEDRAL, In Memoriam, The Music Cartel, 106 West 32nd St. 3rd Fl, NY, NY, 10001

The Doom band Cathedral's CD, In Memoriam, is a new release of "lost" demo tapes from the band back in 1990 and some live tracks recorded in Holland in '91. The style of Doom which Cathedral plays on this CD is soundly peppered with Black Sabbath riffs, however, they have fiercely slowed the tempo by tuning their guitars down to A. Even a lot of the drum work is lethargic. One cool thing about In Memoriam is it features both studio and live versions of some of the same songs on the same CD. A few of my favorite tunes are Mourning Of A New Day, All Your Sins, and Neophytes For The Serpent Eve. In Memoriam is a great addition to your Doom metal collection. Even if you're not into Doom, it is worth your time to hear just how slow metal can be played.

SALLY, Sally, The Music Cartel, 106 West 32nd St. 3rd Fl, NY, NY 10001,

The heavy metal band, Sally, was named after the tortured soul, Sally Hardesty, from the classic 70s horror flick "The Texas Chainsaw Massacre." Sally is a good metal band. The promotional literature they sent describes their sound as "...straddl(ing) the divide between stoner rock and thunderous doom metal...." However, I can't see Sally as being characterized as part of the doom genre. They're too fast for doom.

My favorite tracks on this CD are: "Lord of The Trees", "Monkey Steals The Peach", and "Kentucky Fried Motherfucker."

NAPALM DEATH, Bootlegged In Japan, Earache Records, 295

La Fayette St. #915, NYC, NY 10012

Bootlegged In Japan is an uncommonly clear recording of NA-PALM DEATH's 1996 Tokyo gig, featuring some of the band's grind-core golden oldies. This CD is packed full of 24 grind metal tracks. Some of my preferred cuts are: "My Own Worst Enemy", "Mass Appeal Madness", "Siege of Power", and "The Kill".

Letters

Wyatt,

Just a quick observation about your reply to Zane Howe. I agree with just about everything that you said, but I can only speak for myself and I don't claim to have a blueprint for victory. My question is this: if someone has the energy and inclination to go after the upper class, or ethnic clubs or suit wearers or military types, well why not let them go at it? Just because the deck is stacked or because these things have been tried before and failed doesn't mean they are impossible. Likewise, I agree with you about the Klan and the Identity idiots, but maybe in their own backwards way they are accomplishing something. To my way of thinking, we don't want to fall into the Ben Klassen "One Big Battering Ram" type of thinking, because the more different groups and fronts we have, the harder it is for the enemy to crush us. "One Big Battering Ram" makes for one big, easy target. It's harder to hit 1,000s of tiny targets. That being said, I believe your approach is correct, but I would like your comments on my ideas. Sincerely... Thomas Kenny, Lompoc, CA

Brother Thomas:

If some one wants to make a right turn and go after the upper classes, this is fine with me, but it is nothing Pagan Revival would be interested in doing.. Why? Because courting the upper classes has been done to death by the John Birch Society, Liberty Lobby, the Republican Party, David Duke, and that right wing magazine out of Florida where all the middle class pussies hide behind their zip codes.

What is wrong with recruiting the upper classes? Nothing. What is wrong with COURTING the upper classes? Everything!

The history of all revolutionary movements is that they were started in the lower classes, and once the movement became strong, the upper classes came and corrupted the revolution and made it into something very un-revolutionary. This was true with the Christian revolution. The Christ cult started in the slave quarters and ended up being turned upside down and inside out until the upper classes took over Christianity and made the Communist teachings of Jesus Christ into a feudal Christian state which only benefited the upper classes and enslaved everyone even the lower class peons who created Christianity. The American Revolution was started by White working class people like Thomas Paine, Nathan Hale, and Sam Adams. The American Revolution was betrayed when rich capitalists, free masons, and slave owners who loved to raped black slave girls, like Thomas Jefferson and George Washington, took the revolution over. The upper classes are counter-revolutionaries.

Revolutions are supported by the social outcasts of society. People who really don't have much to lose will support a revolution. People who have a great deal invested in a society don't want to take the chance that they will lose everything in a revolution. Revolutions frighten the people who have things, and revolution gives hope to the have-nots. The upper classes want to reform society. They don't like ideas that are too radical, because radical change may cost them money.

The question is: do we want to reform the iron heel or do we want to replace it with a new order? For if we wish to reform the iron heel, then we must court the upper class, but if we want a new society, then we must court the outcasts of the system.

Who is the iron heel, but the middle and upper class White Folks? It always strikes me odd to hear a racist talk about the White upper classes as if, some how, they are at odds with the government. Jesus Christ, under democracy, the middle and upper classes are the government. If the upper classes are not in power under the iron heel, then who is? Some penniless redneck living in a trailer park?

For the White race to survive, the so called race movement must take a revolutionary stand. We can't reform the beast. The only question is whether we should advocate violent revolution or non-violent revolution. From 1978 until about a year and a half ago, the middle of 1998, I advocated violent White revolution. Today, I am turning away from violent revolution towards a more non-violent type of revolution. This is not because I care what the masses think nor because I think violence is morally wrong, but it is because I realize, now, that the race movement could not fight its way out of a gay bar on a slow night. The movement is too full of pussies to take arms against the iron heel. We are not ready to fight. We don't even have our ideology down yet. National Socialism, as Hitler said, was not for export. As Hitler said, Nazism won't work in America.

The problem with courting the middle and upper classes is that you have to water down your program to get them. Hitler once said that the only reason he called his philosophy National SOCIALISM was to frighten off the middle class. Why? Because Hitler knew that the only way he could get the middle class was to water down his programs. Hitler wanted to keep National Socialism radical. However, the upper classes got into the movement and caused World War II.

This middle class war crushed the National Socialist revolution.

David Duke courted the middle class by denouncing racialism, denouncing the idea that America belongs to White people, and saying he would not mind his daughters marrying a Jew or a black as long as they were Christian.

Why did David Duke say these things? Because the middle class are afraid of radical ideas and Duke wanted to show them how moderate he had become. Does Duke really want his daughters marrying black Jesusfreaks? I don't know, but it doesn't matter, because once you sell your soul to the middle class it is gone forever. Do you want Pagan Revival to sell its soul to win the middle class?

For Odin, Wyatt

Dear Pagan Revival:

I got #43 in the mail. I was wondering do we have an Aryan Pagan "Bible"? I want to read a guide book on our religion...Mary

Sister Mary:

Many books were burnt by the monos. So, we will have to write our own "Bible". It needs to be written by many people over a long period of time and refined as the Jewish and Christian bibles were. This should be a topic for next PR. What should go into the bible of the New Paganism? The mono bible works because it is first of all good story telling, religious morals contained in very short tales. Their bible is 1,000s of stories crammed into one book. This should be our style too. Short tales surrounded by Aryan morals...Wyatt

Ohio Deathfest 99

By Tom Padgett

Ohio Deathfest 99 was held in Lakewood, OH. Presented by Abated Records and Double M Productions. It was billed as "The most brutal party of the year", and with this international line-up, who could argue: Devour, Ton, Skinless, Dehumanized, Revdurnment, Gorgasm, Lividity, Dying Fetus, Cryptopsy, Satan's God, Arius, Splattered Cadaum, Evil Incarnate, Intestinal Infection, Rotting, Malignancy, Prophecy, Deaden, Cephalic Carnage, Disgorge, Mortal Decay, Regurgitation, Vomit Remnants, Fleshgrind and International Bleeding.

The action began Friday evening close to 7:00 PM when the band Devour took the stage and proceeded to turn the auditorium into Hell itself with their rapid intensity and insane growling. Devour also received an enthusiastic response for their exhortations to "fuck all this modern stuff; return to your pagan roots". They also called for "external metal war". Ton got the pit going and Skinless threw a bicycle off stage with commands to destroy it, totally, which the mob proceeded to do immediately. The intensity somehow kept growing and growing with the Canadian band Cryptopsy finishing off the night.

Saturday action began with a maniac called Satan's God, a one man act who managed to insult the entire human race. This degenerate even had a song called "Albert Fish love stories" (for those readers who don't know, Albert Fish was undoubtedly one of the sickest human beings in history; a unique blend of murder, torture, sado-masochism, cannibalism and self-abuse. Legend has it that when Fish was strapped into the electric chair, having been convicted of murdering an eight year old girl and making her into a stew, he jumped into the chair, excited that this was perhaps the only thrill that he hadn't experienced. When the switch was thrown, the chair short-circuited due to all the metal pins Fish had inserted into his body, particularly his balls) Wow, talk about sick!

Being an opening act is tough, but he got the crowd going. The action proceeded virtually non-stop until after 2:30 am. All the bands were well received, especially Intestinal Infections all the way from Bravvschweig, Germany and Vomit Remnants, all the way from Tokyo, Japan (See below for interviews with these two dynamic, intense and exciting up-coming bands).

Splattered Cadauer brought the house down with a song titled "Priests Rape Kids, Kids Come Back And Kill Priests". This went over especially good with the many wearers of the "Jesus is a Cunt" T-shirts.

It's easy to see why the religious right, as well as so many mainstream conservatives are so horrified by this hard core music. The lyrics represent not a partial repudiation of Judeo-Christian ethics, but a total repudiation of Judeo Christian ethics.

These perceptive young rebels can look around and see with frightening clarity the kind of world that they have inherited, and intuitively realize that a pagan attitude is the best way to survive in a world gone mad, and if the system doesn't like it, well, too fucking bad.

Overall, the event was a rousing success. These were undoubtedly the sickest bands on the planet, much to delight of the crowd. Special thanks to Brian and Mike of Extreme Musick for all of their help to Pagan Revival. And there's no question that next years Deathfest will be even bigger and sicker!

Interview with Vomit Remnants,

Interview by Thomas Padgett with Kei Suke, drummer of V.R.

Pagan Revival: First off, how long have you guys been together?

VR: About two years.

PR: How would you describe your style of music?

VR: Fuck all humanity, brutal screaming, brutality. (much laughter from the entire band)

PR: That's understandable, now, how did you guys come up with the name Vomit Remnants?

VR: One day, Ryo, our bass player, drank too much and threw up on himself.

PR: How is the club scene in Japan?

VR: Very good, except Death metal, which is not so good because its so underground in Japan, but we feel our band's music is good and we are getting good promotion and distribution.

PR: Great! So where do you see the future for your band?

VR: More exposure, more travel and more publicity.

PR: Great, thanks so much, we are looking forward to hearing you tomorrow.

Vomit Remnants came all the way from Tokyo Japan for Ohio Deathfest 99. In this writers humble opinion, if someone wondered what Death metal is all about, I would turn their CD on and let it speak far better than words. In spite of our language barrier their metal warrior spirit came across.

Intestinal Infection

Interview by Thomas Padgett with Ollie, guitarist and Sebastian, drummer of Intestinal Infection. Interview conducted at Ohio Deathfest 99 the day after the band, arrived all the way from Bravvschweig, Germany.

Pagan Revival: First off, how was the trip from Deutschland?

Ollie: Pretty exhausting, actually, it took us about 13 hours to get here, we had to change planes two times, and flying is really pretty boring. All you can do is watch the walls. But that's ok, we don't mind.

PR: Any trouble getting through customs, or anything like that?

Ollie: Immigration officers didn't go easy on us, questioned us really hard and our lead singers' English is not that good, but here we are, as you can see, so what the fuck

PR: The immigration officer must have had nothing better to do

Ollie: Yeah, he's important and he knows it (laughter)

PR: And he let you guys know who the boss is. (more laughter) Well, I always like to begin with the basics, how long have you guys been together?

Ollie: For about almost 7 years.

PR: Long time!

Ollie: Yeah, this current line-up has been together for a little more than a year, we have a couple of demo tapes out from the old line-up and a split 7 inch of regurgitate from Sweden. Also the old line-up with the old lead singer still in the band, we hopefully will be recording some new stuff soon during the summer and release a couple of split 7 inches again.

PR: Well, after seven years, it sounds like you've learned the business end of this operation.

Ollie: Yeah, we are all underground fanatics, that's all we really need to know, how to get shows and get our stuff distributed.

PR: Ollie, what is your main creative influence? Do you have anyone in particular?

Ollie: No, not really, I'm into all kinds of extreme stuff like, death metal and grind corpse, some black metal bands, although not so many, a lot of old stuff from the 80s, so, I pick the best out of everything really.

PR: Do you guys have any Pagan influences?

Sebastian: There was a black metal band that is split up, basically you could say that, we are definitely not Christians. We don't have much of a Satanist flavor, we just believe in ourselves, you know, doing our thing.

Ollie: I'm personally not too much into organized religion at all, I prefer to think for myself and not let people tell me what to do, and I think that goes, more or less, for all of us. I don't mind what other people are doing as long as they are happy with it and don't try to force it on me.

PR: How about politics, any political leanings?

Ollie: No, we don't care too much about politics, we had some political lyrics in the early years by guys not in the band anymore but we couldn't do it nowadays, just sick, gore stuff, good clean fun.

PR: Something guaranteed to make everyone mad, huh, offend everyone?

Ollie: (laughter) Yeah, we have songs about serial killers, songs about pregnant women taking roller-coaster rides, stuff like that.

PR: How did you come up with the name for the band?

Ollie: I wasn't in the band back then, so I can't really tell you, I guess the old lead singer grabbed a dictionary and looked for something that sounded nice to him.

PR: Something to get some attention and stand out a little bit. Well, as far as the future, just keep going on the way things have been going?

Ollie: Yeah, keep on doing our thing, try to play as many shows as possible, we hope to play a European tour next year and come back to the U.S. if we can afford it, we want to, I know we could get shows here, but money's always a problem, we had to leave our bassist behind, we will be playing as a 3-piece. Although we are normally four, because he couldn't afford to pay for the flight, but yeah, we hope to record more in the future.

PR: How would you characterize the underground scene in Europe?

Ollie: It's a little bit different from the American one, it's a bit too much split up between the styles of music, the grind scene, death metal scene, black metal scene, it's not all metal, and there are not too many people who are open minded and listen to all kinds of extreme music, which makes no sense, not listening to pop music is one thing, but why hate someone who listens to death metal just because I prefer black metal?

Sebastian: These are mostly guys who haven't listened to metal very long, guys that are just 17 and tell me who to listen to.

PR: Same old story, have you seen a little more tolerance in Germany for the scene?

Sebastian: No, just the opposite.

PR: Is there anything else you would care to add?

Ollie: Yeah, thanks a lot man for your interest, and I want to take the opportunity to thank Brain Baxter for bringing us over here and Jeff for being a great person. And everyone who we hung out with and partied

PR: Alright, guys, we are looking forward to a great show!

CAN "GOD" UNIFY OUR WESTERN DESTINIES?

This article was written by a French member of the Gaelic Heathen Front, but he wants to make it known that his opinions don't necessarily reflect the opinions of the G.H.F.

Nowadays, the mass media are condemning the so-called "sects", which are in fact organizations unifying Men and Women who share the same religious / metaphysical / political ideals. The western governments condemn this phenomenon in order to forever destroy a Will of Spirituality wanted by some of us. Actually, the hidden intention of these "men of power" is to crush every point of Resistance to world Globalism and Capitalism. The reason is that the governments want to impose on our Folk a "Diktat". an imperative to reign on consciousness and individuals. Our modern societies want indeed to make us believe in the new universal God called MONEY, which will soon have annihilated every Will of Transcendence and Self-Evolution. The most important phase of this well-working mechanism is here: to make this dimension of our Folk's Ethos disappear among a stream of mediocrity and "mental illness" made of mixed como-political "culture". But WE are the only ones able to change this plan because we still are able to think by ourselves, which means for each of us to have a polemical point of view towards these illusions which are dumped everyday on our western societies.

In order to fight against this tendency of our modern-capitalist societies, we have chosen to join an heathenish dimension of Erudition and Wisdom. Why such a choice, rather than another one? Because we're conscious of the Sense of History and are able to see the signs heralding a decline of the West. Towards this movement of Times, we have chosen to hear the call of our Blood, the call of our Forefathers who sacrificed themselves to defend our Lands. This means for us the incarnation of true values in the everyday life, which manifest itself through conceptual Ideas such as Pride, Loyalty, Companionship and Duty of Respect towards our Ancestors. But this isn't the only way to feel heathen principles: we have to respect Nature as a Deity (Mother Nature), from which we come and to which we'll return, considering that the Gods are a part of the Natural Ensemble. Indeed, we can consider that Warriors who go to Valhalla return to Nature. In addition, we understand the expression "Natural Ensemble" as including Cosmological dimension and Sensitive dimension, as the Greek philosophers defined these two complementary elements of Universe. If we really want to return to ancient beliefs and Wisdom, we have for sure to follow the way shown by Greek philosophers. Indeed, if we consider, as the sophistical movement in Ancient Greece that Human is the measure of every part of the World (including Cosmos and Sensitive World) we are now able to demonstrate that a "communion", a Mysticism between Men and Gods is possible: this is the so-called Golden Age described in the indo-Aryan book of Myths Bhagavad Gita. That's why if we think that the Metron Anthrôpos theory is a valid one, we have to consider too that Gods are in harmony with Men, Mortals. Thus, two spheres are penetrating each other: the Metaphysical one (Kingdom of Gods) and the Physical one (sensitive world perceived by our 5 natural senses). But we have now to be more precise, saying that these two spheres can't totally penetrate each other: this is probably the most important point of this demonstration.

Indeed, our governments only want to make us perceive the physical sensitive sphere, by crushing the metaphysical one, which can be seen through persecutions we have to face because of our "metapolitical theories", as Julius Evola named it. But as we have shown at the beginning, WE are a sort of Elite because WE have seen and understood that History, in the complete meaning of the word, is made of these two spheres, which are existing together since the beginning of Universe.

That's why, considering our present elements shown here, we have to think that we are able to reach for the third sphere, which means the little part of the two other spheres where it penetrates each other. But how to reach this "third sphere"?

Of course by self-evolution, which means for a real heathen soul to be conscious of this internal structure of our World. But taking conscious of that is only the first stage of a Journey which will lead our souls in-depth into our own personalities. This is the only way to discover our own Ethos which has of course two parts: one including racial, volkisch heritage, and another one including our own personality which is a unique element of our human-western Life (already lived or to be lived). We have here to notify that the first part of the western Ethos is the only way, de facto, to access the third sphere, which means Mysticism, understood as a communion between Deity and Mortal. This second "level" of our Ethos can be "educated" via inner physical development (Body Training), psychological workings (Meditation) to harden your western soul to Communion. This is for sure the only and unique final aim of every real heathenish-thought process. Of course, this is not an easy path to follow but those who will not access it, will have to progress and try this again, to purify their minds and bodies enslaved by 2000 years of Judeo Christianity. But is this last remark a pertinent one or not?

Indeed, the process we described before, and well-known as "Mysticism", can be seen as existing in the Judeo-Christian conceptions of Life, too. Actually, it's simply because Christianity has made (and keeps doing) exact copies of Pagan religions and beliefs in its own doctrine and cultural practices. Thus we can consider that there are historical reasons to such a phenomenon. The question asking if it was a good process for our Folk or not, isn't the problem here, because we want to show that there are connections between Paganism and Christianity. As an example, some of the white racialists are christians, as the Imperial Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. And we can't consider them as being "poor-in-spirit" or "weak ones" just because they're Christians. Of course they worship a traitor who died as a thief, and whose people from the desert (Jewish tribes) made a King; but we are now too little true defenders of ethical / racial Values to start doing a War between us. That's why we can't agree with organizations as Norsk Hedenske Front, which consider that we have to create Unity only with Pagans. Of course it's a great idea and we understand such a position, but this will never make us stronger: don't forget that Unity makes us stronger; nothing else. In addition, we have to be open-minded with other White men as being Pagans, because it is a part of the true Pagan values: to listen to the other ones before agreeing or not. Lastly, the process we described at the beginning of this article is in fact the mechanism of Self-Transcendence, which is preached by the Bible too, through Mysticism (Extatic visions and Contemplations): the most important element is to see that Human needs an Idea, a Concept which transcendence him, able to guide his Life. But what is "God" other than a conceptual Idea?

Some of us understand "God" as Thor, Odin or Arawn, whereas other ones understand this word as the concept of "Race", or think that the word "God" can be linked with "Jesus Christ". That's why our religious conception isn't an important point between West Men: the most important is to be unified with westerners who have understood that they are in danger, and are so ready and able to defend themselves. If we are to become "sick of God" "God's soldiers" as Palestinians are, and understanding this word as we want (depending on our own Will or Interest), we will thus be unified and be soon able to preserve the White Lands. When we will have the power, then we will see. But now, this is not a problem and hasn't to be one: Destiny of the whole West and the future of our children are more important.

Capitalist publications just need to tie into capitalist marketing to survive. However, all none mainstream publications need to create their own market. This can only be done with a network of activists. ANARCHY magazine is on most major magazine stands in America. The Marxist zine The Nation is on most newsstands and in nearly ever public library in America. The Marxist magazine Mother Jones is even in the rich capitalist retail chains like K-Mart, Wal-Mart, and it's, also, for sale in the giant food outlets like Lucky's, Vons, and Albertson's. Do the rich capitalists want to live under communism or anarchy? Is this why they sell communist and anarchist magazines in their stores? And, of course, the 64,000 dollar question is why do these capitalists sell every kind of anti-White publication of the left, right, and center, but don't carry any pro-White zines?

The average White nationalist will answer: its all a part of the Leftist/ Jewish conspiracy. Yes, how true. The anti-White forces are hard working activists. Activism is at the heart of any conspiracy. The anti-White people conspire to put their publications in every outlet possible. They bust they asses doing this. This is why they won the West. Work is what won the anti-White people our homeland. The reason there are no pro-White publications in any major outlet is two fold. First, the Leftists work hard not only to put their magazines on the newsstands, but they, also, work hard to keep us off. And the second, and the most important reason no pro-White publications are on the newsstands is that White national-

Have you ever noticed that monotheism, a cult made up of "celibate" men who worship "a celibate god", have always dished out the most bizarre and cruel punishments to women?

Why do you think this is true?

Do you think if they would have had sex with women once in awhile that they would have had less desire to torture women?

ists are too God damn lazy to get off their asses to put our magazines on newsstands.

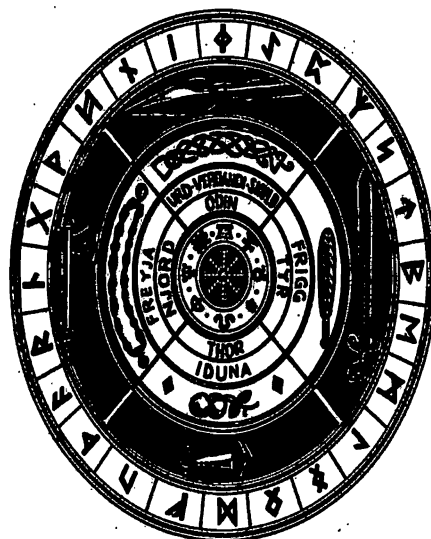

Case in point. Another White racist publication just went under. Wake Up Call America, which was about the only Christian Identity rag I liked, just bought the farm. Why? Why do so many good Aryan publications go belly-up? Because the so called movement won't do a damn thing to help racist publications survive. W.U.C.A., like so many of our pubs, was basically a one man show. No one is willing to help. The publisher got tired of doing all the work and putting up most of the money, so he said fuck the bowel movement and went on with his life. Can you blame him? And the Leftist/Jewish activists are now working on getting their publications in all public schools. The Leftist/Jewish activists are the real Social Darwinians. They know victory goes to the fittest. You really have to take your hat off to them, for they really want victory. And if they keep up the hard work, they'll get it. Absolute Victory. I am sure of it!

BACK ISSUES

THERE ARE STILL ISSUES OF
PAGAN REVIVAL #41 (64
PAGES) AND #43 (48 PAGES)
AVAILABLE FOR $5 EACH
PAGAN REVIVAL #40 (12 PAGES) $1

Pagan Revival
P.O. Box 686
Bonsall, CA 92003

Pagan Revival

43

The Runic Wheel of the Germanic Gods

In the North, the quarter is ruled by Odin and the Norns; the East is ruled by Frigga and Tyr; the South by Thor and Iduna, and the West by Freyja and Njord. There is a direct mystic link between these attributes, the wheel of runes and the corresponding times of the day and of the year.

The Blot And The Folk's Relationship With The Gods

The Blot is the most common ritual within Asatru. In its simplest form a blot is making a sacrifice to the Gods. In the old days this was done by feasting on an animal consecrated to the Gods and then slaughtered. (The word blot itself is related to the Norse words for "blood" and "sacrifice.")

As we are no longer farmers and our needs are simpler today, the most common blot is an offering of mead or other alcoholic beverage to the deities.

Many modern folk will be suspicious of a ritual such as this. Rituals such as the blot have been falsely interpreted by post-Pagan sources in order to denigrate the ritual or trivialize it. The most common myth about ritual sacrifice is that one is buying off a deity e.g. one throws a virgin into the Volcano so it won't erupt. Nothing could be further from the truth. In Asatru it is believed that we are not only the worshippers of the Gods but that we are physically related to them. The Eddas tell of a God, Rig, (another name for Odin's son Heimdal) who went to various farmsteads and fathered the human race so we are physically kin to the Gods. On a more esoteric level, humankind is gifted with "ond" or the gift of ecstasy. Ond is a force that is of the Gods. It is everything that makes humans different from the other creatures of the world. As creatures with this gift, we are immediately connected to the Gods, we are part of their tribe, their kin. Thus we are not simply buying off the Gods by offering them something that they want, but we are sharing with the Gods something that we all take joy in. Sharing and gift giving was an incredibly important part of Norse culture (and of most ancient cultures) and had magical significance. Giving a gift was a sign of friendship, kinship, and connection. By sharing a blot with the Gods we reaffirm our connection to them and thus reawaken their powers within us and their watchfulness over our world.

A blot can be a simple affair where a horn of mead is consecrated to the Gods and then poured as a libation, or it can be a part of a larger ritual. A good comparison is the Catholic Mass which may be part of a regular service or special event such as a wedding or funeral, or it may be done as a purely magical-religious practice without any sermon, hymns, or other trappings.

The blot consists of three parts, the hallowing or consecrating of the offering, the sharing of the offering, and the libation. Each of these is equally important. The only tools required are mead, beer or juice, a horn or chalice, a sprig of evergreen used to sprinkle the mead, and a ceremonial bowl known as a Hlautbowl into which the initial libation will be made.

The blot begins with the consecration of the offering. The Gothi (Priest) or Gythia (Priestess) officiating at the blot invokes the God or Goddess being honored. This is usually accomplished by a spoken declaration with one's arms being held above one's head in a Y shape, in imitation of the rune elhaz. This posture is used for most invocations and prayers throughout Asatru. After the spoken invocation an appropriate rune or other symbol of the God or Goddess may be drawn in the air with the finger or with the staff. Once the God is invoked, the Gothi takes up the horn. His assistant pours mead from the bottle into the horn. The Gothi then traces the hammer sign (an upside down T) over the horn as a blessing and holds it above his head offering it to the Gods. He then speaks a request that the God or Goddess bless the offering and accept it as a sacrifice. At the least one will feel the presence of the deity; at best one will be able to feel in some inner way the God taking of the mead and drinking it.

The mead is now not only blessed with divine power but has passed the lips of the God or Goddess. The Gothi then takes a drink of the horn and it is passed around the gathered folk. Although it sounds like a very simple thing, it can be a very powerful experience. At this point the mead is no longer simply a drink but is imbued with the blessing and power of the God or Goddess being honored. When one drinks, one is taking that power into oneself. After the horn has made the rounds once, the Gothi again drinks from the horn and then empties the remainder into the hlautbowl. The Gothi then takes up the evergreen sprig and his assistant the hlautbowl and the Gothi sprinkles the mead around the circle or temple or onto the altar. If there are a great number of the folk gathered, one may wish to drop the drinking and merely sprinkle the various folk with the mead as a way of sharing it. In a small group one might merely drink as the blessing.

When this is done the Hlautbowl is taken by the Gothi and poured out onto the ground. This is done as an offering not only to the God invoked at the blot, but it is also traditional to remember the Earth Mother at this time, since it is being poured onto her ground. Many invocations mention the God, Goddess, or spirit being sacrificed to, and then Mother Earth, as in the Sigdrifa Prayer "Hail to the Gods and to the Goddesses as well; Hail Earth that gives to all men." (Sigdrifumal 3) With this action, the blot is ended.

Obviously this is a very sparse ritual and if performed alone could be completed in only a few minutes. This is as it should be, for blots are often poured not because it is a time of gathering or festivity for the folk, but because the blot must be poured in honor or petition of a God or Goddess on their holiday or some other important occasion. For example, a father tending his sick child might pour a blot to Eir the Goddess of healing. Obviously he doesn't have time to waste on the "trappings" of ritual. The intent is to make an offering to the Goddess as quickly as possible. At some times a full celebration might not be made of a holiday because of a person's hectic schedule, but at the least a blot should be made to mark the occasion. However, in most cases a blot will at least be accompanied by a statement of intent at the beginning and some sort of conclusion at the end. It might also be interspersed with or done at the conclusion of ritual theater or magic. Our kindred, for example, begins the ritual with a chant of "Odin, Vili, Ve" which connects us to the Gods of creation. Between the invocation of the God or Goddess and the actual Blot we usually add a meditation or something else which acts as a focus of the ritual. Once, for example, we made mead in the middle of a ritual to Aegir. As part of our blot we also pass the horn three times. The first time around is a taking in of the power of the charged mead and all offer a toast to the God(s) of the occasion. The second and third rounds are open to toasts to other Gods, toasts to the kindred, the hosts, to pledges, boasting and anything else on wishes to say. It is essentially a "mini sumbel" in the middle of our blot. Always of course, we remember the purpose of our ritual. We would never toast one of the Jotnar during a ritual to Thor for example. We have also added a few steps at the end which are a private affirmation of our group's kinship with each other and with the Gods.

The basic format of a Blot is:

1. Sanctify space with the Hammer rite,
2. Invocation of the Deity
3. Secondary Activities supporting the blot: meditation etc
4. Load mead by offering it to the God,
5. Pass mead for blessing or sprinkle on folk,
6. Other activities, prayers, etc
7. Thank the deity,
8. Pour the libation to the Earth

Power is the foundation of freedom.
We have no freedom, because we have no power.

CHRISTIANS: CITIZENS OR TERRORISTS

{Editor's Note: I couldn't find the name of who wrote this article. Write me if you want credit for it and I'll put a notice in a forth coming issue.}

After two hundred plus years of beings steeped in the lore of The Constitution and The Bill of Rights of the United States of America this article should be unnecessary. Upon further reflection it is clear that the American (USA) public is not steeped in the content of these ostensibly sacrosanct documents rather only the cliches The Constitution and The Bill of Rights. The fabled pillars of the government of the USA are invoked freely to guarantee one's rights, but scarcely invoked to awaken one to feel compelled to be aware of others, i.e., to be aware and to respect other citizens rights. The violation of civil liberties, i.e., the evangelizing syndrome, is made palpable in the minds of the perpetrators by being convinced that the spreading of the gospel puts the sacrosanct documents on hold, or even, tyrannically, dissolves the venerable documents!

As I understand these two fabled documents, regardless of race, religion, or income, one may rent or buy shelter at or below one's income (means) while having one's right to privacy respected — UNCONDITIONALLY!!

The compulsive night-of-the-living-dead style of Jesusfreak creatures coming to people's front door (not only on weekends) is not only in bad taste but a form of socially approved harassment. The unspoken notion of these Christian "drug pushers" is that not to be a Christian of their particular denomination is to make you suspect. However, not to be Christian at all or have no wish to have one's mind colonized by their CRAP is tantamount to BEING UN-AMERICAN. The reprehensible harassment by Christian groups is an overt act of TERRORISM and SEDITION against the pillars of OUR (ALL AMERICAN CITIZENS) political system! For those who would rant and rave that this article is against putting god back in the society let me say that Christian superstition in whatever its varieties is not GOD. It is a herd of iconoclastic monkey-meat trying DRACULA-FASHION to appropriate the psyches of the entire citizenry of the USA! If police officers fail to take their stand against the Masonic eye in the key stone peaks on the American dollar bill, anarchy will rage across this country as vigilante groups begets vigilante group, culminating in an orgy of CHAOS of the worse kind. Every American citizen (of whatever race, religion or income) must respect another's civil liberties (both rights and obligation) of one another or CHAOS will usher in cannibalism which is far more hellish than the sanity of a STRATIFIED society! Citizens should socialize with one another when the interest is mutual and buzz off when it isn't. This notion sanely cuts through the crap about race, income or religion!!

Computer Muzik: Industrial to Techno-Core

Music, what it expresses about a people is basic and necessary to their continued survival or revival. Not having an indigenous race-bound sound as a means of deeper collective expression is like living without one of your essential senses. To be continually exposed, on the other hand, to alien music is a Pied-Piper trip to doom. As the Sheeple should know, music can fool more than rats! So, besides the so-called Classics, for our elitist Aryan ears, what is our Aryan music otherwise? Well, there has been some great sounds, from the time of the Greeks (and before), folk, religious, warrior beats, that have entertained and inspired the Western People. Sadly, much of that historical stuff is lost forever, technology having come too late with its recording of sound. But this new technology is Muzik in itself and represents the next phase in music appreciation. Aryan technology has allowed us to create sounds never before heard by the human ear, sounds produced not by musical instruments as we have known them but by technologic means; computers, synths, keyboards and samplers, in other words by machines. Machines make our music and they don't make mistakes, a KMFDM lyric that pretty much sums up what Industrial is about because of its high degree of technological sophistication, because this music is hard to abstract and compose, because the equipment used to produce it is expensive, requiring much skill to operate, because one has to even learn how to listen to it, you don't find minorities and assorted subs very interested or much involved. No need to purposely exclude them; they just can't hear it. Truly it is a White Thing! The Industrial music scene, mostly underground and experimental developed out of the Kraut Rock boom of the early seventies. Bands like Kraftwerk, Hawkwind, Throbbing Grizzle, and Boyd Rice took Industrial Noise to new levels, adding a vast mental dimension through sound scopes and escapes into mechanized, martial madness. From factory sounds to dark, ambient, to dance beats, industrial music has gained a following among more musically intelligent Whites than could ever be found at goofy "mainstream" rock shows. Electro bands like Thrill Kill Kult, Electric Hellfire Club, KMFDM draw decent crowds of white people who demonstrate their love of the sound through aggressive dancing and hard dress. Sex and drugs just ain't what its about, but there's no falling asleep here except for a whack on the head. The industrial genre has taken different directions; the techno dance club scene (like old Synchron-Pop or Disco, but better), ambient noise, to the newer apocalyptic or Euro-folk represented by bands like Death in June, Strength Through Joy, Allerseelen, and Michael Moynahan's Blood Axis. As with the best music it comes from Europe where the bands get the recognition they deserve. Import music is harder to come by; mail order hassles, low production, higher cost, but it is all worth it. No pain no gain! Although Heavy, Death, and Black Metal may link up legitimately with industrial music through cross-over bands like Fear Factory, Godflesh and Pitch Shifter this music is wrongly classed as Alternative.. Alternative is Jewish; it's motive is commercial not art. Metal industrial may get featured in some Pop-Alternative zine, but that's it. There isn't the money in it for the Jews to get excited. This music uses no instruments. The bands play nothing, but rather push buttons on little black boxes sitting on the floor amid a heap of cables and machines. Gigs have to be pretend affairs to be interesting, like a show or pantomime. Flashy bands like Nine Inch Nails are an extreme example of the staging of industrial music. The staging is necessary to have a scene.

Make the effort to enjoy this music. At first I did not like Industrial. Punk, British Oi, Skrewdriver and the skinhead scene was happiness for me. But I learned that there is more and I was able to find it still within my own race in Industrial Muzik. Accessing this music cost bucks, you need a good stereo (since sound is what it's about); LOUD. If you are into quick turn-ons stick with F.M. radio. If you want to see your own soul, see God right in the face, go Industrial.

Trying to describe what music sounds like in print is beyond me. One needs a guide however to get on board. Interesting bands to check out, some earlier pioneers would be Kraftwerk, Boyd Rice, T.G. and Faust. Later on, Einstürzende Neubauten, Nitzer Ebb, Robotiko Rejektó. The Slovenian Nationalist band Libach has a Fascist sound and lots of talent to get you moving.

Good club music comes from Ministry, Front242 and Bi-God20. Techno bands like Lords of Acid and Utah Saints draw on the European electro body music scene. The music of Raving is another aspect under the agis of Industrial.

Record labels that promote Industrial are few and mostly overseas. Domestically there is Wax-tracks or TVT and Cleopatra based in California that has done much to make good Industrial available in stores. Solid Euro labels include Mute, Celtic Circle, Zoth Ommog, World Serpent, K.K. and Off-Beat. There is a host of lesser more obscure labels. You gotta learn. A good resource is the zine Industrial Nation. Isolation Tank in Jenkin Town, PA is the best most reliable source for buying Industrial music. Finally, you won't find overt "racism" and politics dominating in this musical field; just great music from great white people, Fur Uns!

DEFINING MAGICK ...AND THE MAGICKIAN

By
Lord Slayer

The driving force behind Magick, especially Black magick, is extreme power. The Magickian hungers for this power, and will stop at nothing to reach its ultimate. But what constitutes Magick, and how mundane? There still remains, however, an essence of power in the word — even more so now that Aleister Crowley incorporated the letter "K" in the word "Magick". His desire was to return the true definition back into the word; and successfully so. But again, what constitutes Magick, true Magick, as defines the essence of the word? To properly define this intriguing word, one must know Magick, and what makes it work. For anyone less than this attempting to define magick, would only define in error. So what is Magick? Magick is any perceptible occurrence, or change in the physical plane, that is the result of the controlled application of the Magickians will...that is to say, the application of the Astral Force of an incarnate human being. By my definition, that which does not bring about a noticeable change in the physical world is not Magick. This includes the art of changing ones consciousness at will. This, in spite of the modern use of the word, is not Magick. In fact, the ability to change consciousness at will is just a prerequisite to the proper practice of Magick. Just as psychology or criminology can be learned or taught, so can the operations of Magick be learned or taught. But just as not everyone can be an effective psychologist or criminologist, not everyone can be an effective practitioner of Magikal operation. Not everyone has the inherent ability to be a Magickian. Either you have what it takes, or you don't. The inability to bring about favorable results by the performance of Magick isn't a case of Magick not existing, but rather, and more often than not, is a case of an ineffective performer. Not only this, but also the mode of Magick employed by one Magickian may be entirely unsuitable to another. In such a case, the lack of result is not the fault of the mode of Magick. It is the unsuitability of that particular mode to the Magickian.

For a desired Magickal occurrence, the Magickian must have the ability to will his Emotional Force (or Astral Force) to bring about the change in the material world. This is much like willing movement of ones arm. To raise the arm, one calls upon the Astral Force to make the change. The change manifests with the movement of the arm. In this case, the Astral Force is applied to the physical body. In the case of Magickal Operation, the Astral Force, through utilizing a different system, is applied to the physical universe. In both cases, the desired result occurs as willed. To simplify this, one could say: the soul is the will, the spirit the force; and the etheric, or astral world, the vessel. In the many different modes of Magickal Operation, whether it be natural, elemental, ceremonial, deific, ritual, enochian, etc., etc., the ability to will ones Astral Force inherently applies. There is no exception. The Astral Force is pertinent to any Magickal success. The individual who lacks this ability to will the Astral Force, yet attempts the art of Magick, has a long, most difficult, and unrewarding struggle ahead.

While on the subject of Magick (and in conclusion), I leave you with this thought: Just as the eyes are a mirror of the soul — the soul a creator in the invisible world — the imagination is the eye of the soul — the apparatus of Magickal life. Is that which can be imagined already created?

AQUERRA BEYTY, AQUERRA GOITY! AVE SATANAS!
Dean Adams H32535 A8-105 P.O. Box 7500, Crescent City, CA
95531-7500 U.S.A. Credits: Draja Mickaharic, P.O.M (c) 1995

The Satanic Bible: A Revelation or a fraud?

By
Lord Slayer

(Editor's Note: I don't agree with this article, but if everything in Pagan Revival reflected my opinion, then the zine would be boring as hell or should I say as boring as "heaven".)

While doing an interview, I was presented with a question asking my opinion of Anton S. Lavey, High Priest of the Church of Satan, and if I thought the philosophy advocated in his book, The Satanic Bible, to be logical. After contemplation, I thought it best, as well as in need and appropriate, to present my answer in the form of an essay. This way the un-obvious will be revealed to all who ignorantly, and blindly read The Satanic Bible — that is to say those who have read and will read The Satanic Bible without prior Satanic/occult knowledge and understanding.

The theories and ideologies prescribed in the well-known book The Satanic Bible, by Howard Stanton Levey (a.k.a. Anton Szandor Lavey), self appointed High Priest of the Church of Satan (which is an unorthodox approach to a liberalized religion) though not of the sole creation of the author's genius, are in fact, quite logical. Especially in the modern society as we see and live in today, but because "logical" is far from "factual", I am permitted plenty of room to question, and question I shall, via accusations. Without acknowledgment or credit to the proper philosophers (this will be discussed further into the essay), Lavey borrowed an uncounted number of occult theories from a wide spectrum of occult systems and ideas, and compiled them into one psychologically sound system. This would have been adequate had he validated those theories, at least to a convincing degree, on a foundation of occult support and personal practice. But instead of thorough investigation and practice to find sound cause to adhere and facilitate these theories in their intended entirety, he adopted only those aspects he could manipulate into one system of thought and practice. After all, to build the lucrative, tax exempt, business that Lavey wanted (which was the motivating force behind him writing "The Satanic Bible"), he needed to articulate an occult, or what appears "occult" philosophy/ideology, to snugly fit into a fast progressing society with liberal-inclined populous without undermining his self-appointed occult authority plateau. And what better time and place to do this than during the mass-liberation movements in San Francisco during the late 1960s (i.e. civil rights, feminism, gay rights, hippie love/peace, etc)?

Lacking in his own creativity, which can be developed through serious study and practice, Mr. Lavey began stealing theories and ideologies he'd read from numerous volumes of psychological and occult study — both archaic and obscure, to modern and made-easy. The obvious intention, as we recognize now, is to create, and successfully so, an illusion of self-philosopher, and in doing so, he deceived the would-be follower into believing that the theories/philosophies articulated in his early speeches, and later in the Satanic Bible, are the sole manifestations of his innate ability to juggle common sense and many years of psychological, and occult studies. Obviously such studies ventured included the delving into those ideologies described in the phenomenal treatise titled "Might is Right" by Ragnar Redbeard; written thirty years after the civil war in America. This book was very rare until its reprint in 1984 by Loompanics Unlimited. Although fairly easily located at present to the endeavorous, a copy of this racially conscious treatise of natural philosophy was next to impossible to obtain at the time of the "Satanic Bible" writing. I believe this fact comes into play in—as far as a rationale for Lavey's blatant plagiarism of this book's contents, but not limited to only this particular book. I shall list other possible plagiarism further into this essay.

When comparing Lavey's articulations and creative sentence structures in the Satanic Bible to those found in Ragnar's "Might is Right", a most compelling discovery was made known to me. I discovered what I believe to be Anton Lavey's most disturbing plagiarism. I uncovered uncanny similarities in Lavey's wordings of sentences and their meanings to those in Might is Right. This of itself is sufficient enough evidence to prove, at least to me, a plagiarism on the dishonored behalf of Anton S. Lavey, but when digging further, a new and even more revealing discovery is unearthed. Aside from the many uncanny similarities in verse and word structure, there is also, as plain as day, word-for-word, sentence-for-sentence, appearing utterly identical. I repeat—identical! A plagiarism? No doubt! Nowhere in the Satanic Bible does Lavey offer credit to Ragnar Redbeard. It is clear Mr. Lavey failed to take in account the possibility this book could return to press. It is rumored, though I've not seen it in print, that Anton S. Lavey openly stated that he "quoted" Mr. Redbeard in the "Satanic Bible." The interesting aspect to this rumor is that it surfaced many, many years after the reprint of Might is Right, not before. There is no documentation suggesting otherwise that I was able to find during my research. It is quite obvious to this occultist that the extreme rarity of Mr. Redbeard's book "Might is Right", prior to reprint, was Mr. Lavey's security blanket. He must have figured the odds of someone reading both Might is Right and the Satanic Bible in one lifetime was too great to pass plagiarizing Mr. Redbeard's genius.

Throughout Anton Lavey's writings there are other plagiarism. As noticeable as well, but this which I have already discussed, is the most compelling of proof... However, I shall divulge those occult philosopher and renowned psychology authors from which the endeavorous student, with a knack for intelligent and comparison research, can unveil the many other plagiarism that were revealed to me. Such works as those documentations by, but not limited to, Crowley, Waite, Levi, Grant, Jung, Freud, Reich, Regardie and, of course Stirner and Nietzsche. Mr. Lavey's translation of Dee's "Enochian Keys" is distorted and assumed, which, in my opinion, is a disrespect to the phenomenal work of seeing by Dee and Kelly. Read carefully the wording Lavey uses when explaining the translation of the Enochian Keys. McGregor must have turned a flip or two in his grave when Lavey "translated" them.

It is clear to me that Anton S. Lavey is a fraud who has built a church (my research indicates the Church of Satan filing a Chapter 7 liquidation on April 29, 1993. A Miss Barton is now the spokesperson for what is remaining of the church.) on stolen and unaccredited philosophy (from occultists he denounces as frauds) in order to lure in the most lazy of unmotivated people who will, (and he's banked his pocketbook on this), never study the occult outside of his perfidious and fallacious so-called "Satanic Bible."

You would think people would doubt Mr. Lavey's authenticity and sincerity after his most humiliating failure to substantiate for the media press, the numerous claims he has made in regards to his extensive education, unique relationships with Hollywood stars, employment, as well as the account of his childhood and upbringing, which is a perfect occult tale that Bran Stroker couldn't write or imagine better. Not even prominent journalists, with all the investigative tools of modern society, have succeeded in uncovering proof to validate even one of Lavey's many claims. Anton Szandor Lavey is quite obviously the Jim Baker of modern organized Satanism. Oh woe to you, oh fraud, doth thou tears also fall in repentance?

Dean Adams (a.k.a. Lord Slayer) H-32535 A8-105 Box 7500
Crescent City, CA 95531-7500 (U.S.A.)

(Editor's Note: I've heard this and more from Anton La Vey's daughter, Zeena, who was once the spokes woman for the Church of Satan, before she and her father had a blow out.

I first met Zeena La Vey in 1988 when I was the room mate of John Metzger, who, at the time, was the head of the Aryan Youth Movement. John and I were on the Geraldo talk show when a hockey game broke out. I broke Geraldo Rivera's nose and the event made the 6 o'clock news.

Zeena La Vey was to appear on the Sally talk show, so she called our apartment to talk to John and get a few pointers about the talk show circuit. She came down to our place with her boyfriend, who was the lead singer of a Goth band. I knew her boyfriend for some time, since he came to White Aryan Resistance meetings often. Her father really hated this guy, so Zeena married him. This is why Zeena and her father were torn apart. Zeena and Nick, her husband, came down to our apartment many times and I went up to their Hollywood home. I've heard endless stories about Anton La Vey. Zeena, Nick, and I were planning to do "heavy ritual" work together, then Zeena and Nick moved to Europe and I never heard from them again.

An Introduction To Odinism

(Editor's Note: This was written in the early 1980s by the Odinic Rite out of England. I don't agree with it all, but it is of some merit.)

1. What do you mean by Odinism?

Odinism is the indigenous religious faith of the Scandinavian, British and other peoples of Northern Europe; it is an amalgam of attitudes, ideas and behavior, both a personal faith and a communal way of life. In its beginnings Odinism is probably as old as our race. Historically, it may be divided into three periods:

- A. Before the coming of Christianity
- B. Its gradual merging with Christianity and the ensuing Period of Dual Faith, and
- C. Its efforts in the present century to free itself of Christian influences and to reassert its ancient independence.

2. How have the tenets of Odinism been preserved? Is there an Odinist holy book?

The ancient oral traditions of Odinism were during the Middle Ages embodied in writings, the Odinist books of wisdom, the principals of which are the Eddas. The poetic Elder Edda presents the Odinist cosmogony, the mythological lays and the heroic lays, including the story of Sigurd and Brynhild which were in later times molded into the Lay of the Nibelungs. The Younger Edda is a prose synopsis of the Odinist faith.

3. When did Britain and the rest of Europe cease to be Odinist?

The first of our Northern countries to succumb to the false promises of the new religion were the Goths, in the fourth century of the Christian era; the Icelanders became Christians by official decree in the year 1000 CE, to be followed by the Scandinavian countries over the next two hundred years. England was "converted" between 597 and 686 CE and Scotland somewhat earlier (although some of the people of Ross-shire were still worshipping the old Gods as late as the seventeenth century) {Editor's Note: Large parts of Russia and the Baltic area, especially in the region which is modern day Poland, worshipped the Norse Gods up to the Great Witch Hunts of the 1600s}. Ireland, when Patrick the Proselytizer landed there in the year 432, was described as "a heathen land"; Dublin and the other principal Irish towns were actually founded by Odinist Vikings, who dedicated the country to the god Thor.

4. Well, the people were converted to Christianity. Would you have denied them their freedom of choice?

They had no choice. Most of those who were "converted" had little knowledge of Christian doctrine; the new religion was imposed on them by sword and sermon. The Rev. S. C. Olland's Dictionary of English Church History is explicit: "The adoption of Christianity generally depended upon State action: the king and his nobles were baptized and the people largely followed their example. . . . The wholesale conversions. . . . could not have implied individual conviction." On one day alone in the year 598 more than ten thousand English "converts" were baptized in a mass ceremony; it is unlikely that they had received a great deal of instruction in the Christian faith. Even in the twentieth century the vast majority of Christians are still quite ignorant of Christian doctrine. It was always so.

5. Why do you say that Odinism was practiced in the Church during what you have called "the Period of Dual Faith"?

We can see the evidence everywhere, even today. When the foreign missionaries subverted Britain, they repressed what they could and what they could not they ignored or adopted. The ancient spring renewal festival of Summer Finding was transformed into the Christian feast of the Resurrection; the Mid-winter festival of Yule became Christmas. Not only the folk festivals connected with the great changes of season - May Day and Midsummer and Harvest - but numerous customs associated with life's milestones, birth and marriage and death, all showed that the old Gods lived on in the life and in the language of the people. Many of the external signs of the ancient faith were retained: water was consecrated and wood was blessed. A Christian writer, Professor P. D. Chantepie de la Saussaye DD, has said, "We recognize in this folklore a form of historical continuity, the bond of union between the life of the people in pagan and in Christian times." Even today when we say, "Touch (or, knock on) wood!" we are recalling the sacred nature of an important symbol of our ancient religion; and how many people are aware that they are paying unconscious tribute to the Gods of Odinism when they light their Christmas or Paschal candles or their bonfire on the fifth of November? Or that the very "Christmas tree" is itself the World Ash of Odinism? Even the sign of the cross is really the sign of Thor's hammer!

6. How long did the Period of Dual Faith last?

The period during which Odinism was actually practiced within the Church extended in Britain from about the seventh century CE right down to the 1930's, when the purity of ancient worship was revived by a number of groups working outside the Church for the first time for more than a thousand years.

7. But the adoption of Christianity, a creed that preaches peace on earth and the equality of all men was, surely you must agree, a step forward in the civilizing of our people?

Odinists were happy enough to put up with the new doctrines so long as they were allowed to go on practicing their own faith in peace. But the inherent contradiction at the heart of Christianity is that it denies in action the faith that it professes verbally. There is no history of religious warfare in Europe before the coming of Christianity. It is ironic indeed that the message of peace on earth has been propagated with so much bloodshed. As for the equality of all men, we just do not believe in it; and even the Christian god has his "chosen people".

8. Why is it now necessary to reassert what you describe as Odinism's ancient independence? Why can you not, in the present unsettled state of society, leave well alone. Surely we should be getting together, not creating more divisions amongst ourselves?

First of all it is necessary to state that because of its organic origins and development Odinism is a religion of visual truth. Nevertheless, for just so long as Christian and Odinist ethics coincided - even superficially - it was possible for Odinists to worship the Gods under their Christian designations; but only for so long as they remained adequate interpretations of the true divinities of Odinism (the nature of a god being of greater importance than his name).

The Churches are today opposed to many of the things that Odinists hold sacred: they sin against nation and people by espousing causes whose ultimate aim is the destruction of our personal freedom... they encourage criminal activities by calling for the exemption from punishment, or even prosecution, of whole categories of lawbreakers; they provide financial aid for revolutionary propaganda and even terrorist activities against our own people; they remain totally indifferent to the rape of our countryside in the short-term interests of economic gain and technology; and they have successfully divided the people of our own islands against themselves (e.g., in Ireland). Life in Northern Europe is today, after fifteen hundred years of Christianity, almost entirely concerned with material wealth and self-indulgence and the Christian clergy have largely forsaken their spiritual vocations in order to preach the causes of subversion and revolution.

The people yearn for spiritual bread but have been offered by the Churches only a political stone. It is no longer possible for anyone who has concern for the future of our nation and race to remain within the Christian Church. This must not, however be taken to imply that Odinists bear hatred towards Christians; we recognize that there are many good and sincere people within the Christian community from whose example Odinists themselves could not fail to profit. But the Church is itself largely responsible for the "present unsettled state of society".

Odinists see it as their duty to oppose those who menace the things that they regard as holy. If we cannot in justice always blame the sheep we should and do attack the shepherds.

9. But surely it would be preferable to have one god for all mankind?

Why? One god or many gods, it really does not matter. Our true Gods are actually worshipped by peoples all over the world, using their own mythologies and adapting their worship to local cultures and conditions.

We prefer to worship the Gods in our own way with people of our own kind. And we respect the right of others to their own beliefs. It was an Odinist gothi (priest), Sigrith, who told the foreign missionaries, "I must not part from the faith which I have held, and my forefathers before me; on the other hand I shall make no objection to your believing in the god that pleases you best."

10. You have mentioned the "Gods of Nature". Does this mean that Odinists are nature-worshippers?

Odinists recognize man's spiritual kinship with Nature, that within himself are in essence all that is in the greater world, which perform within him the same functions as in the world. Thus there are in man the four elements, the vegetative life of plants, an ethereal body - the god-soul - corresponding to the heavens, the sense of animals, of spiritual things and reason and understanding. Because in this way man comprises all the parts of the world within himself he is thus a true image of the Gods.

Also containing the essence of the universe within themselves, the Gods are everywhere and in everything: they show themselves to us as fire, as a flower, as a tree. Odinists believe that all life should be lived in communion with Nature and with... the Gods. Christianity turned away from Nature and concentrated its adherents' attention on the human soul and became obsessed with the fall of man, by which it was implied that man had brought all Nature down into sin with him. Christian teaching encouraged man to see Nature only in her physical form whereas Odinists regard Nature as a true manifestation of the divine. "We and the cosmos are one," wrote D. H. Lawrence, "The cosmos is a vast living body, of which we are still part. The sun is the great heart whose tremors run through our smallest veins. The moon is a great gleaming nerve-centre from which we quiver forever. . . . Now all this is literally true, as men knew in the great past and as they will know again." Whoever shall properly know himself and all things in himself shall know the Gods. The Odinist, because of his awareness of his relationship with Nature, is able to feel a consanguineous kinship with plants and animals and the land - a complete oneness.

11. You speak of "the Odinist mythology". Do you really expect anyone to believe in a myth?

Every religion is mythical in its development. Mythology is the knowledge that the ancients had of the divine; it is religious truth expressing in poetical terms mankind's desire for personal and visible gods. The mythology of Odinism consists of a group of legends, fables and tales relating to The Gods, heroes, demons and other beings whose names have been preserved in popular belief. Our object must be to discover, with the help of our mythology, the Gods who manifest themselves throughout Nature: in the streets and in the trees and in the rocks, in the running streams and in the heavy ear of grain, in the splendor of the sun by day and in the star-strewn sky at night. But it is not the myth that Odinists believe in but the Gods whom that myth helps us to understand.

12. What, then, is the Odinist mythology?

Briefly, our mythology unfolds in five acts (which may be compared to the evolution of the seasons of the year):

- A. the Creation (spring)
- B. the time preceding the death of Balder (summer)
- C. the death of Balder (summer's end)
- D. the time immediately after the death of Balder (autumn)
- E. Ragnarok, the decline and fall followed by the regeneration of the world (winter and spring)

The first effort of speculative man has always been to solve the mystery of existence, to ask what was in the beginning. The condition of things before the world's creation is expressed in the Eddas negatively; there was nothing of that which sprang into existence:

*"Nothing was Neither land nor sea,
Nor cool waves.
Earth was not,
Sky was not,
But a gaping void
And no grass."*

Ymir was a frost-giant, eg chaotic matter:

"From Ymir's flesh

*The world was made,
And from his blood the sea.
Mountains from his bones,
Trees from his hair,
And the welkin from his skull."*

*I know I hung
I know I hung
myself to myself, on the tree
that springs
from roots unknown."*

There were as yet no human beings upon the earth when one day as the Gods Odin, Hoener and Loder (the latter two being probably hypostases of Odin) were walking along the seashore they saw two trees from which they created the first human pair. Odin gave them life and spirit, Hoener endowed them with reason and the power of motion and Loder gave them blood, hearing, and a fair complexion. The man they called Ask (ash)—and the woman Embla (elm). As their abode the newly-created pair received from the Gods Midgarth and from them is descended the whole human race.

Balder is the god of the summer, the favourite god of all Nature and a son of Odin; he is one of the wisest and most eloquent of the Gods and his dwelling is in a place where nothing impure can enter. The story of Balder, well-known in the Northern countries, finds explanation in the seasons of the year, in the change from light to darkness; he represents the bright and clear summer and his death is the impermanent victory of darkness over light, of winter over summer, of death over life. When Balder is dead, all Nature mourns. His death presages the disaster of Ragnarok, the consummation of the world, followed by its cleansing and return to the primal state.

Ragnarok, the Twilight of the Gods, represents a great conflict between . . . lawful and chaotic powers. The idea is already suggested in the story of the Creation in which the Gods are represented as proceeding from giants, that is from an . . . unconscious and chaotic force. And whatever can be born must surely die. In the seasons and activities of Nature we see a constantly recurring picture of the necessity for death and the equal certainty of its being over-come. At Ragnarok all the worlds of Nature will be destroyed and even the giants must die. But from that catastrophe will emerge a renewed world and the Gods themselves will be born again. We see his drama enacted every year in miniature when autumn heralds the period of decline and decay until with the spring we witness the magic of resurrection and new life.

This, briefly told, is the myth that explained to our ancestors their origin and the origin of the world, the creation of life from chaos and the emergence of evolution and harmony.

13. Who is Odin?

Odin is the first and eldest of the Gods, the all-pervading spirit of the sun, the moon, the stars, the hills, the plains and of man. With his help were made heaven and earth and the first man and woman. All knowledge came from him; he is the inventor of poetry and discovered the runes; he governs all things, protects the social organization, influences the human mind, avenges murder and upholds the sanctity of the oath. He is well named Allfather. And because he chooses to surround himself with a bodyguard of those who have fallen in battle he is also known as Valfather, Father of the Slain.

In the mythology Odin's single eye (the other he sacrificed in exchange for wisdom) is the sun, his broad-brimmed hat the arched vault of heaven, his blue cloak the sky. A conspicuous passage in the Edda is Odin's sacrifice of himself to himself:

*"I know I hung
on the windy tree
nine nights through:*

Order is the basis of Odin's government. Nature the garment by which he manifests himself. Odinism says: study the natural laws...

14. Who are the other Gods of Odinism? What kind of Gods are they?

We have already spoken of Odin and Balder. Of the other Gods the best-known is Thor, the most famous story concerning whom tells of this Warrior-God crushing the powers of chaos. He rules over clouds and rain and makes his presence known in the lightning's flash. He is the protector of the farm worker, the chief god of agriculture, a helpful deity who makes the crops grow and who also blesses the bride with fertility. In the words of Professor P. V. Glob, "He wishes all men well and stands by them in face of their enemies and against the new God, Christ." Tyr is the God of martial honor, the most daring and intrepid of the Gods. He dispenses justice in time of peace and valor in war. He it was who sacrificed a hand when overpowering the evil Fenris Wolf, showing us that we ourselves must be prepared to make sacrifices in order to protect ourselves and our kin from those who seek to cast our society into anarchy and chaos.

Frey is God of the harvest and is therefore also a God of fecundity and growth; some authorities believe that he and Christ may have become blended, in England at least, in the new religion of Christianity. Freya is a Goddess of love and the sister and lover of Frey: barren women may invoke her and she is also the Goddess of death for all women. Another God, Vali, is called the Avenger because when he was yet only one night old he avenged Balder's death, thus demonstrating the moral obligation we have of punishing society's enemies. Other Gods include Bragi, Heimdal, Vidar, Frigg and Forseti.

The Gods of Odinism are the ordaining powers of Nature clothed in personality. They direct the world which they themselves created. They are referred to collectively as the Aesir, of whom every living thing forms a part (thus not all the Gods are necessarily good ones). Objects and phenomena that are regarded as greater or lesser . . . divinities are qualities such as thought and memory, and natural things such as the sun, rivers, mountains and trees as well as animals and ancestral spirits. There are also the guardian Gods of the land, of skills and occupations and the spirits of national heroes, the Einherjar and other men and women whose outstanding deeds and virtues have contributed to our civilization, culture and well-being.

15. Is there a table of commandments that sets out the rules to be followed by Odinists?

Some guidelines of Odinist conduct are:

1. To maintain candor and fidelity in love and devotions to the tried friend: though he strike me I will do him no scathe.
2. Never to make a wrong some oath: for great and grim is the reward for the breaking of plighted troth.

3. To deal not hardly with the humble and lowly.
4. To remember the respect that is due great age.
5. To suffer no evil to go un-remedied and to fight against the enemies of family, nation, race and faith: my foes will I fight in the field nor be burnt in my house.
6. To succor the friendless but to put no faith in the pledged word of a stranger people.
7. If I hear the fool's word of a drunken man I will strive not: for many a grief and the very death groweth out of such things.
8. To give kind heed to dead men: straw-dead, sea-dead or sword-dead.
9. ...To bear with courage and fortitude the decrees of the Norns.

The Charges are based on the rules of life indicated by the High Song of Odin and in the Lay of Sigurd in which the Valkyrie gives counsel to Sigurd.

They may be summarized as demanding in the struggle for life a self-reliance which should be earned by a love of learning and industry, a prudent foresight in word and deed, moderation in the gratification of the senses and in the exercise of power, modesty and politeness in intercourse and a desire to earn the goodwill of our fellow men.

16. The first four Charges seem fairly innocuous, but I must say the Fifth Charge sounds rather sinister! Isn't it all very violent and retributive?

"To suffer no evil to go un-remedied," does appear to run contrary to the trends of modern progressive thinking. And the idea of fighting "against the enemies of family, nation, race and faith" would be anathema to many people. Unlike the Christian, whose duty it is to "turn the other cheek" (advice that is more often observed breached than otherwise) and to be patient and long-suffering under the most grievous attacks, it is the duty of the Odinist to punish wrongs and above all those wrongs offered to his own family and kin. Society's enemies already know the basic law of life: that the race is to the strong and that the meek will inherit the earth only when the earth inherits them dust to dust. Others should also learn to recognize this truth.

17. What do you mean by "kinship loyalty"?

We must of course give loyal service to anyone or any concept to whom or to which loyalty is due. But we owe our loyalty in the fullest degree to our immediate family and to those who are related to us by blood-ties or blood-brotherhood. A husband owes loyalty to his wife, for instance, and vice versa, just as a son owes loyalty to his parents to a greater extent than to anyone outside the immediate family circle. . . .

This concern for kin is an essential part of Odinist teaching. More than twelve centuries ago the Christian proselytizer, Boniface, wrote of the Odinists, "Have pity on them, because even they themselves are accustomed to say, 'We are of one blood and one bone'. Filial love, patriotism and kinship loyalty are religious principles still adhered to by Odinists. In the words of the Edda:

We shall help our kinsmen as foot helps foot. . .

If one foot stumbles then shall the other restore balance.

18. You seem to have an exaggerated respect for things like law and order! What about unjust laws?

No, not an "exaggerated respect for law and order"; just regard for the rules by which civilized man must live. But laws, to be just, must apply equally to all citizens and groups without discrimination. Odinists certainly have a duty to oppose what they regard as unjust laws but in doing so they accept the consequences of their opposition and do not expect to be given exemption or favorable treatment.

19. What view do Odinists take of modern, enlightened substitutes for traditional, repressive forms of punishment? Do you agree that the wrong-doer in our society is more often than not the victim of his environment and that we are thus all guilty?

Odinists refuse to accept responsibility for the actions of others. Just as it would be wrong to accept credit for another person's merits so it is wrong to relieve the wrong-doer of responsibility for his actions. "Crime should be blazoned abroad by its retribution," wrote Tacitus. Punishment should be an unpleasant and memorable experience. Those in authority who neglect to punish the criminal adequately place themselves in the position of being accessories after the fact. Odinists believe that anyone who seriously or continually flouts the law should forfeit for a period of time his rights to protection under that law; enemies of the community should not be permitted to run with the hare and hunt with the hounds!

20. The Sixth Charge speaks about putting no faith in the pledged word of a stranger people. What is meant by "a stranger people"?

By "a stranger people" we mean those from different cultures than our own.

It is a warning that words often mean different things to different peoples, that their standards are not always the same as our own. It is simply one of those things in life that ought to be widely known and appreciated but does not seem to be!

21. Please explain the Ninth Charge, which speaks of "the decrees of the Norns". Who or where are the Norns?

The Norns are the three Fates of Northern mythology, the Goddesses of time.

They are named Urdhr (the past), Verdandi (the present) and Skuld (the future).

They watch over man; they spin his thread of fate at his birth and mark out with it the limits of his sphere of action through life; their decrees are inviolable destiny, their dispensations inevitable necessity. Urdhr and Verdandi, the past and present, may be seen as stretching a web from the radiant dawn of life to the glowing sunset, while Skuld, the future tears it to pieces!

Man's fate must be met but the way in which it is met rests with the individual; and by the way in which he meets his fate man is able to demonstrate his free will. This important principle shows a man that it is worthwhile fighting life's battles courageously while at the same time fate's inexorable nature allows no room for careful weighing of arguments for and against or for anxiety about the nature of things that are in any case destined to happen.

22. What other aspects of human behavior are admired by Odinists?

The Noble Virtues are held in high esteem. They are: Courage, Truth, Honor, Fidelity, Discipline, Hospitality, Industriousness, Self-reliance, and Perseverance.

The Odinist must do what lies before him without fear of either foes, friends or the Norms. He must hold his own council, speak his mind and seek fame without respect of persons; be free, independent and daring in his actions; act with gentleness and generosity towards friends and kinsmen but be stern and grim to his enemies (but even towards the latter to feel bound to fulfill necessary duties); be as forgiving to some as he is unyielding and unforgiving to others. He should be neither trucebreaker nor oath breaker and utter nothing against any person that he would not say to his face.

These are the broad principles of Odinist behavior, features of the spirit that made our Northern peoples great.

23. You call industriousness a Noble Virtue? What is so spiritual about that?

Industriousness is a virtue which, partly inherited, is nevertheless acquired largely through training and self-discipline; it is at once something we owe to ourselves, to our family and to the community. There is a time for relaxation as there is a time for most things but it is not, for instance, during our working hours; neither should it be at the expense of other members of the community by way of the so-called welfare state.

24. What about material possessions?

A principle of Odinism is the realization of the worthlessness and fleeting nature of worldly possessions. Enough should be enough. Adam of Bremen, a Christian, remarked how Odinists with whom he had come into contact "lack nothing of what we revere except our arrogance. They have no acquisitive love of gold, silver, splendid chargers, the furs of beaver and marten or any of the other possessions we pine for". One thing alone is worth while in this life: the stability of a well-earned reputation. "Goods perish, friends perish, a man himself perishes," says the Edda "but fame never dies to him that hath won it worthily."

25. You describe self-reliance as one of the Noble Virtues. Surely even you must admit that none of us is, or can be, self-reliant in these days?

Self reliance does not, as you appear to suggest, imply selfishness or mean that a man must live in isolation from his fellows. We recognize that man is dependent upon Nature and on the community of which he forms part; he has obligations to that community as well as to his employer or employees.

He receives from society and he owes a debt to society. Odinism teaches that people must be encouraged to stand on their own feet and not to ask continually, "When is somebody going to do something for me?"

26. Do Odinists believe in prayer?

Odinism is not a philosophy invented to ease mankind's comfort or to assuage his fears; that kind of religion acts against rather than in man's interests because it takes from him his independence and self-respect and makes of him a humble supplicant by encouraging him to shed his responsibilities. The person who prays to a saint or

God asking for help or guidance is seeking to shift the responsibility from his own shoulders, surrendering his own faculties of thought and physical action, unless he also does something to help himself. To pray is to beg and plead; it is self-abasement ("we worms of the earth"). That is not the object of true religion which, as Carlyle has told us, is "transcendent wonder": wonder without limit or measure, reverent admiration alike for the immensity of creation, the inspiration of the human heart and the capability of the human brain.

Odinists in their inveitan ("praise"; singular, inveita) call upon the Aesir to approach them in their thoughts as they themselves strive towards the Aesir. Through increased understanding is achieved wholeness, a unity with the Gods that helps us to think out our problems and how they may be overcome. We project the Gods within ourselves and that, externally realized, speaks to the divine in others. Through their inveitan Odinists express gratitude for life and the world they live in and resolve to try to make it better - not just to leave it to "someone up there" or hope for something better in the next world.

27. How do Odinists regard good and evil?

Evil of itself cannot originate in man but must always be regarded as an intruder, like an illness or an affliction; as such it must be opposed and expelled. Good and evil are relative: there can be no absolute norm and actions must depend upon circumstances and motives as well as time and place. The ethical standards relating to custom and tradition are flexible and responsive to the specific demands of different ages, so that moral judgements of what is right and wrong cannot be placed in a fixed system of standards but must vary according to time and situation. Just as the world is constantly changing so are values constantly changing, so that nothing can be regarded as unconditionally good or evil in all ages. In general, that which disturbs the social order and peaceful evolution and causes unhappiness - including such natural disasters as floods and earthquakes, disease and pollution - obstructs the natural development of the world and must be regarded as evil. As for sin, Odinism knows but two major sins - perjury and murder: that is sin against the Gods and sin against one's fellow man.

28. Do you believe in Original sin?

Man is inherently good and the world in which he lives is good. There is no sin in man which has been inherited from his first, or any other, ancestor; it is enough that he should be held responsible for his own actions. But although his spirit is good, his flesh and his senses may succumb to evil, especially when by neglecting his own spiritual well-being he has left his defenses weakened. So it is necessary for him to be able to distinguish between what is good and what is evil.

29. What do Odinists believe about marriage - and divorce?

Odinists support the institution of marriage and marital fidelity. But a broken marriage is an unhappy marriage and traditional Odinic law allows great latitude to separation of husband and wife, at the will of both parties, if a good reason exists for the desired change. It is recognized that the worst possible service is rendered to those who are forced to live together against their will; but it must be borne in mind that marriage is basically a solemn exchange of vows between two people and as such can only be ended by agreement between the same two people.

30. Does Odinism offer salvation to those who believe?

Odinism offers no salvation in the sense in which that term is used by Christians. Instead, the Odinist seeks liberation by bringing the Aesir into the world of man and into his daily life - whether at home or at work.

... It is not, "the kingdom of God which is within you," but the Gods themselves which exist within man.

31. Does man possess an immortal soul? Is there a life after death and will people go to Odin in heaven?

Odinists believe that man consists of body (i.e. matter) and spirit or soul.

Physical man is born, produces young and eventually dies. But the whole of Nature shows us that death is not final: the material body decomposes and recombines, it is regenerated and lives again. As it was in the beginning so it is now; every atom continues to exist and must exist as in the beginning. There is nothing new under the sun and what we call death is really nothing more than transformation.

Spiritual man is divided into at least two distinct souls: one passive, the other active, the divine and the human, which we call God-soul and human-soul. The first is in the fullest sense a divine being, contemplating a past eternity and a future immortality, occupying itself in contemplation rather than in action and to be regarded as a kind of guardian spirit. Although the God-soul and the material body are associated in this life, the former is not bound to man in the way that, say, a limb is (it may indeed absent itself from his body during sleep or periods of unconsciousness). Without the spirit there can be no motivation: when the physical change (i.e. death) takes place the God-soul passes to another living organism - a human being, a tree, an animal, perhaps a bird. This is the element that gives man his mystical attachment to a particular district or country (which is what we call patriotism): because it is where the God-souls of countless generations of ancestors dwell. It is because of this that man is compelled to nurture, love and defend his country, which is, in the purest sense, a holy land. The philosopher Fichte said, "Death is the ladder by which my spiritual vision rises to a new life and a new nature." This is also the reason why Odinists regard all life as sacred and unnecessary violence as criminal.

The human-soul (or self-soul), is essentially individual to a particular person. It may be likened to his personality, his fame or his infamy.

Because the whole of man's life is a continuing struggle of the good and light Gods on the one hand and the offspring of chaotic matter (the giants, Nature's disturbing forces) on the other, the human-soul is extremely active. It is involved in a struggle that extends to man's innermost being: both the human-soul and the God-soul proceed from the Gods; but the body belongs to the world of giants and they struggle for supremacy. If the human-soul conquers by virtue and courage then it goes after death to Valhalla, to fight in concert with the Gods against the evil powers. If on the other hand the body conquers and links the spirit to itself by weakness then after man's death the human-soul sinks to the world of the giants and joins itself with the evil powers in their warfare against the Gods. Long after his individual identity has been forgotten a man's human-soul, absorbed into the corporate spirit of the regiment, college, village, nation or other group, continues to demonstrate its immortality by inspiring future generations to noble deeds - or to acts of degradation.

32. If the God-soul migrates to other living things after death, how can you square this with, for example, the need to slaughter livestock in order to sustain human life? Isn't it rather like killing a God?

The God-soul must not be confused with the being that it inhabits. Animals, birds and trees have always been regarded by Odinists with respect; it is indeed probable that the domestication of some creatures arose from their former sacred character. Every living thing is a manifestation of the divine and its spirit is immortal: every time a tree is felled or an animal slaughtered it is indeed a kind of sacrifice. But the tree or the animal is only a temporary dwelling-place for the immortal God. Everything in Nature has a purpose and it is necessary in order that life may be sustained in others for such "sacrifices" to be made. Such an attitude encourages consideration and reverence for Nature and discourages its wanton despoliation. It is the unnecessary, cruel or unnatural killing of animals (or of human beings), the unjustifiable destruction of trees or landscape and the defiling of natural resources, that is wrong.

33. You have maintained "ancestral spirits". Does this mean that Odinists believe in ancestor-worship?

The human-souls of one's own family ancestors provide us with moral strength and inspiration. Just as we received our spirit from Odin, so we received our physical being through our parents and our ancestors from time memorial. Our respect for ancestors maintains the continuity of the family, the kin and the race. ... Life is a continuing process: we must try to visualize ourselves as ancestors; for ancestors and descendants are genealogically one. Edmund Burke once remarked that society was a partnership between those who were living, those who are dead and those yet to be born; past and present and future are seen as a continuing evolution and must be looked upon as complete being.

34. What kind of status do women have within the Odinist community?

Odinists do not need reminding of women's rights! Our religion anciently held women in high honor: not only are Goddesses included in the Odinist pantheon, but, when the Odinist priesthood is restored, all offices will be open to women just as they were before the Christian usurpation relegated them to permanent backbenches of religious life.

35. What are the chief festivals of the Odinic Rite?

In ancient times there were three great festivals: Yule (the Mid-Winter Festival), Summer Finding (or spring equinox) and Winter Finding (autumn equinox). To these we nowadays add the Mid-summer Festival. Yule, the popular Festival of Mid-Winter (sometimes called the Festival of Light), heralds the beginning of the Odinist year. It is the birthday of the unconquered sun, which at this time begins to new vigor after its autumnal decline when, having descended into darkness, it pauses, kindles the fire of germination and ascends renewed with the fruit of hope. The Mid-Winter Festival includes the Twelve Nights of Yule, encapsulating the twelve months of the year in miniature, and culminates in the celebration of Twelfth Night. Summer Finding, in March, is the Festival of Odin. It celebrates the renewal, or resurrection, of Nature after the darkness of winter. It was transformed by the Christians into their Easter (named after the Odinist Goddess of the Saxons, Ostara), Rogation and Whitsun and was also recalled in folk custom by the festivities of May Day. The Midsummer Festival, the Feast of Balder, is the great celebration of the triumph of light and the sun. Winter Finding mourns the death of summer and heralds the coming of autumn. It is dedicated to the god Frey, patron of the harvest, and is also sometimes called the Charming of the Fruits of Earth, when we render thanks for the years supply of life-giving foods.

36. What other Odinist festivals are there?

Besides the great festivals there are a number of secondary festivals and also some commemorations of local Gods or various aspects of life.

The secondary festivals of the Odinic Rite are: The Charming of the Plough, January 3, the festival of Vali, February 14, which commemorates the family and is an occasion for betrothals, the renewal of marriage vows and vows of kinship loyalty. The festival of the Einherjar on November 11, known as Heroes' day, which honors the dead.

37. What is the Odinist Committee?

The committee for the Restoration of the Odinic Rite (to give its full title) was set up on April 23, 1973 with the limited objects of restoring Odinist ritual and ceremonies, to define Odinist faith and doctrine and to constitute a teaching order of gothar (singular: gothi, meaning priest or teacher). When these immediate objects have been achieved the Committee will disband. In the past not a great deal of attention was paid to systemizing the doctrinal aspects of Odinism and consequently the body of writing on the subject has remained limited and uneven. The Odinist Committee will place the worship of the Aesir on a more formal and permanent basis.

38. How do I go about becoming an Odinist?

First of all by understanding, then by believing. You do not have to "be born again" but you are expected to live your whole life according to the Odinist precepts. There is a ceremony of reception (or initiation) into the Odinist community for those who wish it. The secretary of the Odinist Committee, 10 Trinity Green, London, E1, will be able to tell you whether there is an Odinist group in your neighborhood or, if there is not one, how you may form one.

39. Can the Odinist Committee supply me with a list of Odinist temples and shall I be permitted to attend some of the inveitan?

There are at present no Odinist hofs (temples) in Great Britain open for public worship. Odinism starts with the individual and extends, through the family, to the community and the world. So with worship, which is at present practiced mostly at family level, the festivals of the Odinist year being celebrated in the home, with friends and other Odinists sometimes being invited to participate. But it is expected that various regional meeting places will be authorized when eventually the ritual of Odinist worship has been fully restored and gothar licensed by the successor body to the Odinist committee.

These things are thought the best: Fire, the sight of the sun, Good health with the gift to keep it, And a life that avoids vice.

The High Song of Odin *

* The verse from The High Song of Odin is from Paul B. Taylor and W H Auden's translation of The Elder Edda and is reproduced by permission of Messrs Faber and Faber. Other quotations from the Eddas in the foregoing pages are from the translation by Rasmus B. Anderson.

PARAMETERS MAGAZINE

By
Allen Semenenchuk

Parameters is the official publication of the U.S. Army War College. It is written by and for professional military personnel and a select few academics. It is a vehicle for the continuing education and professional development of USAWC graduates and other senior military officers. You can get it on line at: <http://carlisle.www.army.mil/usawc/Parameters/>

You can buy a one year (4) issue subscription for $17.00 from the Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15250-7954. Or you can do what I did and score a free issue by writing them at US Army War College ATTN: Parameters 122 Forbes Avenue Carlisle, Pa 17013-5238 and asking for a sample copy and some writers guidelines. In fact if you do this several times you will be striking a blow for freedom by helping to drain the military budget.

Parameters is the journal that you need to read if you want to know what the upper crust of the US military and government is thinking about on the lines of conducting future land warfare. The winter issue Vol. XXVII, No 4 which I am reviewing here was divided up into three main sections: Conflict in the Balkans, Future Land warfare, and NATO: Change and Continuity. There was also a large selection of book reviews on subjects of interest to the military minded.

One section of the reviews dealt with websites; in this section was a review of the military health service and the army's plans for using genetic engineering: see, <http://keydet.sra.com/hs2020/homepage/upload/thebook.htm>; (note I am unsure if the last; is a part of the address or a grammar tool to separate the htm from the rest of the sentence). There is also a web site which deals with Biotechnology and anotechnology. It mentions biosensors to detect virus and environmental contaminants (i.e. bio/chemical warfare stuff) at: <http://keydet.sra.com/hs2020/homepage/hs2020.htm>: accessed 7 October 1998 (same with this semicolon as the earlier one. I do not have access to a computer or the net so do not know just what is on these sites but if you do, punch it in and see what Uncle Shem has in mind.

I was prompted to review this journal by the section on conflict in the Balkans but there was much of interest in the other sections as well. The section on future land warfare and the section on NATO both dealt with current UN plans to put US military forces under joint command with other nationals. There were sections on how the military justice system would have to adapt for their role in peace time as peace keepers and as general police forces for the world at large in numerous situations. There was even an article on the updating of non US military computer systems so that communications between inter structure forces could be achieved without wounding the pride of more backward peoples in a culturally sensitive military. (My favorite article in this journal was entitled "Thicker than Water? Kin, Religion and Conflict in the Balkans" by Lt. Col P.H. Liotta USAF and Dr. Anna Simon of UCLA. In this article the authors attempt to reveal some of the many reasons behind the bloody and long standing conflict in that area. To my surprise they pointed out the fact that the way people in the US, both public and government look at things are not the way that people in other parts of the world look at things. They reveal that US policy makers have long been blinded by a two dimensional bipolar viewpoint when looking at a conflict (a legacy of the cold war) and demonstrate how the policy makers and the sheeple must start to evaluate this and other conflicts in terms of culture, geography, and civilization instead of in terms of the us Vs them mentality which dominated the cold war. That is if they truly wish to understand the reasons behind many of the conflicts taking place in the world today.

To achieve this goal the authors created a framework of analysis which looked at kinship, future and past relationships, and the role that religion has played in the Balkans.

The authors' major premise is that in areas where government fails the people, then the peoples only and primary source of strength and stability lays within ones family and extended kinship structure. Trust centers upon the family, one trusts and can rely on the family to act in certain ways in certain situations. Kinship is the bond that defines and cements our social relationships. People who are not kin must prove they are like us in some manner, that they have some type of kindredness before we will accept them. This kinship with others can expand or contract to accept differing social condition. In times of peace and security one may think on a national level, all Americans are my family, or all people of German, English, or Irish decent are my family or people.

In times of instability that concept will contract to only those in my province are kin, only those in my village, only those in my clan etc. In these times the stranger is not acceptable because he or she is most likely a threat in some manner to the kin groups continued well being. The authors then point out two very interesting facts about ethnic cleansing; it is not, they claim as is commonly believed based on past wrongs or revenge.

Instead ethnic cleansing is a proactive and future directed action; "obliterate those you believe would kill you if they could" (Liotta & Simons: 15:98). You kill those in the here and now who in the future would destroy you. The past while it plays a part in directing you toward those who in the past were enemies and so may be again in the future is not the main reason behind the mass killing of enemy people. It is simple; you kill them now, so that tomorrow they will not be there to kill you. This is sound logic, if a threat is dead it cannot come to pass. If a bloodsucking bug lands on your arm you can shoo it away or you can squash it: If you choose to shoo it away it will fly away and then land and bite you later or if not you someone else. If, however, you swat it, the bug will be dead and all future threats from it. The same is true with people. If someone is a threat to you; you can run, or you can divert them in some manner or you can destroy them and end all possible threats.

The author also addresses the issue of mass rape. They show that this too is a future oriented device. By raping the women of the enemy a blow is struck in numerous ways, moral is affected and also the seeds of future conflict is established. It is a forward looking dilution of the bloodline by creating alien life within the women of a people the enemy divides her attachment. When the crunch comes, will the mother side with her people against her half-breed spawn or with the enemy? This type of rape produced spawn serves only to divide family and kin groups. If one does not destroy the enemy spawn at birth it will only create future sources of conflict. As a case in point one need only look at present day Bosnia, and Albania; whose people are the most part hybrid peoples. They are the product of the mass rape of Serbian and Croatian women by Turkish oppressors. They are also the product of race mixing and treason as the weaker people of the Serbian and Croatian areas succumbed to the privileges that went with conversion to Islam. In addition to mass rape the Ottoman oppressors would commit mass kidnapping of Serbian and Croatian children. These children would be taken and raised as slave warriors to be used against their own people.

The authors also glance at the role of religion in the area and how various religious groups have added fuel to the fires of civil unrest in the area; the Catholic Church encouraging the Croats to battle none papists, the Eastern Church favoring Serbs and the Islamic groups favoring all of the muds in the area against all the non Muslims in a stew that has lasted for 600 years.

It was at the battle of Kosovo 610 years ago on the Field of the Black Birds that Serbian forces were defeated by the Ottoman Turks and the Balkans were smashed into 600 years of repression and genocide at the hands of their Islamic oppressors. As a result of this resistance to the Turks and the refusal to give up their religious faith became a holy crusade for the Serbs. As late as the 1920s the birth of every male peasant child was greeted with the cry "Hail, little avenger of Kosovo!" Indeed as noted by the authors, the messianic fervor of Serb nationalism—kindled by defeat and reborn with each new infant—still renders Kosovo a badge of honor, as well as call to arms (19:1998). So repressive was the rule of the Ottoman Turks to the Serbs that each child born did represent a chance for racial survival, a survival that was almost snuffed out by the genocidal practices of the Islamic Turks.

So strong is the memory of the years of oppression, so strong the memory of the losses engendered by their defeat at the battle that there is today the following inscription on the Gazimestan memorial monument, which commemorates the Battle of Kosovo at the field of the Black Birds: "Whoever is a Serb, and of Serbian Seed and doesn't come to fight the battle of Kosovo, let him never father a child, neither male nor female. Let whatever he grows never yield fruit, neither red wine nor white wheat. Let him rot in evil shame till his last progeny."

This is a really great inscription and a curse with real meaning behind it. It targets those who in the past failed to come to the battle and defend their people against the Islamic hordes and is a call to the future. While I have no use for Christians of any sort, I have even less use for Muslims. Muslims too would burn and kill Pagans when they got the opportunity. Only Jews, and Christians are considered along with Muslims to be people of the book every other religion is to be slaughtered. Plus one must remember that the Serbs and others in that area are keepers of the gateway to Europe. If not for these people Europe would have been overrun by muds years ago, they in the south and the Russians and Poles in the north are what have kept Europe as white as it is up till now. It took the English, and the French, the Portuguese, and the Spanish to brown Europe up with imports from their former colonies which were shipped in by the western gate while their watcher were asleep at the switch.

Anyway, this journal had some good stuff in it. It allows the reader to become aware of the fact that there are people in the government establishment who understand just what governmental policies are doing. It also allows one to know that even though the military of this land may know that what is being done is wrong, that they will do it anyway. Uncle Shem's troops will do what Uncle Shem tells them to do; whether it be to Serbians in Serbia, or to those who disagree with them here in the land of the free. The sniper who murdered Mrs. Vicki Weaver was a graduate of West Point.

Anyway, send off and get yourself a free copy of this journal, it will show you some things about the military and maybe let you get some idea just what you will be facing should the crunch come

WILL OF POWER AS A POLITICAL WEAPON

By: A member of the Gallic Heathen Front

As soon as a community of men / women has decided to defend an Ideal, this community begins to write papers, release flyers, do "propaganda". But when the governments, in the case of a political Ideal, are ignoring your actions and demands, time has come to use Terrorism. But what is the function of such an action?

In fact, the aim of Terrorism is to take attention of the media's on Ideals defended by Terrorists, or to create an atmosphere of Terror in a country or a city. In fact, these two possibilities ask the problem of moral responsibility in case of using Terrorism as a political weapon.

Indeed, the problem is to know if it's useful or not to kill people in the name of Ideals we are fighting for. Actually, it seems more to be a strategical problem than an ethical one if you're sure of what you want. Indeed, the problem is that you risk killing hundreds of innocent people and the public opinion will not give you support for your actions. On the other hand, terrorism appears to be useful and effective to create an atmosphere of fear and oppression on a "chosen" population. To kill innocent persons has a psychological importance too, because Terrorism is able to turn a government upside down by creating a feeling of insecurity for all citizens. Facing such problems, history has shown that no state is able to fight effectively against Terrorism, because it's a clandestine action which seems to come from nowhere. That's why the best weapon against a tyrannical and oppressive force (as for example ZOG), seems to be Terrorism, in its two possible ways of development, even if of course, the most violent way is the surest one, considering its effects.

But are we ready and able to kill for our Ideals? As we have understood before most of the other ones that the West is declining, we can consider ourselves as being a sort of clairvoyants, or modern "prophets". Considering this, we have to think that we see elements the other ones can't yet see (as Hegel mentioned about the "great Men" in History), and so we fight for Ideals which will constitute the future of our Volk. The problem is that this Volk isn't now ready -or enough enlightened- to understand the true meaning of our ethical, racial, and cultural fight, and will react to the media information as the system wants, because they're afraid for their comfort, standing and capitalistic way of life. The problem is here to know how to react if our Volk doesn't follow and support us in case of a White Revolution: will we be obliged to kill them or not? Can we really kill white Men in order to preserve other white Men?

Concerning such a problem, we see the importance of mental and psychological dimension for a western revolutionary: we have to be ready now, psychologically and physically. That's why we have to do sport-training plus meditation and mental training. In fact, the mental aspect is probably the most important element in the elaboration of the western individual Ethos: indeed, there are a lot of cases where people succeeded to survive thanks to their mental force. This force is for sure the most enriching and constructive value of a Man, because it can transform a physically-weak person into a true warrior during a short period. It's a part of us that we have to educate and work with: in the everyday-life, normal people only use 10 to 15% of their brain's capacities, which proves that Mother Nature created Men -and especially the western ones, characterized by their intrinsic creative genius, in order to realize great projects and "move the wheels of History" as Marx said. So we have to know that every Westerner has natural treasures in himself, which only have to be used and exploited.

That's why if we want to have strong men, "Mans sana in corpore sano" as the roman Moral said, we have to be trained. If our warriors are determined, knowing exactly what they want (and have) to do, and able to do all they can to realize their wishes, this will not be a problem anymore.

Considering the problems of Terrorism with these new elements, we have to admit that we will be effective (and our actions too), as soon as we will have created a new homo sapiens sapiens genre, which means for us the realization of the Greek ideal of Beauty and Perfection.

The 3rd Reich had understood this dimension of the human being, giving a special attention and consideration to the Power of the Will: the day of the NSDAP's feast in Nuremberg was for example named the "Triumph of the Will" (this is the title of a Leni Riefenstahl's film too). Friedrich Nietzsche understood it too, elaborating his whole philosophical doctrine around the concept of "Will of Power" defined as an impulse of Life.

That's why strong Men are those able to have a self-indulgence on a psychological and physical basis: those are able to think by themselves, and of course to fight. In such a perspective, don't hesitate to do training, especially in urban zones, because the next level of our fight will probably be civil wars in the European cities, offering modern technologies and architectures which have nothing common with a "classical" guerilla in the mountains or in the forests. In addition, the psychological side we mentioned before includes the intellectual sphere too, because Terrorism can be seen as intellectual actions too. That's what we call "Metapolitics" or "Kulturkampf", and which consists into intellectual and cultural propaganda: writing books, articles, creating new forms of Art (Music, Paintings...) in order to be able to offer an alternative (and a subversive one) to western men and to hope they will open their eyes to Reality... before being obliged to use Terrorism to create a psychological Traumatism on their consciousness, which is the only way to re-create a true Civilization.

LaShort

It's a S.N.A.F.U.

Situation Normal...All Fucked Up

The word snafu started as a joke in the U.S. army during W.W.II. just as F. T. A. (Fuck The Army) made the rounds during the Vietnam war. After the Second World War, G. I. Joes returned to the states and introduced the word to popular American culture. It became so popular that many Christians, not knowing it was a slang word for all fucked up, began using it. During the heavily censored '40s, '50s, and 60s, it even made it's way to Hollywood. I've heard the secret code word for all fucked up, snafu, used in Three Stooges shorts, in old Disney films, and in many Warner Brothers' cartoons. Popeye and Yosemite Sam use it numerous times. The question is whether the cartoonists used the word innocently, or knowingly sneaked the adult material into kiddy films just as some cartoonists have done recently with nudity in certain Disney cartoons.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The AHF (Germanic Heathen Front) are looking for English (Anglo-Germanic) Heathens interested in setting up an English chapter. Anyone interested. Please contact the Heathen Front at www.heathenfront.org or Hamasson from Woden's Folk, www.vigrid.freeseerve.co.uk/ Also, anyone of Celtic blood wishing to start an Irish, Welsh, Cornish, or Scottish Pagan Front, please also write.

AIDS KILLS CATHOLIC PRIESTS

Witch Burners Get Caught With Their Hands In The Fudge Jar

According to an investigating articles by The Kansas Star, Catholic Priests are 4x more likely than the average American to die from the AIDS virus. The news report, also, claims that the actual number of AIDS deaths among the Church's "celibate" Priesthood may be much higher because the Vatican is trying to cover up the high homosexual activity among its leadership. The Church is trying to lowering the true number of AIDS deaths by listing other causes of death, such as cancer and heart failure.

The Church, if you recall, a few years ago got its old man teats caught in a ringer for trying to cover up the high per cent of its Priesthood who were having sex with children.

Now the news is out that the Church's AIDS rate is 400% higher than the national average, is it not logical that these fudge packers are 4x more likely to give AIDS to a child than your average pedophile. The reason for this being that most pedophiles only have sex with children and the AIDS rate is extremely low among American children. Therefore, your average pedophile is less likely to get AIDS than a adult loving homosexual. Then enters the Catholic Church, which historically, has always mixed the perversions of homosexuality and pedophilia quite liberally among its hierarchy. Don't be too surprised when the next breaking news story is that the Church is trying to cover up the fact that they are the greatest spreaders of childhood AIDS in the world.

The next time you read about the hate the Church has towards women, (the Witch Hunts and other hate crimes against women), just remember their sexual orientation, than everything will start to make sense.

LETTERS

Greetings Pagan Revival:

....I've been watching the TV show Xena for some time now. It is interesting to see how they belittle the Aryan Gods and romanticize non-Aryan Gods. Xena and her lesbian lover are always getting the best of White men. The only happy heterosexual love affair I've seen on the show was between a White woman and a black man. The latest plot of the show has Xena killing the Aryan Allfather Zeus. Her baby, the product of a virgin birth, no penis for Xena, will herald in the death of the Aryan Gods and bring about the birth of monotheism and the Hebrew god. It is interesting to note that they picked the name Xena for their hero. The word xena means foreigner in ancient Greek...Jim, CO

Brother Jim:

You're seeing the Xena: Warrior Princess show as the glass being half empty. Yes, there is a lot bad about the show, but there, also, is a lot of good. Let's look at Xena as being a glass half full. Xena is a show which is mainly watched by young, White women. This is the first time in 1,000 years that White women have taking an active interest in the Aryan warrior culture of our forefathers. Once the women take an interest in our culture, then we can set them straight on the facts. But without Xena, many White women will never be interested in learning the truth. A friend of mine has a sword hanging over his fire place. One day when I was at his house, two of his grand daughters saw the sword and shouted out, "Xena", and began playing like they were swinging an imaginary sword in combat against some foe. These little girls were fantasizing about being Aryan warrior princesses. Xena is getting little girl to connect to our past. What's wrong with that? With the New Paganism, we can get White females interested in Aryanism by showing them the religion of that the REAL Xena would be into. Hell, the Goddess Freyja is the real Xena. If we had activists who liked women, we could set up a table at every Xena convention and hand out literature comparing Xena to Freyja. 1,000s of White female would be interested. The problem with the movement is we can't relate our message to women. Here's a hook. Freyja as Xena. Also, TV shows like Buffy the Vampire Slayer, Charmed, Roswell, Sabrina the Teenage Witch, etc. are viewed by 10s of millions of White females from the ages of seven to twenty-five. This is a demographics the movement has never been able to reach. These shows are making the occult, Paganism, witchcraft, Folk ways, etc. hip among young, White females. Here is a door open to the hearts and minds of White females. Here is a chance for the movement to stop being a HE-MAN WOMEN HATERS CLUB...For the Warrior Goddess, Wyatt

SEPARATING THE THRALLS FROM THE JARLS

Some Thoughts on a Constitutional Meritocracy

In a meritocracy, there must be a way to separate the vassals from the warriors. In olden times, it was mainly done on the battle field. In the Asatru era, great braves rose to clan leaders, brave clan leaders rose to tribal leaders, great tribal leaders became kings and queens. In the early Christian era, heroes were knighted. Although there were numerous Christian feudal systems, the general flow was something like this: knights became dukes, dukes became earls, earls became kings. Those who didn't care for Christ and/or didn't wish to fight for Christendom became serfs. If it wasn't for a Christian meritocracy or Christian feudal system, the cult of Christ would never have rose to the power house it once was. Christianity took over our homeland with the power meritocracy gave it. Christian peasants joined the crusaders in hopes of being knighted and moving up the social ladder. The more service they gave to the state (AKA The Church) the better their lot in life would be. The serfs served the lords. The lords served the dukes...everyone served the king, and the kings all bowed down to the Church. Oh, noble knights giveth thine sword onto Christ. Talk about power! Meritocracy made Christianity unstoppable. Christians fooled themselves into believing that it was Christianity which made them rich and mighty, while, in reality, it was the system of government the Church grafted itself on. Christianity turned away from meritocracy and now embraces democracy. Christianity is such a dying cult today that they are forced to import non-Whites into the Aryan homeland just to fill their fucking churches. We must understand it is not just the capitalists who want cheap labor, nor the Leftists and the Jews who want to bring the third worlders into our land, the Christ pukers look at non-Whites invaders as warm butts to fill empty pews. Democratic Christianity is an expiring, disease ridden whore who will welcome any creature to its bed.

"The teachings of the Church are at odds with the teachings of Christ. The teachings of Jesus Christ are at odds with the teachings of his father, the god of the Old Testament. The teachings of the god of the Old Testament are at odds with the nature of man."

M.O.G.

Monotheist Occupational Government

"Across the borders and into the churches!" as a Christian magazine once explained why non-White immigrants are so important to modern Christian survival. For every Mexican I see on the street, I see just one more Jesusfreak who will try to enslave us with his fucked up middle eastern morality. The third world invaders are coming here not to become like us but to turn us into one of them...to force us to obey their laws. They are re-enforcement troops for an ever weakening Monotheist Occupational Govern- ment (M.O.G.) The Identity people talk about Zionist O.G. as controlling the West. Klassen called it Jew O.G. However, neither of these are fully true. Zionists preach all Jews should pack up and move back to Israel. I like Zionism. I'll volunteer to help with the packing. Zionists don't control the West. Zionism is a right wing philosophy. Most Western Jews have turned their backs on Zionism and have embraced universalism. For instances, Normal Lear is a powerful Jew in Hollywood and he is very, very anti-Zionist and gives money to the PLO. He is a Jewish liberal universalist, as most rich American Jews are. Read the Jewish press, the left wing Jews of the West have a very troubled relationship with the right wing Jews in Israel. So the Christian Identity concept of Z.O.G. is untrue.

The late Ben Klassen of the C.O.T.C., before he killed himself as a result of his atheistic teachings, coined the phrase J.O.G. Klassen believed the Jews, whether pro-Zionist or anti-Zionist, control the West.

There are more people with at least some Jewish blood in the United States than any where else in the world. Israel has more religious Jews, but America has more people with Jewish ancestry. White people are leaving Christianity, yet, Christians are filling their Churches back up with non-Whites. Young Jews in America are leaving the temples and no one is filling the empty seats. Christianity is a dying religion, but Judaism, in the West, is a dead religion. Jews are less than 2% of the U.S. population, and while it is true that they control far more than just 2% of the power in America, they don't control 100% of the power in the U.S. as many people in the so called movement believe. Jews are a very strong people today, but they are not the only power.

Christians are the most stalwart Semitic cult in America at this time. While Jews have more strength than their actual numbers, the Christians have less might than their numbers would imply, because Christianity is caving in on itself, and they can't get their act together. Democracy is killing Christianity. The freer people become, the weaker the Church grows. Personal freedom and the death of Christianity walk hand in hand. Albeit, Christianity is staggering. It's still the most influential cult in the U.S. It is true that the Jews are an occupational force within the Aryan homeland, but so are the Christians, and in some ways, each one is stronger than the other. A third force is sinking its claws into America, and this evil is Islam. Islam is the fastest growing cult in the United States. The new American Muslims are almost all non-Whites, and they are even more anti-White than the Jews and Christians. If you think the Jews and the Christians are bastards, just wait until the Islamic Iron Heel is pressed against your throat.

The religious power in America is made up of the Jews who, for now, have way too much power than their numbers deserve. Nevertheless, Judaism in America is in deep trouble with its own followers who are more secular than religious. Christianity is the most powerful cult in America, however, Christians are drowning in democracy. The new Democratic Christianity is at odds with the teachings of the Church. The teachings of the Church are at odds with the teachings of Christ. The teachings of Jesus Christ are at odds with the teachings of his father, the god of the Old Testament. The teachings of the god of the Old Testament are at odds with the nature of man. Without a dictatorship to keep people in line, Christianity will fall. Today, Christianity is very democratic. Tomorrow, Christian will be in ruins. Islam is now the greatest monotheistic threat to our people. Soon, we may not be fighting against the Jews and the Christians, but an Islamic American power structure.

These cults are powerful and all are monotheistic. They are the enemy. Not Z.O.G. nor J.O.G., but M.O.G.

The Mead Hall

If you don't want your letters published, in Pagan Revival's letters section, from now on known as The Mead Hall, say so in each letter.

If you do want your full name and/or address published, say so in your letter. Other wise, only the first name and state or nation (if not American) will be used to i.d. the writer.

I, usually, print prisoners' addresses in with their letters, because the iron heel already knows about you, so what the hell!

Pagan Revival may editor your letters if they are too long, too private, or too full of gossip. Where letters are edited I'll try to use an eclipse (....).

Wyatt,

David and Erika have been using the Reader Rabbit CD-ROM you gave them and here is their review.

"We love it!"

Now for the scholastic opinion: There are six levels that allow both kids to do 2nd grade (Erika) and 4th grade (David), and they can change the grade levels, or I can, to each individual child's needs. David is working at the 6th grade level and Erika at the 3rd grade. David is nine and Erika is six, so this fits the age limits the CD-ROM says.

The Reader Rabbit Pre-School CD-ROM you gave us is at and a little ahead of Kathryn's level, so she will be using it for quite some time. She loves it too! Thanks a lot for both of these CDs. E-mail me when you get on the Net ... Carolyn

Dear Carolyn:

Thanks for reviewing the CDs I gave you. I'm glad the little munchkins liked them.

The fact that you care enough about your children to home school really impresses me. Most women don't care enough about our Folk to even have children, let alone to spend time teaching them. If more women were like you, our future wouldn't be so gray.

When they start cloning people, we should make a million copies of you. It would improve the White race extremely.

When you were here last, you wondered aloud if you were doing the right thing by home schooling your children. My answer is yes, because: (1). Kids are mean. The number one effect which the public school system has on a kid is to kill their egos. Kids love to pick on other kids. It doesn't matter if you are too tall, too short, too good looking, too ugly, too fat, too thin, too smart, too dumb, too rich, too poor, too good, too bad, too popular, too unpopular, kids will always find a reason to kill other kids self-esteem. Everyone, even the popular kids, come out of public schools marred for life.

Public schools are like the book, Lord of the Flies, where kids hunt and kill the self-love of other kids.

(2.) Home Schooling can save you hundreds of thousands of dollars during the time your children are living at home, because at public schools there is great peer pressure to be cool and for you to buy your kids the current consumer fads.

"Mom, all the kids are wearing docs. If you don't buy me a pair, all the kids will call me a geek!" There's a $160 spent on kid cool. "Mom, everyone has a Tigger doll". Boom $60. "Mom all the kids have a racing bike..". Boom there is $600 out of your pocket.

"Mom, I'm 16. All the kids have a new car. Why can't we be like everyone else!" Boom $20,000. Pop Culture and public schools, and even private schools, create an insane consumerism in kids. With three kids, home schooling can save you a fortune. The biggest expanse with kids now days is consumer trends. Peer pressure forces kids to become mindless consumers. And if you resist the trends, your kids will hate you and think you don't love them because you don't buy them all the crap the other kids have. Public schools are a capitalist tool.

(3.) All individual public school teachers believe they have a moral duty to teach "their" kids the difference between "right" and "wrong". Their individual belief system will always be different from your family's value. All public school teachers are crusaders who want to save "our" children. Every public school teacher I ever had always corrected students by saying something like, "I don't care what your father (or mother) told you. Here are the facts...." or "I don't care what you heard at home. Here's the truth...." Kids are under the influence of crusading school teachers from 7:00 AM, to 2:30 PM. Five days a week. They come home and go to their rooms and do home work, watch TV or whatever until bed time. The parents play little part in the rising of public school kids. Public school kids' minds belong to strangers.

(4.) The system rules the public schools. The main goal of their schools is to create little mindless robots who will consumer products and obey the law.

(5.) Public schools fail teaching large numbers of kids. They are too crowded and a lot of teachers can't teach. Kids get lost in the masses at public school and disappear.... And so on.

You're a great Mother for taking the time to teach your kids. It shows you have great love for your kids. A rare thing these days.

I was very impressed how well your kids can read and how far advanced they are to other kids their age. Your children will have a great future and do well in life....Wyatt

Pagan Revival,

I enjoyed Allen Semenchuk's review of the book The Barbarian Conversion. I don't have time to read the books on my own MUST READ list, let alone those books on other people's list. A good book review can sum up an important book, give me all the main ideas, while taking a 500 plus page book and reducing it to an easily read one page magazine review. I hope to see more book reviews in Pagan Revival...Brad Woodka, CA

Hello,

My name is Dominic Ward. I pray to the Goddess that my words find you in good health. I am a young Pagan in prison. I have been a solitary Pagan since I was nine years old. Now, I find myself in prison with many Pagan brothers. Please send me information I can share with my Pagan brothers... Dominic Ward, 860319, P.O. Box 2,000, d-201, Colorado City, TX 79512

Dear Pagan Revival:

...I'm not an "Aryan Pagan". I'm a Satanist. However, I like your magazine. Now that Dr. Le Vey is dead and the Church of Satan is doing nothing. We need a weapon to fight Christianity. Keep up the good work....June, CA

Wyatt,

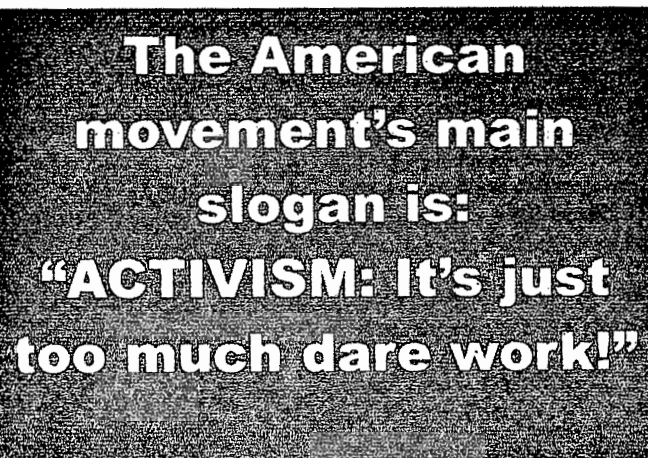

First off, let me say that Pagan Revival is unlike anything that I've ever seen. Every issue goes into areas where others won't, please keep it up. I do, however, have a question that has been troubling me and I would appreciate your comments. You don't have to remind me of how destructive Jews have been to our race. Knowing this, twice in the past few weeks I have found myself agreeing with Jews as opposed to bible thumpers. The first time was on the Larry King show, where two rabbis were debating a Baptist Minister and the leader of Jews For Jesus, and the second time was on a radio talk show where a Jewish life extension physician was defending birth control and prolonged longevity in the face of relentless assaults from rabid, born-again idiots determined to take the world back to the dark ages. I like to think that this doesn't make me a race traitor, what are your thoughts? Yours, T. R. Kirksey

Dear T.R.

The Jews are better than the Christians in many ways. All the monotheistic cults are evil. But even evil has its moments. Living in an Islamic nation would be a nightmare. Well, not for us, Pagans, because, even today Paganism is punishable by death in most Muslim countries. They chop off our heads. However, the good side of Islam is most Muslims hate the United States. I can relate to that. The Jews totally hate anything White. They are powerful in the West, this makes a great threat to our survival as a people. However, the good thing about the Jews is they really hate the Christians. Jewish run Hollywood really gives it to the Christians. I like this about the Jews. I like the Jewish actor Michael Caine. He is in a lot of anti-Christian movies. The Hidden Valley, a movie about the 30 Years War, when the Catholics and Protestants nearly destroyed Germany, was a great anti-Christian movie. The Man Who Would Be King was a movie that knocked religion in general, but I liked it. I think the Jews, Christians, and Muslims balance each other out. If Israel wasn't in the middle east, wouldn't the Muslims have a better chance to push up into Eastern Europe. The Iron Heel already has given the Muslims a big chunk of Serbia, so Islam can have a stronghold in the heart of the Aryan homeland. I wish the Jews and the Muslims would nuke each other, then we could focus on the Christians, who are the most deadly of the three, for Christianity is inside "Fort Aryan" poisoning our people. The enemy within your walls can kill you faster than those outside your gate. Neither Judaism nor Islam have made much head way getting inside our Folk. Most White people have had their minds raped by the fagot Jesus. So, yes, in many ways I can relate to the Jews, especially when they attack Christians... Wyatt

Dear Pagan Revival Network:

I enjoy your magazine. I am an 83 year old widow and the ...MOTHER OF SIX Aryan children, the grandmother of seventeen Aryan grand children, and great grandmother of three great grand kids. I became an Odinist through the Odinist Fellowship in the mid-70s. My husband was a member of Huey P Long's Share the Wealth in the 1930s.

I am on a fitted income and only get S.S.I. I was wondering if I wrote an article or two could I get a sub to Pagan Revival?
J.K., Texas

Dear J.K.

Sure. Could you write something about Share the Wealth? The Depression is very interesting to me. Do you know anything about the Union for Social Justice, the Silver Shirts, the German-American Bund, the America First Committee, the Black Leagues, or what was Dr. Townsend's group called? $10 Every Thursday? Or something like that.

My father told me that during the Great Depression the Silver Shirts were on every major street corner in Los Angeles selling their newspaper, and they got in these giant, bloody street fights with Communists. There were, also, Odinist groups during the '30s. In San Diego, on Point Loma, near where the light house is overlooking the bay, there was a huge Temple of the Swastika building. Tom Metzger told me that the Museum of Man in downtown San Diego, next to the San Diego Zoo, have the doors to the Temple. They change the name to Temple of the Sun. The doors to the temple have two silver images of an Aryan man and woman, I believe. When I get some time, I want to check it out.

One thing I would be interested in people doing is writing Pagan prisoners. I want to start Pagan Revival kindreds in prison, but I don't have much time to write letters and work with people. If you would pick one Pagan prisoner from the pages of Pagan Revival and write him and help organize even one tiny Pagan study group in one prison, then I'll give a sub...Wyatt

Greetings Wyatt and the Pagan Revival readership:

I read #43 at a comrade's house. Great issue. I don't agree with your attack on The Turner Diaries. Violence works. More violence works better. The Turner Diaries is the bible of White victory. The Turner Diaries creates direct action. There are a lot of dead people in Oklahoma who can testify to the power of The Turner Diaries.

Yours In The Revolution, W.W., CA

Wyatt:

During the U.S. Civil War, the Union General William Tecumseh Sherman accurately concluded that the only way to break the fighting spirit of the South was to take the war off the battlefields and take it to the Southern cities and wage the war against innocent people. A warrior is willing to sacrifice his own life, but not many are willing to sacrifice the lives of their loved ones. Sherman's terrorist campaign against the Southern civilians brought the Union victory. Sherman killed women and children, devastated the Southern economy, which they have to this day not fully recovered, and put the fear of God into anyone thinking about separating from the United States.

Sherman's terrorism defeated the South. Later, Sherman took his terrorist tactics and used them against the American Indians. The Indians were no match for an amoral Total War of terror. When the word got out that Sherman was slaughtering entire villages of any Indian tribe which resisted the government, few Indian tribes resisted.

As you have pointed out in the pages of Pagan Revival, the Christians defeated the White Pagans because the Pagan focused their fighting on the battlefield, while the Christian fought a Total War of terror and torched villages and killed every man, woman, and child who refused to convert to Christianity. Few Pagans were willing to sacrifice the lives of their women and children and they surrendered to mass forced conversion to Christianity.

Terror did more to convert Europe and the White race to Christianity than reason.

The Turner Diaries is an evil, bloody little book. You're right it is just a violent fantasy novel, however, it is also a blue print for victory.

John M. Mojave, CA

Dear Wyatt:

You shouldn't bad mouth the revolutionary novels like Hunter and The Turner Diaries, for they have inspired many people who otherwise would have little or no value in our struggle for the survival and advancement of the White Aryan European peoples.

What value would a Timothy McVeigh or for that matter any member of the Order have for the Resistance if Dr. William Pierce didn't first give them the revolutionary vision and inspire them to action? There would be no Oklahoma City if not for Dr. William Pierce and The Turner Diaries.

Who would Bob Mathews, John King, Ben Smith, or any of these countless Resistance never-do-wells be if not for Dr. Pierce and The Turner Diaries?

Even your fellow Wotanist, David Lane, has been turned into an international cult figure because of The Turner Diaries. David Lane was a nobody, until Dr. William Pierce inspired him to greatness.

The ingeniousness of Dr. Pierce is that all of his truly revolutionary writings are done in the form of fiction. Dr. Pierce can advocate extreme forms of direct action and if some high school drop out is inspired by the novel and goes out and does these things what can the system do to Dr. Pierce? It's only a novel. Just fiction. If some nut is inspired by Stephen King's novels and dresses up like a vampire and kills some one, is King responsible? If some weirdo robs an armored car or bombs a federal building is Dr. William Pierce responsible? Not at all for it is only fiction.

The National Alliance's plan is to create an elite revolutionary cadre of middle class White men. This elite guard must be shielded from the long arm of ZOG. This is why the National Alliance doesn't allow any one to join the N.A. who has a criminal record. We must protect the elite core of revolutionary thinkers from Jewish persecution.

The Turner Diaries is the shield which protects the elite core.

Words create ideas; ideas create action; action creates power; power is freedom.

No National Alliance member is allow to commit illegal acts. We are the legals.

The Turner Diaries inspires the illegals. The illegals do the dirty work. The business of the National Alliance is to build an elite middle class revolutionary cadre. 88! Robert

Dear Robert:

Are you serious or is this meant to be tongue-in-cheek? I've heard National Alliance people say things like this before about expressing ideas through a novel in order to protect the writer, but I've never heard them belittle members of the Order before. It seems odd...

Wyatt

Dear Komrade Wyatt Kaldenberg:

I received some issues of your excellent Pagan Revival journal through a friend of mine. As I often write for N.S. publications in France and I created FPG (Front Païen Gaulois = Gallic Heathen Front) I thought you might be interested in a contribution of two articles that I wrote some weeks ago. Please tell me if your're interested or not, if not I'll contact Cross the Abyss or the Nexus.

PS. Please note that the article entitled "Can God Unify Our Western Destinies". It's only my personal position and isn't the FPG's position (especially about the question of Christians being integrated into White nationalist groups of action). Thanks for understanding.

...In the Spirit of the Age. NR (FPG) BP 252, 13608 Aix cedex 1-France

Dear NR:

Thanks for the articles. I'll run them. I sent you PR #43 with a note.

I liked your articles. We disagree on a few points. This is only human nature. How unnatural it would be if we agreed on everything all the time. We are Pagans and Heathens after all. We aren't some mind numbing cult of zombies. People should be free to disagree with one another. That is the Heathen Way. There can never be a Pope of Paganism, since Paganism comes from the souls of the Folk..

There needs to be an exchange of ideas among the Pagan community.

You think we should work with Christians. I disagree. This too is just my opinion. Opinions and assholes. We all have them. It's just some stink more than others.

The Pagan community is more important than any individual opinion, but what is the Pagan community, but a group of individual Pagans with individual opinions. No one in the Pagan community has the "Whole Ball of Wax", the "Ultimate Creed", the "Final Solution, nor the "All Powerful Sleeping Pill". If people want that they should go join Ben Klassen. Oh, wait. We can't join the genius with all the answers because he killed himself. Damn, I guess we will just have to remain Pagans with the freedom to disagree. We need the freedom to fight among ourselves over the littlest issues. There can be no freedom without disagreement and no disagreement without infighting. Infighting is the price we pay for our freedom. Only totalitarian groups have no disagreement. Most White power groups in America tolerate no disagreement among their members nor within their publications. All these iron heel type of mind controlling racist cults will never free our Folk. This is why I'm a Pagan. I'm too big of an opinionated asshole to live under someone else's rules. If these racist cults took power, we would need a second revolution to get these cults off our backs. Hard working Pagan people should be free. Slavery is the reality of bums. If these cults were to take power, we all would be slaves. It would be a 1,000 times more oppressive than "ZOG".

I hate bums. I have no problems taking the freedom away from a slacker, but these cults want everyone's freedom.

Could you imagine living in a nation controlled by these totalitarian cults? It would be pure hell! We have to keep Aryan Paganism free of the mind control which controls most "White" groups.

You believe we should grant this freedom to people who have been committing genocide against us, Pagans and Heathens, for 2,000 years. I disagree. But what the hell, this is our right as Pagans to disagree.

Wyatt

Dear Wyatt:

I've been trying to get the subscription address and rate of the magazine "Valkyrie Voice". Could you publish the address and subscription rate of "Valkyrie Voice" so I may subscribe?

Also, there was a video put out by George Straight or Karl Straight featuring you in a Pagan Wedding. I'd like to know how a Teutonic or Germanic Pagan Wedding is done. Is there a book that illustrates or shows how this or these types of weddings are performed, and if so, what's the name and author?

And finally, my last question has to do with so called angels. Are the angels of Christianity really Gods. The angel Gabriel really being the God Heimdall, for instance. I found some books with secret prayers to the saints for help and guidance.

Are these saints really the Gods, and if one were to find secret prayers for them would they work as well if one were to call them by their original Teutonic or Greek or Roman names?

The concept of "wings" on these angels, is this a Christian manifestation, or is it stolen from us, or are angels Christian forms of the Valkyries or just plain Gods like Tyr/Mars as Archangel Chamael or the God Thor/Zeus/Jupiter as the angel Zadkiel? Is there a connection some where and if so what books would you recommend where I could find out more? What is the difference between the Gods or the Valkyries and the Christian and Hebrew angels? A detailed response would be most appreciated!

May Wotan and Frigga be with you!

Timothy Drechsel, Queens, New York

Dear Brother Timothy:

Question (1). Could you publish the address and subscription rate of "Valkyrie Voice" so I may subscribe?

Answers (1), "Valkyrie Voice" was a White Racial Women's Odinist magazine. As far as I know it no longer publishes. There has been a long line of American Aryan Pagan publications that were very good and which went under for lack of economic support. Thor, Wotan, Vikingstaff, The Society for Runic Studies newsletter: Runa, to name a few. They all came and went because Aryan people are too cheap to subscribe. Jews are powerful because they see money as a means to an end. They see money as a way to get what they want from the world. The White racist sees money as just a way to buy more beer. So the Jews end up controlling the world whereas the White racist just ends up with a huge beer belly and a hang over. Should we be pissed off at the Jews because they support their own people? No. Should we be pissed off at White people because they don't support their own kind? God damn right! Money is a powerful weapon and the Jews use it well. The Aryan has lost control of the West because we misuse our money. We give our money to Jewish business, but we refuse to support our own people. We refuse to create an Aryan business community. ...and when we end up with no pro-Aryan publications left and no Aryan business community to support our people, we'll swear at the Jews when we should be cursing ourselves for allowing our homeland to just slip between our fingers. There are so many pro-Jewish and anti-White publications, television stations, radio stations, etc. Why are Jews so powerful? They are smart enough to know that: a people who supports their own kind and their own causes are helping to create their own wealth and a future for their own children. On the other hand, Aryans have not got to this point yet. If we don't get there soon, we will die. Every dollar we own is a weapon, we need to learn how to use our weapons well. We need to learn to stop funding our enemies, and start funding our friends.

Question (2). There was a video put out by George Straight or Karl Straight featuring you in a Pagan Wedding. I'd like to know how a Teutonic or Germanic Pagan Wedding is done

Answer (2). George Strait is a country singer.

Karl Straight was one of the very few Christian Identity people I'd die for. I thought the world of Karl.

Jesus Christ gave Karl Straight a drinking problem. Karl came from a strict fundamentalist Christ cult family. The Christian cult teaches a universal brotherhood of all mankind. Karl grew up in this evil, anti-White, all men are brothers and all women are whores cult of Christ. He was taught "God is love". Jesus, on the mountain top, told a crowd of his male followers that they must try to love all men, whereas his 12 disciples began chanting: "You go, girl!" Karl grew up in Christ's loving arms.

One day Karl Straight became a racist. The Ideal Aryan is the anti-Christ. The anti-Christ is the Ideal Aryan. Jesus Christ is the anti-Aryan. Jesus Christ is the Ideal Jewish Reformist. Jesus left the Jewish world alone and came to the goyim world to fuck with Aryan traditions. A typical Jew. The Jews believe that they have a "God given right" to mold us into what ever shape they see fit. To be a racist, no matter what color you are, is to be anti-Christian. This was Karl Straight's personal demon.

Karl wanted to love the White race, but he, also, wanted to be a Christian. In his heart, he knew that to be both was impossible. An Aryan Christian is an oxymoron. The phrase Racist Christian is as insane as saying frozen fire or flaming ice. It is un-natural.

Ben Klassen said that Christianity is the L.S.D. of the White race.

This is true. However Christianity is, also, like heroin. A White person on Christianity is more addicted to Israel than a junkie is addicted to heroin.

Karl needed his Christ fix. He couldn't go cold turkey.

So he went to Aryan Nations to get enough of the Jew drug to keep him from getting the bends. An Aryan Christian is like a junkie who cuts heroin with white sugar. Since his dope is cut 50% with sugar and only half heroin, now when he sticks the needle in his arm, he can fool himself into believing it isn't heroin any more.

He's not a junkie anymore; he just need's his sugar rush. Aryan Nations and the whole Christian Identity movement is like our sugar shooting junkie. The Identity people believe that since they have mixed a little White racism into the universalist teaches of the Rabbi Jesus Christ that Israel is no longer in the middle east, but has moved up somewhere North of Denmark. By falsely claiming that the Jewish Reformist Jesus was really Nordic this makes it okay for Aryans to warp themselves up with a Semitic worldview. If you shoot heroin cut with sugar are you not still a heroin user? If you practice a Jewish religion cut with a little Aryan racism are you still not a Jew? Aryan Nations: where we cut our Hebrewism with a little White sugar.

Karl Straight lived the lie of the Aryan Christ. He, like all "White" Christians, knew it was bullshit. He, like ALL lost Identity Christians, kept the Nordic Christ lie alive, because he was afraid to go cold turkey.

Have you ever seen a dope fiend quit cold turkey. It's not a pretty sight.

Karl Straight needed his daily fix of bible quotes.

Karl would go up to Aryan Nations and get a belly full of lies, then come home to California and go to church with his parents and hear the true teachings of Christianity. Karl hopelessly searched the bible for even a sentence which could be twisted into appearing pro-White. There was nothing. He so wanted Jesus to be an Aryan, but Karl knew the truth.

Karl Straight was killing himself slowly....with booze.

He drank a 5th of vodka a day. His doctor use to tell Karl that if he didn't stop drinking it would kill him. One day, his doctor told Karl that it didn't matter any more whether he stopped drinking because his liver was so damaged that it was too late. Karl tried to stop drinking, but 24 hours into his cold turkey he started to cough up blood and had grand mal convulsions. So he went back to the vodka and the Aryan Christ Myth. He was really looking like shit. His skin and the whites of his eyes were starting to turn yellow. His memory was shot to Hel. He had the shakes bad. And one day, about six or seven years ago, Karl Straight just disappeared from the face of the Earth. No one has heard a word from Karl since, not friends, family, nor comrades. He made the video of my wedding. I don't even have a copy. The video copies all disappeared with Karl.

Is Karl alive or dead? I don't know. I assume he is dead. But in this movement people disappear all the time, so it is hard to say. I got involved in the movement in Feb. of 1978, since then I've seen armies come and go. Few people stay in the movement more than a few years. However, with Karl, his disappearance was so total, it's hard to believe something isn't up.

The wedding ritual was part Asatru, part Celtic, we used Celtic animal spirit masks, part Order of the Golden Fleece, we used a knightly Middle Ages parade of our coats of arms, part Satanist, the woman I married was a member of the Church of Satan, this is why we were dressed in black for Satan and not red for Thor, part COTC, and partly written by Tom Metzger.

So it wasn't an old time Viking wedding. There is no clear 100% true picture of an Odinic wedding. Only fragments.

If you want an strictly Asatru wedding rite, read Our Troth which is an Asatru ritual book put out by the Ring of Troth.

Question (3). Are the angels of Christianity really Gods.

Answer (3). Yes. Some angels are totally Pagan Gods. Saint Brigit comes to mind. Brigit was a Celtic Goddess. When the Christians came to Ireland, they knew she was too popular to attack, so they put the word Saint before her name. Instantly Saint Brigit was born. Other Saints are fronts for Gods. It's been pointed out the Saint Michael is really Odin. Guido Von List wrote a book about Saints as Gods, Both the Thule Society and the Von List Society did detailed study on this subject. I don't know where to get this material. I've only read about it in books written by people who mostly never read the original works. I don't know any modern work which has everything in one place, although many sources talk about a Saint here and a Saint there.

Question (4). Are these saints really the Gods, and if one were to find secret prayers for them would they work as well if one were to call them by their original Teutonic or Greek or Roman names?

Answer (4). Prayers are like phone numbers to the Gods. Tim, if your phone number was 555-5555 and I gave your number to a comrade and told him to call this number because it belongs not to Tim, but an a Pagan named Jack. If a person was to call your number, he would get you, but if he said: "Is Jack home", since your name is Tim. You would say something like "No one by the name of Jack lives here. You have the wrong number." Then hang up the phone. Prayers to the Gods work, but if you want an answer. Use the right name.

Question (5). The concept of "wings" on these angels, is this a Christian manifestation, or is it stolen from us, or are angels Christian forms of the Valkyries or just plain Gods like Tyr/Mars as Archangel Chamael or the God Thor/Zeus/Jupiter as the angel Zadkiel?

Answer (5). There has been some debate on this question. I think the wings on angels may be merely artist misconception or devices to show that their subject is not a human, but an angel. Instead of putting the word angel above the subject they gave them wings, so when people looked at a painting of an angel they could see the wings and say, "Oh, here we have a painting of an angel".

The same is true with wings on Valkyries' helmets and horns on Viking helmets. Many Viking helmets have been found, none with horns nor wings. Artist put horns on Viking and wings on Valkyrie helmets so the viewer could say: "Oh here is a painting of a Viking, see his horns, and by judging form the winged helmet, that woman must be a Valkyrie." Wyatt

Heilsa Kaldenberg:

I'm nearly at a loss for words. A friend gave me a copy of your magazine. Most of your thoughts are the same as mine. You're right! Christianity is a colored religion set in the middle east. All the heroes of the bible are middle eastern camel jockeys. Yet the system always portrays them as Nordic people. Why? In order to con our people into believing all those Jewish lies. How many White people would stick with Christianity if the heroes of the bible were all shown as sand niggers? No self respecting redneck would drop to his knees and beg an Arab for forgiven. This is why they have Jesus being blond hair and blue eyes. The only White people in the bible are the bad guys: the "evil" Romans, the "evil" Greeks, the "evil" Mesopotamians, the "evil" Assyrians, the "evil" Hittites, and so on.

What kind of self-hating White person would wrap himself up in a religion which hates his own race? Speaking of the Christian Identity movement. What's the difference between an Aryan Nations member and a North European Jew? At least a North European Jew has some Aryan blood in his veins. What's the difference between a Christian Identity baby and a pizza? A pizza won't cry when you shove it in an oven. What do you call a Ku Klux Klansman nailed to a cross? A kike on a stick. What's the difference between a Christian Nazi and a Zionist? Zionists are proud of their Jewish ancestry. What's the difference between an American Nazi Party member and your average fagot? Your average fagot doesn't have a sexual need to dress up in a Nazi uniform.

14/88 Todd, Portland, Maine

Greetings:

I was looking at a newsletter a few months ago at a White Sister's house which was called Pagan Revival #35 put out by the Thule Society. The front cover had a picture drawing of the Green Man and the feature article was called The Return of the Green Man by Wyatt Kaldenberg. If I am writing the right address, I want to get a subscription to your newsletter. I want to become a member. I don't have any money right now, but as soon as I can send you a few bucks I will. I am looking forward to seeing the next issue of Pagan Revival newsletter. Keep it real brother! 14 Words!

J.P. Gill, New Hampshire

Dear Gill:

Pagan Revival #35? Really? I thought the hard copy only went up to like #29, went to an e-zine at issue #30, then back to hard copy on issue #40. I move endlessly with my job, so I try not to keep too much stuff. I try to get rid of the hard copies of Pagan Revival as soon as I can, so I don't have all this stuff to haul around. I own too much junk as it is.

I stopped writing for the WAR newspaper in the early '90s, around 1992 or so. I gave Tom copies of the Pagan Revival zine and many of the main articles ended up in the WAR newspaper. The William Wallace piece, the Return of the Green Man, A Pagan View of the Holocaust, etc. all appeared in P.R. first.

I remember the Return of the Green Man issue, I just thought it was number 20 something.

It's been around eight years since I wrote regularly for the WAR paper.

You're the first person to even mention joining. Aryans aren't an active lot. At least not this generation. If you're serious about becoming active and not just some clown out to collect "membership cards", I have four basic projects in mind.

... (1.) Re-uniting our people with their true spirituality and to combat Europhobia and xenophilia by teaching our people how to love themselves.

How do we do this? "In the beginning, there was the WORD." The first step in teaching people anything is words. All movements are based on words. The pen is mightier than the sword, or in our case the bomb. Words matter. The Jews know this. This is why the very day they got off the boat. They started making their moves on the communication industry: newspapers, music, movies, radio, television, magazines, if it communicated ideas the Jews wanted to control it. Why? Words matter. Words create ideas; ideas create action; action creates power; power is freedom. So naturally our first step must be the WORD.

The Word is Pagan Revival. So the first step is to build the magazine and get it out to the general public. Get it on newsstands. In book stores, etc. This means activism. And if we want activism, we have to recruit outside of the bowel movement. For 90% of the scum in the movement are drunken losers who think alcoholism is activism.

... (2.) Building an economic base for the Odinic community through the encouragement of Odinic run businesses and urging Odinists to invest in the stocks of legitimate, mainstream companies...

The first step in this project would be to get Pagan people to open up I.R.A.s, Roth I.R.A.s, etc. so the community can have some security

... (3.) Creating public outreach programs...

This won't happen until after we do steps 1. and 2.

How can we help others when we don't have our own act together? I was thinking of modeling the outreach programs after those of the Black Panther Party programs of the '60s, but that needs activism and all the bowel movement can offer is alcoholism.

... (4.) Assisting White couples in having large Odinic families and to enlighten White children in the art of rejecting the self-hate which democracy casts on our people. ETC.

This, too, requires Steps 1. And 2, before you can reach this point.

First, comes the Word, second comes getting our shit together as individuals, before we can get the White race's shit together. How can we even start getting the White race's house in order if the average White racist doesn't even have his or her life in order? This is one thing that has always bugged me about the movement. All these people with fucked up personal lives, thinking if they go to a race meeting and applaud really loud when some nut gives a wild speech or screams "White power" at an Oi concert will magically cause the White race to get its shit together.

First comes the Ideal, then the Idealist has to get his or her act together (money-wise, family-wise, etc), then he or she can go out and conquer the world.

How can screw-ups save the White race?

All the most active American leaders Rockwell, Duke, Fighting Joe T., Tom Metzger, etc. all the best always first got a trade or some sort economic base, then secondly got a wife and had kids, then they went out to save the White race. All the really bad Aryan leaders tried to save the White race, first, before saving themselves. Think of all the worst "leaders" in the movement. Aren't they all single guys with little or no money?

Before the New Paganism will grow, we as Aryan Pagans have to make ourselves strong.

A weak Aryan individual can't create a strong Aryan Folk.

Wyatt

To Whom It May Concern:

I am a skinhead. Please send me all the free literature you can.
Ripper, Fresno, CA

Dear Gut Ripper:

Why does mailing out free copies of Pagan Revival cost me money? I thought it was suppose to be free! Why are the printers, the supply stores, and the U.S. Post Office charging me money to give losers like you free copies?

I hate working and I have a fucking job. Why the fuck can't you get one? Are you a fucking retard? Get your shit together, then you can think about saving the White race.

The race movement is a total failure in America because it is full of people whose personal lives are in ruins, who never try to get their lives together, but fantasize about waking the sleeping White race. Once the White race wakes up, the thinking goes, then the individual racist will magically get it together.

This thinking is bullshit. Ripper, you are totally worthless to White survival, because you're personal life is so fucked up you can't even afford a few bucks for a copy of a magazine.

You are worthless and a drain on the revolution.

If a wet back can come to America and not know a word of English, then within three weeks of being here land a job in construction making $15 an hour. Why can't White guys who lived here all their lives find a job? Oh, it's the Jews to blame! The Jews....The Jews...The Jews. Bullshit! It's you!

The American economy is booming. High paying companies are begging for people. This is the fastest growing economy in the history of mankind. If you can't get a job today when things are good, how on earth could you survive in a depression? How can we save the White race with a movement full of people who can't even support themselves?

At what point did the White male become such a fuck up?

Ripper, from your address, I can tell your not in jail. Why have you no money? If you can't work for money, why would you want to join Pagan Revival where you'd be expected to work for free

Before World War I, the German Mark was about equal in value to an American dollar. During the 1920s, the Mark had dropped in value so greatly that it took nearly one million German Marks to equal an American dollar. Talk about a depression. Hitler built the real Nazi Party during this time when no one had money. How did Hitler fund the Party? He had Party members stand on street corners, holding posters which said things like "Help us save Germany" and they asked the German people for money. And by the Gods it worked! We live in a time when money is every where. Money is so easy to come by in America that most people won't even bother to bend over to pick up coins they dropped in the dirt. If the movement had a core of activists, then the movement would be rolling in money, no one in the movement gives a fuck about anything so the race movement is broke and going no where.

N. S. took power in Germany because Hitler expected greatness from his supporters, and Hitler got greatness. The movement, today, expects nothing from our supporters and we get nothing from them. Everyone expects the movement to create itself, as if the movement is a living being. Being a Nazi in German was a full time job, being in the movement today means you're a bump on a log. A tick sucking dry a leader. A drunk waiting for the next keg party. The whole meet, eat, and retreat syndrome. Hell, the movement doesn't even expect people to pay for their subscriptions any more. We get from people what we demanded. We demand nothing we get nothing. This is why the movement is nothing.

You live in Fresno. I know the city well. Farm jobs are a dime a dozen. If a Mexican can get a job working on a farm, why can't you?

I have never enjoyed work. I'm basically a lazy person. I hate working, but I worked in the Central Valley on a farm picking potatoes. They had us wear these big leather belts with hooks on them where we attached these giant sacks that held a hundred pounds of potatoes. We bent over to pick up the potatoes. The bags dug between our legs. We scooped up handfuls of potatoes and tossed them into the sacks, until they were full of 100 pounds of potatoes. They paid us 20 cents for 100 pounds of spuds. A dollar for 500 pounds. It was in the late summer and 100 degrees in the middle of a dusty farm field. We worked from sun up to sun down. The Mexicans worked circles around me. I only made $16 a day, but I picked, on the average, eight thousand pounds of potatoes a day. That's picking up off the ground, one by one, four tons of spuds a day.

It took me years before I could even look at a potato in the super market without getting a pain in my back. It's one of the hardest jobs I ever had, but I, at least, had money. I could pay for my own way. I never wrote pro-White organizations and asked them free literature. I had self-pride. I was never a bitch like you, expecting another man to pull his load. Wyatt

Dear Wyatt:

A fellow imprisoned comrade lent me an issue of Pagan Revival # 41. Amazing! I still can't put it down. I've read some parts two and three times, even the letters and e-mail sections kicked ass. I, myself, would like to write some articles in exchange for an issue here and there (like you said "In a meritocracy, there is no free lunch.") ...I don't have a typewriter... {Editor's Note: no problem. You have good printing, the type writer rule is for people with hard to read printing. Everyone's handwriting is hard to read. I won't try to translate people's handwriting, but some printing is okay.}... although I'm not an expert on Paganism my fellow imprisoned comrades are teachings me more. Writing my own stuff from the things I read will help me improve in two ways: (1) it will better my knowledge, just like taking notes and writing essays in school, the knowledge sinks in when you write it down. (2.) it improves my creative writing skills.

Now, I know a lot of people that love to criticize other people's writing yet never get off their lazy asses, pick up a fucking pen and try to write something worthwhile. And if I happen to write something shitty, oh, well, at least I got off my ass and tried, right? Like the old saying goes: "It's better to regret something you have done, than regret something you haven't done." I hope you can make exceptions in cases such as mine. If not, that's cool, I completely understand. I just wanted to tell you that I love the 'zine. Keep up the good work and never surrender!

Racist Regards, Merle Timothy Morris, #K24748, CSP Corcoran Shu 4-A 2R 58, P.O. Box 3476, Corcoran, CA 93212-3476

Dear Brother:

Write anything you wish. Printing clearly is fine. Aryan Paganism is the religion of our people's soul. All White people were born experts on Aryan Paganism. Every baby is a little Heathen, then our parents, the television, public schools, the Churches, the government, and society in general turns us against our true selves. "Share your toys with the other children.", "Children, stop that fighting.", "Don't go outside naked!", "If I ever catch you playing naughty with a girl again I'll beat the fear of God into you." On and on. All this fucking bullshit that this middle eastern culture has dumped on us all our lives has buried who we really are. It has caged the greatness within us all.

The New Paganism is not a dogma. It is a rediscovery of our true nature. The New Paganism is the reuniting of the Folk with the Aryan Ideal. The New Paganism is about you, and who is more of an expert about you than you?

There are three types of Aryan Paganism. (1). The Aryan Paganism of yesterday. (2). The Aryan Paganism of today, and (3). The Aryan Paganism of tomorrow.

We read to try to understand the past. We open our eyes to understand the present. We think to visualize the future.

Some people know much about the past. Others have a keen eye for BEING HERE NOW. Still others see clearly into the future.

All three types of people are important. It is easier for most people to live in the past or the future. To REALLY Be Here Now sounds a lot easier than it is. The average person thinks of tomorrow and what just past. According to Ram Dass, the truly enlightened one has mastered the art of being here now.

If you feel you don't know enough about the past, look into the future. If you have no eye for the future. Be Here Now! Pop culture is just as interesting as history, more so to some people.

You are an expert on Paganism. You just have not found the time period in which your Pagan expertise lives. There are millions of roads which lead to Aryan Paganism. I believe my road is right, but this is just my opinion.

Every book you read, every movie you see, every product you buy, every experience you have can and should be viewed through your Aryan Pagan eyes. All things relate to Aryan Paganism. Aryan Paganism is the soul of the Folk, and everything relates to our Folk. An article about men learning to change babies' poopy diapers could be written in a Pagan family section, how to get a loan to buy a farm could be written in a Pagan business section. I'm thinking of writing a piece on the difference between traditional IRAs and Roth IRAs. You are an Aryan Pagan in prison, you are an expert on this subject. There's a lot of articles that can be written on that subject. Many people are going to jail for the first time. Fear of the unknown is man's most common fear. Write a piece about what to expect when you do time in order to take the fear out of their stay. Actually, this would be a subject for a whole issue. A lot of people rat out because of the fear they have of jail, maybe if you can ease their fear you can prevent some people from being finks. Jail's not as bad as many people fear. It's surely not bad enough to turn into a rat over. Jail is just another reality. There are good things about prison. Don Black became a computer whiz from classes he took in prison. The A.D.L. really gets pissed over that. They bring it up a lot when they bitch about his web site Storm Front. This always makes me happy. Wyatt

Dear Comrade:

Greetings and wassil, I got your address from THE SCAPE-GOAT zine. Could you possibly send me a copy Pagan Revival. I already have issue #41, any back issues left? There are a few Pagans here, but all are the touchy feely nigger lover types. I am very much alone, so I am looking forward to hearing from you.

Wotan Mitt Uns, Thomas, Ireland

Brother Thomas:

Where did you find Pagan Revival. I have a friend who said he could put Pagan Revival on some magazine stands in Ireland. I've got letters from three people in Ireland who I don't recall sending PR to who told me they had copies of my zine. I guess he got it on a few stands there. He's with the Church of Satan. No American racist could nor would even try to do something like that. The bowel movement is a gay party scene, not a depressing old work scene. Activism is too butch for most American racials. Hopefully, now that the Gay '90s are slipping away, the new millennia will bring a close to the endless party and Aryans will develop some type of work ethic, but I doubt it.

There are few racial Pagans in Ireland, because no one has desired to create them. We can take back our homeland if we are willing to work for it. However, if we continue to be nothing more than an excuse for sexually dysfunctional White guys to hang out and party, then we are an extinct race. It's that simple.

The American movement's main slogan is: "ACTIVISM: It's just too much dare work!"

If you want more Aryan Pagans in old Eire, you have to make them. They won't just magically appear. In the beginning, there was the word. All great movements have begun with words. Words matter. This is why the hate criminals of the iron heel are endlessly trying to crush our words. Approach newsstands and try to get them to carry Pagan Revival magazine. Go to occult shops. Especially Satanic shops. Black witches have more balls than White witches. (Or should I say clitoris.) Go to heavy metal record stores. Words can change the world. The hate criminals in the anti-White cults know this. They are always preaching the importance of spreading their words and banning politically incorrect words. Words matter, and our enemies know it. In the bowel movement beer matters. Food matters. Kicking back matters. Only hanging out with other do nothings matter. The bowel movement has turned inactivity into an art form. There is great security at the bottom, because there is no place left to fall. Most American racials want the race movement to fail.

This is why they are so lazy and worthless. If they wanted it to be a success, they would work more. The thing the average White racist loves about the bowel movement is that it is at the bottom of society.

No matter how much you fuck up in the bowel movement, it's cool, because you're at rock bottom. Nothing you can do will make matters worse. This is why so many losers flock to the race movement. The bowel movement is so full of lazy sub-human shit that even a unemployed drunk can join the fucking movement and look like an Aryan super man compared to 90% of the turds in the so called race movement. If a White loser is tired of being a nothing at his dead end job, he can just open up a P.O. Box and, magically, he's the leader of say the head of entire Washington state operations of the Klan or C.O.T.C. or the National Alliance or the Nazis or Aryan Nations or whatever fantasy role playing game he desires to join. Just open up a mail box and that's all it takes. You don't need any followers. Now you're some body. You're not a loser anymore, you're a racist leader. If you do find a couple of other kooks, take them to a pizzeria and buy them a pizza and a round of beer and now you're one of the top leaders in America. Or for our more reactionary cults, rent a hall, have the clowns dress up in monkey suits and then get cranks to lecture to the lard asses. Then afterwards, they can all socialize. This is a the normal race meeting. Entertain the losers, then let the losers socialize with each other. The whole meet, eat, and retreat meeting concept is the center of the so called movement. The whole time I was in the left I never heard of any group having a meet, eat, and retreat type of meeting. Unlike the race movement, the left was not about socializing, but ACTIVISM. People join the Aryan movement because they are bored and wish to find some where they can hang out and meet people, as opposed to people who join the left who wish to work to help change the world. Every left meeting I went to was a distribution of labor. A spring board for work. An organizing point for assignments. To the race movement, the meeting is the main activity, to the left the meeting is an organizer of activity. This is why the anti-White people are so strong, and the pro-White people are at death's door. The race movement is partying itself to death. Work Makes Free!

Aryan Paganism can become strong in Ireland if you are willing to work for it. Otherwise Ireland will just become a Mud Island. The enemy have the upper hand, because they work like bees to build their mongrel hive. We party. The party ends, then that's the end of our activity. There are two sides to the world. The anti-White side and the pro-White side. The anti-White side are working their fingers to the bones to bring about their world vision. The pro-White side socializes with each other. Which side do you think will win? The side that works hard or the side that hardly works? The so called "movement" is our cause's greatest enemy.

Work Will Make Us Free, Wyatt

Dear Wyatt:

Mike M. wrote and said he sent you a copy of the history outline; enclosed is an updated version plus variations. Hope you will print

"The wicked have told me things which delight them, but these are not things your laws acknowlegde."

Saint Augustine, "Confessions"

one of these in Pagan Revival. Would you send me a sample of this zine? Give my best wishes to all our Odinist comrades.

Hail Odin! 88! Bob, Colorado

P.S. Do you have a web site?

Brother Bob:

I was going to run the history outline in this issue, but I yanked an article in #43 and used the outline to fill the hole. #43 is at the printers. I used the version Mike sent me. Was it you, Mike, or was it someone else who first wrote the outline? I like your additions to the outline. I liked the inclusion of National Socialism and The Lighting And The Sun. When I first read the outline, I thought Savitri Devi should be added to the Vedism section and, also, a piece on modern Nationalism, which you added. I feel Julian should be put under Mithraism. He wrote many books, some even survived to this day. He started the first pagan revival by trying to drive the imperialistic Christian tyrants out of Rome. He organized armies and fought the Christian cocksuckers on the battle field. He rebuilt Pagan temples, replanted holy groves, and restored other scared sites the Christ pukers molested. He was the first writer to openly attack Christianity as a Jewish plot to crush the Roman Empire. He even named names of Jews and other outsiders who held high positions in the early Christian Church. Julian did this 1,700 years before Klassen. He became Emperor of the newly Christened Roman Empire and returned Paganism back to the Folk. He reintroduced religious freedom to Rome, even to the Pukes. The evil Christ Pukes, being the wicked slime they are, took full advantage of the Pagan concept of freedom, and the Christ demons murdered Julian, one of the greatest men the White race ever produced. The child molesting serpents re-infected the Roman Empire with the cancer of the Christ cult. And, today, Christianity has poisoned the soul of White people so much that our race is on it's death bed. Today, the White race needs a leader who is a cross between Julian, Vlad the Impaler, and Herr Hitler. We need an iron gardener to rip these unsightly weeds from our garden, as Boyd Rice would say. Someone who has the balls to go after the Christians, the Muslims, and the Jews with a fury never seen before on Earth. But this leader won't come until we first build the foundation of the New Paganism. Build it and he will come. However, the so called movement is not fit to receive a great leader. The only thing the bowel movement has earned is a good ass whipping.

Also, there needs to be a section on Satanism. I was thinking of a separate column, but it is nice to have the outline on a single sheet of paper. If Odinism is taken as, also, meaning a catch word for all Native European religions, then Satanism would fit underneath the title of Odinism, since Satanism developed as a protest against Christian occupation of our European motherland.

The Hell Fire Club of the 1700s and the American Church of Satan have contributed to the evolution of the New Paganism. Even uncle Charlie and the Family wrote a chapter in our history.

Work Makes Free, Wyatt

Heilsa Wyatt,

Got the issue of #42, great stuff in it. I offended many christians identity type people showing them excerpts from it! I am enclosing a review/commentary on the Parameters journal which is put out by the Army war college. I don't know if you can use it but it is a great mag if one wants to know what the top dogs in the military are thinking. It has an internet address too. Also here is a web-site for the Ohio prison system. On it there is a picture of the prisoner and what he is in for. <http://www.drc.ohio.gov> with this you can access stuff....I must extend to you an apology, in my last letter I said that I would do an article on Starkad the Old. I have not finished it yet. I did a rough draft and something seemed to be missing so I am currently trying to track down some other references on the legend to spur my memory on what I had left out. When it is done I will send it. I was wondering about your idea of an Odinic meritocracy. Have you ever done a booklet or pamphlet on it? In any society the people who give the most to the society should be honored and given more rights than those that do nothing for it. Rank and privilege should go to those who earn them. I know that in the olden days the concept of rights differed from those we have now. Then there were no universal rights. One was entitled to certain rights by virtue of his social standing and what he did in the community. One had to stand up in order to acquire them. If you did not take and fight for your right it was not given you. If some one wounded a member of your kin group or killed them you had the right to bring them before the law Thing and make a case for compensation. If you did not put the effort into obtaining your right you did not get it; nor would you deserve them. Today I notice both in here and on the streets that many whites are crying over their lost rights and privileges. They claim that they have been fucked over by the system that is now giving their rights to blacks, Mexicans etc. However, these same people will not make the least effort to stand up for and secure these rights for themselves. In this prison whenever there is a fight between black gangs, or there is dope floating around the prison officials here will snatch up a bunch of whites and shake them down or throw them in the hole for gang activities. While I see no logic in throwing whites in the hole when blacks fight among themselves, it is just a thing that prisons do. Anyway after these sweeps, you can walk around the rec yard and hear all kinds of crying, they shook down 15 honkies and not a single nigger, its not right! wah, wah, wah. But other wise they do nothing. In prison here they have a grievance system. It is not any good really but it is there. It is the first step to filing a suit extra. Most White guys won't even take the first step: file a complaint. The fact is that if every white in the system filed race based complaints the system would notice, it is a small tool but a weapon none the least. One christian nazi I know who was being shaken down by the police was complaining about his persecutions. I suggested he file a complaint. He stated he did not believe in them. Of course he has also stated that he was a identity christian nazi and he did not believe in science, or eugenics, or even genetics as real nazis didn't believe in such things. Anyway, my point being is if one does not stand up and contribute in little ways they will not contribute in big ways. My thoughts wandered there but in a meritocracy one would have to have merit, to engender actions to be of worth. I believe that now, the majority of whites are thralls, they are not even Karls: In the old days a peasant would fight when you pressed him but now days it seems not even that is possible with the people in the U. S. It seems that the White race even those who claim to be Aryan have forgotten what the term Aryan means. If one is an Aryan one is expected to do what's right. To be an Aryan is to be a noble of good family. To be noble means one must do the right thing even when it is hard. Nobles fight and lead by example. It is only the degenerate that lead from the rear. I have noticed on smaller scales, that when one stands up to something when they do what is right, it will encourage others to do so and things become better. But when one lets things slide things become worse and worse as leaderless sheeple bleat after whoever wants to call the shots. Oh, yes, I have gotten a book entitled "The World and the Raven" by a woman named Paxton. It is retelling of the Sigrid and Brunhilda story, their young years, I will in the next week or two send you a review of it. I also have just gotten a new translation of the Epic of Gilgamesh a 2700 BC Sumerian poem. It was not what I thought it would be but I will do something with it as well. The Sumerians were NOT the same people as the Semitic people in modern Iraq....I think that (subscriptions) is a good idea, and a fair price for a sub. This way some of the printing costs can be recouped and the magazine will flourish. You have to feed your herds if you want them to grow. Well got to go. Stay Strong. Hail Odin! Allen Semenchuk, #A156-157, Box 788, Mansfield, OH 44901

PS As usual if you wish you may print my name, address etc.

Brother Allen:

Fuck the christians! The fact that christians are allowed to live on our land is offensive to me. The only hope the White race has of surviving is to free its mind from the middle eastern cults of Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. The reason our people are so fucked up is our Aryan racial memories are in conflict with this middle eastern culture which occupies the West. We must purge the middle east out of Western culture. Christian identity is trying to reverse the efforts to re-Aryanizing our people by re-infecting White people with the Christ disease. The A.D.L. is attacking us from the outside. Christian identity is like the Trojan Horse, which tricked its way inside the walls of Troy and attacked the city's line of defense from within. Who is the greater enemy; the Jews on the outside or the christians within our walls? If the enemy within your walls weren't the most deadly, would the Greeks have build the Trojan Horse? The so called christian right is the Trojan Horse for the Hebrewization of the White race. Just because christians say they are on our side doesn't mean they are. It's better to have a thousand enemies out side the walls, than one on the inside.

Christian identity freaks crack me up with their whole Aryans are the "true" Jews and any one who questions that Aryans are the real Jews must be a god damn Jew sent by the Jews to rob the Aryans of their true Hebrew identity!

Back on racial memory, spiders don't go to school to learn how to weave webs. The knowledge is past down from their ancestors through their DNA. The Aryan Gods live in the DNA of all pure Aryans. The best way to tell if some one is racially pure is to see whether or not they are drawn to the living Gods. Pure people will be; impure people won't be. From the period of 300 CE to 800 CE, more than five million Jews moved to Europe and converted to Christianity. They all inter-married with Aryans who were christians. If they only had three kids each, and each kid had just three kids, then they, today, would have several hundred million off spring. These Jews weren't the blond Jews of Northern Europe, who have many ancestors who were Aryan Pagans that converted to Judaism as a protest against the forced conversion of Christianity.

These Jews were the dark skin Jews of the Bible. They were real Jews. They intermarried with Aryans. Their off spring walk among us and pass themselves off as true Aryans. Christian identity is full of these people. When I went to Aryan Nations, I couldn't help notice how un-Aryan most of the identity people look. Just as pure people are attracted to the Gods of our Aryan homeland; impure people are attracted to Israel. This is due to their DNA. Once, I was talking to a true Jew Christian, and he was telling me all about his Hebrew roots. Boring the living shit out of me with Bible quotes. So my mind started to wonder. Then suddenly, I noticed how olive his skin was. Funny, he claimed to be Anglo-Saxon, and I've lived all my life with Anglo-Saxon people, however, I've never noticed olive skinned English people. Then I noticed his high cheek bones and small beaded eyes, which reminded me of an American Indian more than an English man. Then his sloped forehead and coarse wire like hair. Very odd. Very odd in deed! I've read many books about racial types and couldn't for the life of me place this Christian preacher within any sub-division of the Aryan race. What could the answer be to this puzzling question. Then I refocused on the Jew Dick's words, he was explaining to me that he was a true Jew. Okay, that makes sense now, I thought. That's why this Puke looks so odd; he's a fucking Hebrew! We need a cultural revolution to purge reactionaries from the movement. Christian lost identity is a brand of Zionism which was created to infect Aryan people so they would help turn the West into the New Israel. Christian identity people should be sent back home to Israel. There is no greater sea than that which separates a Christian from a Pagan. We must practice Zero Tolerance on foreign cults! Just as they have been practicing Zero Tolerance on the True Aryan Way for over 5,000 years. Political and Religious Correctness is nothing new. P. C. is as old as the Jews. Abraham was enforcing Political and Religious Correctness when he smashed his first Pagan idol. Noah's Ark saved the Jewish people from Yahweh's ethnic cleansing of all people who were religiously incorrect in the eyes of the Jews. The middle eastern bible is full P.C. attacks on Aryan people. The Great Witch Hunt in Europe was a P.C. attack on everything Aryan. If people didn't know the Jewish Ten Commandments, they were found guilty of Witchcraft (AKA practicing native Aryan Folk ways) and were sacrificed to the Jew god YAHWEH and his gay Hebrew son, Jesus.

These human sacrifices to the Hebrew god were usually burnt alive, but sometimes they were hung, drowned, or some other form of human sacrifice. There are surviving records detailing 100s of 1,000s of Aryans, mostly White women, being sacrificed to the Hebrew god during the Witch trials. However, record keeping in the Christian inspired Dark Ages was poor, and the real number of Aryan people being sacrificed to the false god of the Jews could be in the millions. This attack on our people is nothing new; it is the oldest hate. The 5,000 year long hate crime. Christianity is part of the hate crime against Aryanism. We can't befriend people who are determined to de-Aryanize our Folk. Christianity teaches that all good Christians must spread the teachings of Israel to the four corners of the Earth. Christians are the ultimate missionaries of Jewizing the Earth. They are the ultimate Zionists. Christian Identity people are the most deadly Zionists, because they are the Trojan Horse which is working undercover in the anti-Jewish movement to turn anti-Jews into Jews.

On the tactics mag, I'm very interested in war games: both paper and computer. I was thinking of writing an article on war math and street fighting. All war can be reduced to mathematics. With math, you can find all possible actions your adversary will take and there possible outcomes. With war math, you can find the best actions to take. Where to place your men. How terrain will influence the outcome. When and why your men or your foe's will break. With war math, inferior forces have beaten their superior foes.

On Meritocracy, I have not written any book nor any real outline for a Meritocracy.

I have a lot of ideas on the subject in my head, but when things sound perfect in your head and you try to make them work in the real world, they never are as perfect. Everything is perfect in fantasy land. Nothing is perfect in the real world. The real test is to try to make things work. Utopian systems always fail or become murderous hell holes. This is why I am developing a Meritocracy. Systems which are build on idealism alone die because all idealism is fantasy not founded in the ugliness of reality. Reality is a dog eat dog world. Reality sucks. Fantasy is wonderful. There can never be "liberty and justice for all". All systems favor one group over the other. Even democracy is a dictatorship which favors the majority and oppresses the minority. As a minority group, we are all aware just how oppressive democracy is.

Democracy is the worst of all possible systems, because under democracy the majority believes everyone is free and can't understand the rage of the minority. We all have heard the puzzled majority saying things like. "Why are the blacks rioting? Why do they burn down their own community? Why do these right wingers hate the system so? Why would they blow up all those people? Why are there so many school shootings? What are they so angry about?" Democracy is the only system that believes itself just. Hence, it is the most blind and unjust system in history. What could be more unjust than a system which is ruled by oppressors who are totally unaware that they are oppressive? If a king is no good and screws the peons; the subordinates can rebel. The king knows why they are pissed off and he can be talked to by the rebels. The right wing always wants to reach the masses to fight the oppressors, but under democracy, the masses are the oppressors. Under democracy, you can't reform the system because the oppressors are the majority, and they believe the minority must always obey their righteous will. If a king is an asshole, at least, he knows he's an asshole. Under democracy, the masses are the problem, and they are totally unaware of how tyrannical they are. How do you reach an understanding with a bastard who lives under the illusion he is good? Under a monarchy, if the king is evil, all you need to do is kill the king to change the system. Under democracy, the masses are king, you'd have to kill the majority of the population to change things. This is, at least, how democracy works on paper. In reality, democracy is ruled by stupid sheep who are always being tricked by special interests. This is the dilemma of democracy.

All systems have their own fuckers and their own fucked people. We need a system which make us the fuckers, not the fucked. Christianity robbed our Folk of its homeland with a three-fold method. First, they used reason and propaganda to appeal to the idealists of our Folk. Second, they used gifts and bribery of gold and land grants to any tribal leader or king who would convert to Christianity. This appealed to the common greed and crookedness in many of our Folk. Third, they used violence, terror, torture and murder to appeal to both the cowards and sadists among our people. These three categories (1) The Idealists, (2) The Greedy, and (3) The Cowards/The Cruel include most of the human race.

Today, more people are self-center pigs and cowards, than are true idealists. One of the many problems with the race movement is much of our propaganda appeals to the selfless idealists. Who else but an idealist would sacrifice his self for the sake of the White race? Most Whites today are greedy pigs and chicken shits. Aryan idealism goes right over their heads. The White masses are so greedy that they will abort their own children so they can afford a new VCR. How can you make people who will murder their own children care about the future of something as abstract as impending generations of yet to be born White people? To sacrifice your own life for people yet to be born is the ultimate idealism. The Bob Mathews of the world are few and far in between, especially in these times. A Meritocracy can appeal to Folkish idealists with noble ideas just like all the other groups. However, the real appeal with a Meritocracy is it also entices the selfish pigs and pussies of our Folk. National Socialism is too noble to appeal to this generation of parsimonious White scum. The average White woman and man today is an avaricious trollop.

An Odinic Meritocracy would reward every Aryan Pagan with wealth, land, toys, housing, social standing, sex slaves, etc. Anyone who isn't an Aryan Pagan is just booty for those who are. This is how the christians took our homeland. Not only were non-christians not allowed to own property, but they became the property of christians (AKA serfdom). This system not only worked well for the Pukes, but it also worked absolutely. All the greedy people, the cowardly people and the cruel people converted to Christianity, while the idealistic people were split between the new cult of Christianity and Traditional Folkish Paganism. In other words, the christian form of Meritocracy known as feudalism sucked the life out of the Pagan resistance. Instead of fighting all the Pagan world on the battle field, the Pukes first separated the highly moral Pagans from the not so moral Pagans. The not so moral people converted to the Christ cult out of fear, greed or misplaced idealism. Only the highly moral Pagans were left to fight the Pukes, and moral people are very rare.

Christian Meritocracy did more to topple Paganism than all their wealth and weapons. Actually, Meritocracy is what made Christianity wealthy and well supplied with weapons.

The so called movement relies too much on idealistic day dreamers. The movement is so lazy because it is so idealistic. Few people can be true idealists. Most people are self-centered. They won't work and sacrifice to help others. They will only sacrifice for their own advancement. Why die for a cause that will never do a damn thing to benefit me is what most people feel. Utopian idealism isn't moving our people. We need a system that rewards the people who help build the New Paganism and that fucks up the cocksuckers who won't join us. {And when I talk about fucking up those who won't join us, the 90%ers in the bowel movement are the first cocksuckers we have to go after. Pol Pot believed that those who did nothing to help are just as guilty as those who opposed the revolution. I feel they are even more guilty! Are not the Whites who refuse to stand up for our people more guilty for the death of our people, than the anti-White system itself?}

Idealism is a dead end with most people. They don't give a shit about whether there will be Whites around 100 years from now. They only care about number one. Meritocracy is a powerful system because it appeals to people's greed by advancing number one and appealing to people's cowardice by fucking up people who are too lazy to even advance themselves. People are pigs. We hurt ourselves by treating them otherwise. To understand how the masses think is to control them. We must prevent the majority from oppressing us. The masses are worthless shit. If we treat them as our equals, we become worthless shit too. When superior people treat inferiors as equals, they become inferior. This is how Christianity, liberalism, and democracy turned our people into the world's most subordinate race. The desire to become great is what made the White race great, not the desire to be equal. The desire to be great will lift us above the inferior masses, while the desire to be equal will drag us down to their level. Who but an inferior person would desire equality? The superman lusts for greatness. The inferior man dreams of equality. This is the story of history. Great men wish to be greater, while the scum only wants equality. This is why the masses will never be great. There are over 40,000 people in the movement in the U.S. Almost none of them desire to be great. This is why the Aryan movement is at such a stand still in America. If we could teach the people we already have to DESIRE, to LUST for greatness, then the survival of the Folk would be won. America, then the entire West, would once again belong to us. However, in reality, almost no one in the race movement wishes to be great. The people in the race movement who are actually worth anything could all fit nicely in one Grey Hound bus.

Why waste time and money recruiting new people when we don't do anything with the people we already have?

About Whites not standing up for their rights, 10s of 1,000s of Whites will march in the streets for non-White people's right, for animal rights, even for the rights of inanimate objects like trees, rivers, lakes, mountains, rocks, but next to no Whites will stand up for their own rights, and even fewer Whites believe in the rights of future generations of our people. The rabbi Jesus Christ is the father of all of this. Christianity teaches that you should think of others and not your self. The problem is two fold: capitalism and its need to expand its markets in order to widen its profit base has pushed consumerism on the masses. From childhood, the boob tube tells us to buy, buy, buy, buy shit we don't need. This whole system is based on slaving 40 hours a week or more so you can buy shit you really don't need. Whites are having less babies because babies cost money and they need that money in order to buy water picks and electric car waxers and car phones that can surf the web. The system brainwashed the sheep into believing they need this crap; children cost too much, we'd like to have children some day, but right now we just can't afford to have any, and hey I need to save up my money to buy the new lawn mower with wireless e-mail capability.

Consumerism has made White people self-centered. The rabbi on a stick teaches them to think not of tomorrow and be charitable to outsiders. The sheep feel guilty about being so greedy. To help the White race is a hate criminal under democracy, so to ease their guilt, the White herd gives generously to everyone but their own kind. Now, thanks to the fagot Christ we have a whole generations of Whites fighting for the rights of our enemies. Whites are ashamed to sacrifice for their own kind. It's some bizarre shit we're in. I think this is the problem the race movement is having. People's minds are so fucked up with this system. Capitalism teaches people to think only of themselves; fuck the White race, while Christianity teaches people to think only of others; yet again, fuck the White race. So the modern White person is a greed pig who, occasionally, needs to relieve his guilt by helping anybody, everybody except his own kind.

To understand this concept is to understand why White people are so fucked up. This is one reason why White racialists are inactive. Society teaches them it's okay to be self-centered, it's okay to help people who are different from you, but it's hateful to help the White race. Loving the White race is a greater sin than having sex with horses, or dead cats, or children. Helping the White race is the ultimate sin against Christ, against consumerism, against equality, against democracy, against justice, against decency, against society, you name it. Under democracy, Whiteness is a sin against all that's "good". This is why even White "racialists" are ashamed to help the cause. Deep down inside, no matter how loud they may scream "White Power!" at a drunken beer party; they believe loving the White race is immoral, because this is what the system has been beating into their heads since birth. White racism is bad; helping non-Whites invade our homeland is good. Love thy Enemy! Resist Not Evil. A World without Borders. A Global Community. We Are The World! Feed The Children (as long as they are not White children!)

White racialists won't do anything thing to build the White community because they believe it is evil to do so. It's okay to talk about being pro-White. It's even okay to kill a fag or a black wino, because these things do nothing to build the White community, but to get up off their asses and help build the community that would be sinful. Years back, a newspaper reporter got hold of a mailing list of a race group, and he phoned every one on the list to interview them. Not one of these people stood up for the White race. Not one told the reporter to fuck off, not one hung up the damn phone. Every one denied that they were pro-White because loving the Folk would make them bad guys. They said they didn't know how they got on the mailing list or they were only on it to do research or some other lame excuse. Some were even crying and begging the reporter not to print their names in the newspaper. 100% of these cunts denied they were pro-White. If racialists won't even stand up for the White race, why should the sheep? Why is this? From birth, we were taught loving the White race is evil. A hate crime. A sin against god. White people are so fucked up that only a Maoist like cultural revolution can teach them to love their own kind. And most Whites are too far gone for even that. They are just slaves, waiting to be tossed into a coal mine...or a bog.

Most White racialists do nothing to help the cause, because they believe the cause is evil. This is why when ever racialists get jacked up for any thing no matter how petty most of them will roll over. They are ashamed of the cause. The majority of the so called movement has bought into the system's lies. If most White racialists believe the system lie that being pro-White is evil, then what hope is there for the masses? Homosexual magazines have letter sections where queers write articles and sign their letters with their real names. Why? Because they feel there is nothing wrong with being a queer. Even the North American Man-Boy Love Association puts out publications where "boy lovers" use their real names on articles and in letter sections, telling the world how beautiful little boys are. Why? Because they are not ashamed of liking little boys. Look at all the race publications where people refuse to use their real name. There is a zine out of Florida where all the White nationalists hide behind the first three numbers of their zip codes. Hell, they are too damn ashamed to even use the full five numbers of their zip code. Why? Because they believe being White is evil.

The Left are proud of their cause and when they get jacked up few ever roll. The bowl movement is ashamed of its cause, and the minute anything unpleasant happens; they're rolling over and begging Jesus for forgiveness.

Nothing the enemy can do will discourage me. In fact, the more vile and dirty they become, the more determined I'm to defeat them. The only thing that has ever knocked the wind out of my sails is the scumbags among us. Like I've said a billion times, the movement is the cause's greatest foe. White people are their own worst enemy. If we could just get rid of 90% of the people in the race movement, then White victory would be ours! Most White racialists aren't activists; they are just in the way of the 10% which truly matter. 90% of the movement are vampires sucking the activists dry. Every problem the White race has was either created by White people or permitted by Whites.

The first step on the road to saving the White is: (1). We must understand how truly screwed up most White people are. The second step on the road to saving the White is: (2). We must understand that the race movement is an inactive social clubs for people who don't really care about the White race; they just want to hang out and meet people and party, and that no party scene has ever changed the world. If we don't understand that the so called movement is not a real movement, then we will never be able to save our people. The third step on the road to saving our race is: (3). We must figure out how to turn these circle jerks we mistakenly call Aryan comrades into an army of hard work activists. After we understand how messed up our people are, the 64,000 dollar question is how do we get these self-hating Whites to care about the future of unborn White children. Once we figure out how to get these bums off their lard asses, then White victory will be a cake walk. White survival is easy. All we need to do is get White people to care enough to work for our future. We are in a struggle against our own hedonism and apathy. Non-Whites are a very small problem once we solve the greater problem of ourselves.

Thanks for purchasing the two year sub. Since you write for the magazine, you didn't need to pay me anything. I'll give you a life time sub. The sad thing is I get prisoners, who have no money, sending money and stamps, while grown men and women on the outside who have jobs, expect Pagan Revival to arrive at their door step for free. Many of the best people in the movement are behind bars. Sad, but true. This is one reason why I am re-think the whole violent revolution scenario. Violent Aryan revolution is draining the movement of its best people. Is it smart warfare to sacrifice our best comrades on suicide missions? Isn't any armed struggle against America a suicide mission? Do these suicide missions do anything to awaken the Folk? Do not these suicides just weaken the movement? There are a lot of things which need to be thought through. Wyatt

Greetings Herr Kaldenberg:

I have been enjoying your magazine Pagan Revival and your un-conservative, racist attitude. Your articles in WAR were always good too. I was surprised to see your review of de Sade. I haven't seen the movie you spoke of, nor read the books about him. However, I've read most of his writings and he stands alone in a ruthless, savage stance of anti-humanitarianism and anti-Christianity. There is no one to compare his writing with. A decadent pervert, elitist, supreme intellectual, whose writings on politics, morals, and the church are valuable. Plus, the added benefit of the most sadistic, perverted pornography I've ever read. I have an extra copy of this book which is one of his finest, especially "Philosophy in the Bedroom".

Sincerely, An Anonymous Sister

Dear Anonymous Sister:

Thanks for the book. I've heard "...Bedroom" was his best book. De Sade is "Might is Right" uncensored. De Sade: the Good, the Bad, and the VERY Ugly! Wyatt

Wyatt,

Racial Greetings from ZOG's dungeon! I'm a 22 year old skin head and am currently incarcerated for armed robbery and doing 6 to 19 years. I recently bought a copy P.R. from 88 Enterprises and I would like to get a sub starting with your most recent issue please. I've enclosed $20...For Power and the World, Bull...Mathew Austin #50073, IMSI J-B, P.O. Box 51, Boise, ID 83707

Mathew,

Thanks for getting a sub. Isn't $20 about what you make in a month? I'll give you several years of Pagan Revival.

The thing that gets me about the bowel movement is people in prison who have nothing can come up with money, but people on the outside can't. I have more people in prison who paid for a sub than who are on the outside.

This is why I'm changing my mind on the tactic of violent revolution. There are few people in the movement who are any good. The good people tend to be the ones who have the balls to use violence. Terrorism isn't hurting the system that much, but it is taking our best and bravest and chewing them up.

Terrorism may be the death of us.

6 to 19 years. Does that mean you're out in eight? This gives you a lot of time to get a free education at the prison. Some prisons have great classes, others not so great. What are the rules for starting a religious study group?

To Pagan Revival:

I'm writing you this letter in hopes that you may be able to provide me with information. I have a strong desire for truth and knowledge concerning the Gods of old. I call myself an Odinist, but need assistance in learning. Any information or resources you can provide would be accepted gratefully. My current address is in state prison, but we are still allowed to receive religious material through the mail....Azraal Ford, H47480, 3-11-205 low, 480 Alta Rd., San Diego, CA 92179

Dear Wyatt,

I just got issue #43. I loved it! I'm interested in ways of recruiting more people into the movement. You're been in radical movements longer than most people in the movement, what are your ideas on how we can bring new people in? Hail Wotan! C. J., CA

Dear C. J.:

The movement has about 40,000 people in it that are totally going to waste. They're here. They are in the know, but no one is using them. What good are unused recruits? I think it is a waste of our time, our energy, and our very limited resources to endlessly recruit new people that no one will ever use. The main activity of the movement is to bring in more new people and more new people and even more new people. Why? There is no program to turn the people we have into useful activists. Why do we need to spend more money on more recruits that will just go to waste? More is not always better. Sometimes more is too much. Too many people can get in the way. Rockwell is a good example. The movement was only a few hundred people in Rockwell's day, but in many ways it got more done. Why? Rockwell knew how to make use of people.

The movement is like a black smith who bought this huge wagon and everyday of his life he spends hauling his wagon to the iron mine and loading his wagon up with iron ore, then before it gets dark, he hauls the wagon back to his black smith shop and unloads the iron ore.

The black smith has been digging up ore and hauling it to his shop for so long that there is a giant unused hill of iron ore behind his shop, but he doesn't have the time to turn the ore into any tools or weapons. Why? Because he is stuck in the rut of collecting iron ore. He sees the mound of iron ore and he fantasizes about all the 100s of swords he can make out of the hill. He dreams of the day when he will have hauled in 100s of mounds worth of iron ore and pile them behind his shop. However, the black smith is so caught up into collecting more and more iron ore that he never makes one sword. The black smith's dream of getting rich off of selling swords is never a reality because he equates more iron ore with more swords. He doesn't realize that iron ore is just a building block and not an end in itself. Work makes swords, not iron ore. Iron ore is not a sword. Recruits must be activated to create work; work builds a movement. Recruits are not an end in themselves. Recruits are not the same thing as a movement. A movement is work.

The movement is like this. We recruit and recruit and recruit, but never bother to make any thing out of the people we recruit. The movement thinks more recruits means power, however, a recruit is just a building block to create power. If the black smith is too busy collecting more iron ore to create a sword, should he really be collecting more ore? If we aren't going to develop programs and activities for our new recruits to get involved in, do we really need more recruits? If the new recruits just hang out, do we really need them? If the black smith does not stop collecting iron ore, will not the mounds of iron ore get so big that they bury his shop? The movement is so big, and that no one is trying to create anything out of it, that it is just burying itself under its own weight... Wyatt

Dear Pagan Revival:

Of interest, the sci-fi TV show Stargate S.G. 1 had an episode where an alternative planet Earth had a history which took a separate path. This planet Earth didn't go through the Christian dark ages and was 1,300 years ahead of our Earth in scientific advancements. This goes along with Wyatt's statement a few issues back about if not for Christianity the Romans would today be colonizing Mars. From the middle of the 4th century, when Christianity first took power until the 17th century, when the Christian death grip began to loosen up, Christianity killed Aryan scientific progressive. It is mind boggling to image how far our race would be advanced today if not for the teachings of Christ. If not for Christianity, would the Aryan race have discovered a cure for death? If not for Christianity, would the Aryan race have not spread to 1,000s of planets and populated the universe with beautiful White faces? If not for Jesus, would we not have a pill to reverse aging by now? I look at my aging mother who is dying from cancer. and I realize if the Christians didn't invade Europe and burn our books and kill our wise men and women, that my dear mother would not be dying in pain today. If not for Christianity, she would be young again, cancer-free, and she could have lived forever. Do I hate Christians? My feels go far, far beyond hate...Hail Odin! M.D., TX

Wyatt,

I got your post card, thanks. I'll start on some book reviews and start illustrating....I'm reading The Aryan Race by Charles Morris right now, so I'll start my book review of that. I have a lot of good books to review for you. My racial love and respect, Hail Wotan and on to Valhalla! "Bam Bam" Douglas Rash K-14506, CSP4A-2R-39, Box 3476, Corcoran, CA93212-3476

Brother Bam Bam:

I love book reviews. The more book reviews the better. Just remember about drawings, the prison mail room will ban any magazine with draws showing sex, nudity, violence, racism, beer drinking, etc. I send many copies to jails. So I want Pagan Revival to get past the boys in the mailing room... Wyatt

Brother Wyatt.

Wow! Pagan Revival is even more hard-hitting, and entertaining (Your Jesus descriptives have me laughing out loud, even though I'm new to Paganism and don't consider myself anti-Christian - yet) and informative than I thought it would be.

Enclosed is $5 for another copy of Pagan Revival #43. I saw someone in my neighborhood with a "Born Again Pagan" bumper sticker and thought I'd place a copy on their window shield...

Tom, CA ... PS. I just broke out of Folsom prison, can I hang out at your house? Just kidding!!!

Brother Tom:

I sent you five copies of Pagan Revival since your handing it out and already have paid for a subscription to the magazine... Wyatt Greetings Wyatt!

I just want to...thank you for the new issue of Pagan Revival #43. This is a great publication which reflects my own personal views on the need for a militant, folkish, anti-Christian Paganism. Additionally, I very much enjoy your writing style and sense of humor. Interestingly, both of us come from a similar back ground. I, also, was raised in the Mormon cult. We were "Jack" Mormons, however, the main reason I attended Church was to qualify for the ward's basketball team. Anyway, my philosophical wanderings as a result of the 1960s led me to conclude that Christianity was a bunch of bullshit. I, initially, was influenced by Indo-Aryan traditions...Hinduism, etc. My racialism developed out of high school with my reading various National Socialist classics. After college, I drifted into some racial circles, but they were reactionary, then I discovered Odinism. Eventually, Paganism has come to have a profound effect on my thinking. My Paganism, like yours, has never been of the universalist, Wiccan variety, rather, my Paganism has all ways been tribal. This tribal awareness must be stirred up in our race if we are to survive. Towards that goal your publication is one of the very best I've come across.

My personal circumstances are very difficult at this time and preclude me from being real active. (I'm the primary care-giver to my ailing mother). However, I can help financially. I've enclosed a donation towards your work. I hope that I can help more in the future. I've written a few articles over the years on Odinism...My own initiation was into a Celtic order...I was even interviewed by the Nationalist Forum TV show (a Christian bunch) as a spokesman for Odinism. I held my own surrounded by a traditional Catholic, a Mormon, and an evangelical Baptist! In any case, I'll try to stay in touch as time permits. Keep up the good work...Best, Russ, CA

Brother Russ,

Thanks for the donation. This was the first donation Pagan Revival has gotten. All other moneys were purchases of subs, etc... Wyatt Greetings!

I got your info off another Asatru brother up here. Let me know if you have a periodicals pertaining to the Pagan life. Something like "Pagan Times" or "Today's Pagan". I'm strictly Asatru, so I'm not into anything that isn't Teutonic Paganism...Tausend Dank, Nathan A Lindell #303724, W. C. I., P.O. Box 351, Waupun, WI 53963-0351

The Prophet Julian And The First Pagan Revival

The Pukes claim that the Aryans couldn't wait to give us their native traditions for the new, Semitic cult of Christianity. In reality, Christianity came to our homeland, first like a Gangster tuff war take over, then, once they were in control of the leadership, they enforced a Pol Pot-Maoist cultural revolution, killing all who got in the way. This is the true history of Christianity in the West.

I first heard of Julian in the early 1980s from my extremely liberal sister-in-law. We never had anything we both agreed on, so we didn't talk much. She, being a liberal, was fairly anti-Christian. She knew I, too, was a Christ hater from way back. So, she turned me on to a copy of Gore Vidal's novel, Julian. I was blown away. I found a new hero.

Julian was the first White ruler to reject Christianity, because it was an alien creed and to promote Paganism through Racial Nationalism.

I was a member of the Los Angeles chapter of the Odinist Fellowship back when I discovered Gore Vidal's book. I loaned the novel to Else Christiansen, the Fellowship's founder, and other members of the group. Julian was a great hit!

The story of Flavius Claudius Julianus, or better known as Julian, (born 331 or 332 and murdered by Christians 363) is a chapter of Aryan Pagan history few know.

The Pagan Prophet Julian was nick named by Christians Julian The Apostate, because they saw him as an "apologist" for Paganism. He was the nephew of Constantine the Great (Christ Puke). Julian was a great thinker and warrior who was so loved by his fellow fighting men that they declared him emperor of Rome from 361-363 C.E. . An enemy of the evil cult of Christ, he publicly denounced the new state religion of the Rabbi Jesus and publicly announced his conversion to Aryan Paganism. Instantly causing all the faggot Christian's assholes to pucker up.

Constantine I, the Pukes misnamed this race traitor cocksucker as "The Great", because he compiled the modern day Christian bible, rejected the Christian books he didn't like, and killed all the Christians who disagreed with him, and was the first dictator to establish Christianity as the official cult of an Aryan nation. Praise be Israel!

Constantine I, also, banned Paganism and ordered Pagan temples and books burned and Pagan Priests and Priestesses killed. This cocksucker, also, killed any Pagan woman or child who got in his way.

Julian was a youngest son of Julius Constantius, the half brother of Constantine I (the White race's first Christian leader).. When Julian was five, his father's nephew, also called Constantius, taking the title 'Constantius II', became emperor of the Eastern Roman Empire, while Constantine II was the emperor of the West. Constantius II, in 340 CE, by the death of his brother Constantine II, became the sole emperor of a united Roman Empire. The Christian army commander, appointed by the newly founded Church, questioned the remaining royal family's devotion to Christianity and was determined to have none but Constantine I's bloodline as Rome's rulers. The commander murdered the latter's half brothers and other possible pro-Pagan candidates to the Roman throne. Constantine I's third son, Constantius II, had Julian's father, a pro-Pagan royal, killed in 337, and an elder brother of Julian was killed in 341. Julian's mother had died, or, perhaps, was murdered by Christians, soon after his birth. The boy was left an orphan and ward of the homosexual child molesters who run the Christian church. With his surviving half brother, Gallus, seven years his senior, he was brought up in the evil Semitic cult of the fag Christ, first by Eusebius, the queer Christian bishop of Nicomedia, who tried to brainwash the young royal heirs into the mental illnesses of Jewophilia, xenophilia, homophilia, and pedophilia. The Pukes wanted to keep the royal boys away from Aryan thought and focus them into Jewish bible studies.

The Pukes believed that to control the minds of leaders was the best way to control a nation.

By the patronage of the pro-Pagan wife of the Christ Puke Constantius II, Eusebia, at 19 years old, Julian was allowed to go aboard to Greece and study in classical Aryan thought.

Julian's freedom as a student opened his mind to the true nature of the Christ cult. He, secretly, became a Neoplatonist and joined the Aryan religion of Mithra, the Unconquered Sun.

When Julian was 23, the Emperor Constantius II, gave his sister Helena to Julian as a wife. The Emperor believed this would keep Julian inside the Puke church. Helena became a secret Priestess of Mithra.

The Emperor Constantius II grew fearful of young Julian and began questioning his devotion to Christ. The Evil Emperor appointed Julian a general and sent him to Gaul in hopes of getting him killed. His plan back fired. He defeated the two heathen tribes the Alemanni and the Franks, which were causing such a problem for Christian imperialistic goals to take over Gaul. Julian, the secret Pagan, was becoming a hero to Rome's Christian citizens. The Emperor Constantius II no longer trusted Julian and spied on him and kept his army short of money and supplies.

In the winter of 360, the Emperor, in hopes of weakening Julian, sent word to Gaul that Julian had to split his army into two and give the Emperor his best troops so he could station them in the East.

Julian's army rebelled against the throne and declared Julian the new Augustus. War broke out. The Emperor Constantius II got killed. Julian became Emperor. Violence creates history.

Julian's great love of Aryan culture can be found in his books, those which escaped the Christian flames. Julian had been baptized and raised as a Puke. He played along with their wickedness, until he took power. Julian saw Christianity as the alien cult that had murdered his father, his brother, and many of his family and friends.

It is a Christian misinterpretation of the ancient world which claims that Julian was alone in preferring Aryan Paganism to Jewish Christianity. The majority of Roman people were Aryan Pagans, especially, the educated class. In Roman times, Christianity was the religion of slaves, queers, and non-White immigrants, as is the case today.

One of the first things Julian did as the new Emperor of Rome was to reduce spending at the palace. This enabled him to lower taxes, which made him popular with the masses. He announced that he would rule Rome not as a politician, but as a philosopher in the noblest of classic Greek traditions.

Julian wrote an attack on Christianity, "The Trickery of the Galileans", that only survives in fragments.

Julian tried to rebuild the Jewish Temple in Jerusalem in hopes that a rebuilt temple would encourage Jews to leave Rome and return home to Israel.

The plan was dropped when it was reported that Christian terrorists had fire bombed the old foundations of the Jewish temple and scared away the workmen.

He pardoned all Christian bishops who were imprisoned or exiled by Constantius II. He granted freedom of worship for all religions:

Christian, Pagan, and Jew. Julian sent the word out that no Pagans were to retaliate against the Christians and Jews for their defaming the living Gods, their destruction of Pagans holy places, their burning of Pagan books, nor for their murder of Pagan men, women, and children. Julian, mistakenly believed that the best way to rebuild the declining Roman Empire was to make peace with the Jews and Christians and create a united Rome. This "hands across the Roman Empire" idealism would be the undoing of Julian.

But this evil tolerance of Judaism and Christianity was coupled with a righteous determination to revive Aryan Paganism and raise it to the level of an official religion with an established hierarchy. Learning from how his uncle Constantine I had established Christianity by declaring himself both the emperor of Rome and the head of the Christian church, the Emperor Julian was the head of a new Aryan Pagan church. He performed animal sacrifices and was a staunch defender of Pagan orthodoxy, issuing doctrinal instructions to his clergy. Not surprisingly, the Jews and Christians, who were intolerant of any God other than their false god of Israel, were filled with hate, rage, and murderous conspiracy.

Julian was smart enough not to trust Jews and Christians in leadership positions. Pagans were openly preferred for high official appointments, although, as a peace offering to the evil monotheists, a few token pukes and kikes were appointed to office. Julian was a man who had his bright moments and his blind spots.

Many Jews and Christians were expelled from the army, but others were allowed to stay in. At one point it looked as if Julian was going to bring these monotheist cocksuckers to justice, then he would let evil off the hook and preach a Pagan philosophy of tolerance. It was almost as if Julian had a death wish. What's wrong with White people?

Even odder is the fact that the great contemporary Pagan philosopher Ammianus, who admired Julian's virtues and was himself an adherent of the traditional Aryan religion, censured the Emperor Julian, because he fired Christians and Jews and gave their jobs to noble Aryan Pagans. Ammianus made this bizarre and self-hating statement: "That was inhumane, and better committed to oblivion, that he forbade teachers of rhetoric and literature to practice their profession if they were followers of the Christian religion." How stupid Ammianus was! Julian allowed these cocksuckers to work; the only thing he did was to fire these maggots from the public pay roll.

He should have killed them! As they had done to Pagans in the past and would do in the future.

Ammianus claimed that Julian was more into magic than the religious side of Paganism.

Even though he preached an evil tolerance for monotheism, some admirable events took place. Christian cities were penalized with slightly higher taxes, and anger mobs of virtuous Pagans, pissed off at the years of persecution at the hands of Christians and Jews, burned down some Christian churches, and Puke Bishops, who directed the burning of Pagan books, the destruction of Pagan holy places, and the murder of Pagan men, women, and children, including the vile, blood thirsty queer Athanasius, were banished, but sadly, Julian, didn't have the foresight to kill them. Disobeying Julian's orders not to harm these evil hate criminals, a group of Pagan sisters and brothers got their hands on one depraved Puke Bishop and wonderfully tortured this piece of shit to death. COOL! There's hope for mankind after all!

Julian re-installed the Aryan God Bacchus to the once Pagan basilicas of Emesa and Epiphaneia. Unfortunately, Julian allowed the Christian cocksuckers to keep their false Jew god in the holy Pagan temples.

When Julian was preparing for a campaign against the Persians, his returning of Aryan Pagan Goddesses and Gods to the great basilica and the removal of the fucking mummified body of the fagot 'martyr' Babylas, "a Christian holy relics", from the ancient, sacred Pagan grove of Daphne annoyed the hate filled Christians. Julian's odd sense of virtue did not impress Pagans, either. Many of the more keen Pagans were pissed off at Julian's undeserved tolerance for monotheists. Julian's naive era of religious tolerance didn't unite the Roman Empire, but only made the Emperor the enemy of the Jews, the Christians, and the Pagans who understood just how dangerous tolerating monotheism is.

The invasion by Persian forces of Roman territory was intolerable. Julian was not about to allow wogs to take Roman land in the middle east. He assembled an army of 65,000 men.

The Persians were aided by Christian treachery at home, and a Christian fifth column within the ranks of the Roman army.

During a Persian attack against the city of Ctesiphon, Julian was wounded by a spear thrown by a Christian assassin within the Roman army. The spear pierced Julian's liver, and he died.

Julian's Aryan religious policy had no lasting effect, but to show how stupid this notion is that Pagans can live in peace with monotheists. The Jewish and Christian conspirators wasted no time putting their evil coup about. The monotheist scum went about seizing TOTAL POWER and showed absolutely NO tolerance towards Pagan people, Pagan books, Pagan traditions, Pagan religious items, Pagan temples, and so on. They began rounding up Pagans and executing all who wouldn't bow down to evil and convert to Christianity. From this point on, it was down hill for Aryan Paganism. Middle Eastern Imperialism grabbed control of Aryan Rome and ruled with an iron heel. They used Rome as the seat to spread universalism and hate for the White race. Every Folk custom was viewed with great suspicion by the fagot Popes of Rome. White women were extremely hated by the Jewish church. Aryans who kept the Folk traditions vibrant were tried for witchcraft and many were burnt alive or killed by numerous other inhuman tortures. If Julian only had the foresight to understand just how evil monotheists are, he would not have practiced religious tolerance and would have rounded up these alien cultists and dealt with them as radical as they, later on, dealt with us.

Julian had the opportunity to save Aryan civilization from the alien disease, but his reactionary notion of fairness and justice for all gave the enemies of our race the foothold they needed to steal our homeland from us. The story of Julian teaches us that our actions do matter. Being a reactionary and tolerating our enemies will cause nothing but pain and suffering to our people.

Christian Knavery Re-Captures Rome

In the 4th century of the Common Era, the Holy Paynim were divided on how best to drive the Christian imperialists out of Europe.

Eusebius of Myndus was a Neo-Platonist theoretician. He was not interested in the occult side of Paganism as were most Pagans of his day. He disregarded religious magic, known as theurgy, which most ancient Pagans advocated.

The common thinking of most Pagan philosophers of the day was that the Folk had neglected the true Goddesses and Gods of our race and allowed their temples to be ruined by Jewish and Christian bigots. They believed that since the Folk tolerated this gigantic foreign malignancy that the High Ones turned their backs on the unworthy White people.

The Great Emperor Julian found Eusebius of Myndus too earthly and mundane for his taste. Julian was turned off by philosophical Paganism and attracted to the occult teachings of Maximus of Ephesus.

Maximus of Ephesus was, also, a Neo-Platonist theoretician, however, he was different from the former in that he was a theurgic shaman whose foremost feat was the bringing to life of a Greek statue of the hero Hecate. Julian was impressed with the magic of Maximus of Ephesus and summoned him to Constantinople as an adviser to the royal court where he became an icon in the New Pagan Revival and earned the hatred of the Christian and Jewish imperialists and hate criminals.

The Christians murdered the Pagan Emperor Julian and replaced him with a traitor named Flavius Jovianus or later called Jovian. Jovian was Roman emperor from 363 to 364.

Jovian, a Pannonian officer, was ordered by the Christian traitors to assassinate the emperor Julian. To do this, Jovian was sure to never leave the emperor's side and joined the campaign against the invading wog army of Sasanian Persia. (The Persians were once an Aryan people, but by the time of Julian, most of them were fairly mixed racially.)

When Jovian saw an opening, he had Julian killed by his Christian henchman. Jovian proclaimed himself emperor and leader of the reborn Christian state. Many people felt Jovian had cut a deal with the racially mixed Persians, because Jovian instantly sued for peace and handed the dark skin Persians large sections of Aryan land, surrendering to the wog Persians all Roman national soil east of the Tigris River, together with the Aryan cities of Singara and Nisibis. Jovian gave the wogs the land which is now modern day Turkey and Iraq. He ordered the closing down of White settlements in these Aryan territories and forced the native Whites out of their homeland so the sand nergoes could take over, and still to this day, the Arabs control our land.

Julian's Roman army was far superior to the Persian, both in man power and weaponry.

Many Romans were pissed off at this knife in the back. Everyone knew Julian wouldn't have betrayed Rome by giving her land to a bunch of Semites.

As a Christian who hated his own Aryan tradition and worshipped the Semitic way of life of our enemy, Jovian oppressed the beautiful Paganism that had been allowed to flourish under Julian. Magical practices were forbidden. More burnings of Pagan books. Pagan music was outlawed. Heterosexual nudity was banned. Pagan Temples were destroyed. Pagan men, women, and children were murdered. Little boys were raped. Christianity had again raised its ugly head.

While the betrayal was still fresh on his hands, some Roman patriots caught Jovian on his way to Constantinople and killed this piece of shit.

Albeit the Christians killed all members of the royal families who were believed to be Pagans. They were not leaving anything to chance. The Christians moved fast to prevent a Pagan leader from taking over Rome. The homosexual pedophilias who controlled Christianity appointed two Arian (Arian, not Aryan. Arianism is a Christian heresy which teaches Jesus was not divine and was created by the god of Israel, while Catholicism teaches Father, Son, and Holy Ghost are the same being.) Christian brothers, Valentinian and Valens, as co-emperors of a divided Roman Empire, East and West. The Christians wanted a divided Empire in order to make control easier.

Maximus of Ephesus was imprisoned by the Eastern Christian emperor Valens for witchcraft and Paganism, our hero escaped from the prison cell of ancient ZOG, but was re-arrested by the iron heel and executed.

The Arian Christian suzerainty of Valentinian and Valens was brutal on Pagan people and Aryan Folk traditions.

Although the Empire had been divided before, on paper at least, into two parts, this was the first time the Roman Empire, in reality, was shredded.

In the West, being a typical Christian, Valentinian preached the lie of Christian love but practiced ferocious, authoritarian genocide against Pagan people. He terrorized the Roman Senate, where there remained much Pagan support.

In the East, Valens was inept, distrustful and very effeminate. Valens established severe persecutions of the scholarly Pagan nobility. The Pagans wouldn't tolerate this ill injustice for long, and the Pagan hero Procopius, a relative of Julian, rose and the people proclaimed him emperor in Constantinople (September 365). The Christian church demanded that its followers pay it 10% of their income. This, needless to say, made the Christian church rich and strong. Money talks\ bullshit walks. The Christian Valens bribed many of Procopius' troops, and they turned on righteousness and fought for the Jewish cult. Procopius the Great was betrayed and executed by the Christian invaders.

In the winter of 371, Valens crushed a Pagan uprising lead by Theodorus at Antioch.

The Wotanic Visigoths remained loyal to Procopius's cause of a Pagan Rome. Valens never forgave the Germans, and he persecuted the Germanic Pagans to the North. In 378, the Wotanic tribes killed his worthless, Christian ass at the Battle of Adrianople. The Germanic take over of Rome had begun. Many historians believed that Valens' lose at Adrianople brought about the demise of ancient Rome. However, the noted historian Gibson's Rise and Fall of The Roman Empire puts the death of Rome firmly on the shoulders of Christianity.

Letter

Wyatt,

....how much are Pagan Revival if you buy by bulk...
Eric

Brother Eric:

The normal 48 page Pagan Revival can be bought: 20 copies for $20 in the USA. If you plan to sale the magazine, please ask at least $5 per copy so you don't under cut me. I'm losing my ass on the magazine as it is without having someone selling it cheaper than I can afford to. I'll be losing money on the deal, but hopefully, I'll gain in the long run with new sub sales. I was paying someone $8 an hour to type, but now I bought a scanner. It should lower my costs.

I'm thinking of putting out a special smaller version of P.R. for street hand out. A 16 pager could be made cheaply. If I did large runs, I could get the printing cost down greatly. I think the first 1,000 would be about $250, then $20 or $30 for each 1,000 copies after that. If people are interested in ever getting active, they should let me know. Otherwise, it is just Bread and Circus forever ...Wyatt

THERE IS NO FREEDOM WITHOUT A GOVERNMENT OF OUR OWN!

There Can Be No Freedom Without Power!

Freedom doesn't come from a piece of paper. It doesn't come from some words they told you in the public schools. Freedom comes from power. Without power, there is no freedom. All powerless people in every form of government are slaves. To be powerless under communism, capitalism, Fascism, zionism, democracy or feudalism means you are a slave. Likewise, to be powerful under anyone of these systems guarantees your freedom. Power is the foundation of freedom. We have no freedom, because we have no power. This is our situation.

Neither the Left nor the Right will give us freedom. For any one who can give us freedom, also, has the power to take it away. True freedom is not granted. It is not a "God given right" as the Right wing claims.

Real freedom is solely acquired through one's own strength.

If the U.S. Constitution gives you freedom, then the U.S. Constitution, also, has the power to take away you're freedom. Only a slave can be given freedom.

Under American Democracy, freedom of the press is granted to anyone who can afford it as long as they don't become a problem. All the major information outlets are owned and controlled by either billionaires or multi-millionaires. Even the second string media is controlled by upper class people. How could a working class person or even an average middle class person own a television station, a radio station, or even a daily newspaper. Freedom of the press under democracy is a rich man's sport. Working class people can put out low circulation zines, but if your zine is too anti-universalist and is read by too many people, the government will find a way to get you. A good example of this is Jim Goad. The government didn't care about his newsletter Answer Me! because the readership was too low and only a small group of people ever new about it. Then he wrote The Redneck Manifesto. Jim Goad's book was too racial for the democratic "free press". The book was being read by too many people. (Not by White racialists, because most White racialists are too fucking stupid to read a book). Goad was even doing TV appearances. Democracy couldn't allow this. If it wasn't for Jim Goad writing The Redneck Manifesto, he wouldn't be sitting in jail right now.

In America, you have the freedom to disagree with the universalistic views of the state, but just don't allow too many people to hear you. For if you are heard by too many people, democracy will do everything in its power to destroy your life. They will comb through your past. They will talk too your neighbors. Double and triple check you tax records. And if they catch you breaking their fucked up laws, "hate criminals" (AKA anyone who disagrees with democracy's plan to kill the White race) will get sentenced to three, four, five, even nine times the jail time as customary. Being powerless really sucks!

Only a slave can be given his freedom; a revolutionary takes his freedom.

There is no freedom without power. We must be a movement for the creation of power. We should never be pleased with any freedom which is given to us.

For the "freedom" the kindly slave master gives his "good" and "loyal" slaves is not freedom at all, but merely a liberal form of slavery.

If we wish to be free, we must get up off our asses and work for it.

Always obey the prison rules.... We have to aim for empowerment and learn to control our rage and focus it into useful directions.

Letters

Wyatt,

I just finished reading #43. "The bowel movement is full of freaks, misfits, drunks, bums, psychos, free loaders, mom's boys, closet queers, booger eaters, and full time losers who want someone to entertain them, to baby sitter them, and do it for free or very cheaply." Damn! I've never heard anybody describe the race movement so dead on target! The race movement is a waste of time. It's not going any where. It never will go anywhere. You can't get the losers off their asses and get them active, so fuck the race movement. You're right we have to split away from the race movement to keep the turds from poisoning our pond.

White unity? Why should we unite with a bunch of losers who will just fuck up our movement like they did with their own movement? Aryan Paganism must become a movement within itself!

What kind of activities are you thinking of starting? Tom, WV

Brother Tom:

First we must figure out what are the greatest problems facing our people? I always hear. Where are all the White women. I can't meet any women. Why can't White guys meet women? Why don't they have girlfriends? The answer is look at them! Most guys in the movement have no job or a crappy job. Many are a bunch of drunken bums. Hell, if I were a White women, I, too, would rather fuck a Negro than these penniless, drunken losers we call racial comrades. Would you want your sister to marry someone in the movement? Fuck, no! I wouldn't allow it. I love my family too much to do that to them. Set your sister up with a bum who can't even support himself. Shit!

There you have our first four greatest problems. (1.) Movement males are no good at making money. We have to teach them how. (2.) Movement males drink too much. We need to fight alcohol abuse. (3.) Movement males tend to be alienated from women. We need to teach them how to deal with women. (4.) Movement males, generally speaking, can't find women on their own. Once we develop a better cadre we need to work on finding them women, but this is a long ways away, for most men who can't find women have a damn good reason why they can't. Fucking losers.

This will be hard as hell to do, since no one cares about anything. They don't even care about themselves. It's freaky to hear people talk about saving the White race, when their own lives are so lost.

Wyatt

Try to be a model prisoner, because this will help you with parole. The sooner you get out of jail the sooner you can spread the New Paganism in the streets

'Multi-Millionaire Gives The Lie To Marriage

The recent television extravaganza, "Who Wants To Marry a Millionaire," was reportedly viewed by 23 million Americans, with millions more viewing the interview with the winning bride who recanted her marriage vows.

Perhaps the most interesting thing to come out of this dog and pony show was the large number of video-journalists who declared this fiasco to be nothing short of "legalized prostitution".

This astounding occurrence has opened the door to allow people to look at marriage from a different perspective.

No matter how much religions and others try to sanctify marriage, the fact remains that, at its core, marriage is a contract where the woman agrees to trade sex for the money and material wealth of the man. Those who would disavow this basic fact simply are not realistic and honest.

It is unfortunate that females in this country consider sex to be their commodity in trade. It is all done on the sly, of course, like some female inside joke on all men, but it is hidden only enough to keep it from being talked about openly. Perhaps it is time to talk about this openly!

If the television show had been "Who Wants To Sleep With A Movie Star For A Million Dollars," there would have been probably a hundred million females wishing they could be the chosen one.

We are a nation of prostitutes! But some prostitutes think that they are better than other prostitutes. And some fools think that marriage vows make prostitution acceptable...Jerry "Tex" Wallace

Wyatt,

I wanted to write and let you know your magazine is the best thing I've read so far! By chance I came across Pagan Revival and I have not been more informed and inspired by any other literature more than the Pagan Revival! I've learned more from reading one issue (#43) about the "movement" than all the other things I've read put together.

Thank you for caring about our people and working so hard to reach out to us. Most of all, thanks for being honest and straight forward in your talk and in your writing.

Your exposure of the failures of a lot of the things the White (blight?) movement has done and is doing has really helped me see what I should be doing: educating myself in every way and bettering myself so I can do something positive and worthwhile with my life and for my race and future, simple things like you say: get an education, so we can make the money that wields the power to control the very elements which are destroying us! And, of course, be a man and start large White family that would truly be the best way to start a true revolution! The Turner Diaries and bullets have done nothing for us except get us killed or busted. I'm for strengthening what we have and getting back our lands and government the same way it was taken from us: get together and buy it back! Thanks for letting that be known, bro!

The best advice I heard all year was in #43:

"Read the Wall Street Journal, get a degree in business. Have a large family. There is nothing more revolutionary for a White man to be than a good father and husband!"

"...Money is power. There can be no freedom without power! There can be no justice without power!"

Let's buy back the police, military, etc. We sure the fuck can't beat the bastards in open combat! Thanks bro for opening me up to that; I was on that dead end "solution", thinking I'm gonna do something for my race by killing a couple of fags or Jews... "a grasshopper splattering itself against the wind shield of Air Force One!"

...I, basically, am new to the whole movement and have barely a clue to my Odinist heritage, but I'm learning and I have love for my people and I wish to see a brighter future for our children and country.

I'm one of them broke-ass, alcoholic, idiots who has been busted more often than free type of White guys, but I'm changing and I'm learning and I will succeed in doing something positive for our people the right way, especially, with help from true brothers like you who have their head on right.

All I have are these stamps and they are yours to help with whatever. I'm a loser right now, in prison, broke, with no family, no shit! Once I get the money, I'm subscribing to your zine for sure!

Here's all the stamps I got, if possible send me what Pagan Revival you can, and if not fuck it, I'll wait for some money. No other zine is worth it to me. Thanks for your time,

Sincerely Jay Jackson # H15826, PVSP, B1-2370,
P O Box 8502, Coalinga, CA 93210

PS. Hey, bro, what do you think about Satanism? Do you think it can be helpful to our race as a Pagan religion? Wasn't Satan called Baal in the Bible and wasn't Baal worshipped by early people? (Beelzebub) or is it just Jewish shit? I appreciate it if you would reply.

Also, would you be willing to take stamps to pay for a sub? I want to do what I can to support the Pagan Revival and I'm not educated enough to write essays (at least not yet)! Man, I want to learn about the movement and be a productive person for it. If I were to define the most important mission of your movement, how could I do it?

I'd appreciate it if you could help me out with these questions. Later!

Brother Jay:

I think the most important mission of the Pagan Revival is White Empowerment. By this I mean the individual Aryan Pagan should build the movement by FIRST building him or herself. Money is power. White Empowerment is the art of the individual Aryan "getting his shit together." The individual Aryan must learn to advance the Folk by First learning how to advance him or herself. What good are we to the revolution if we work at Jack In The Box for $5.25 an hour? How can people who can't even support themselves support a movement? What kind of woman would marry a guy who can't even afford his own apartment and is forced to live with his parents? I know White women who want to have a Family, but complain all the White guys are either gay or penniless. What kind of a woman would have kids with a guy who can't afford children?

Money is power. White Empowerment is the art of creating individual wealth. We must build the New Paganism one Aryan at a time.

How would Jay Jackson empower himself? Being in the joint can be the best thing that ever happened to you. Take full advantage of the classes they offer. Learn a trade in prison, get your G. E. D., take college classes. Learn computers, business, the law.... Take advantage of the programs the system offers, if they don't have many programs demand that they get them. If you can teach a class do so. I knew a brother who got his time reduced because he taught a computer class to other inmates. Not only will this help to empower you, but it will, also, help past the time.

Also, our people need to learn to avoid unnecessary fighting. Sometimes it's impossible to avoid a fight, but we should never bring it on, because this just plays into the system's hands.

Try to be a model prisoner, because this will help you with parole. The sooner you get out of jail the sooner you can spread the New Paganism in the streets.

Investing is hot now, and some experts say Wall Street will be booming for the next 25 years, because the market is greatly undervalued due to the fact that they used a 19th century standard to judge a 21st century stock market. These outdated theory of the old economy just don't work in today's market. I believe it was The Harvard Business Review said the Dow Jones could hit 36,000 before 2010. Some one is going to buy up a big chunk of America in the next 10 years. It should be us! It most likely will be our enemies. Whose fault is this? Our fault! The White race has a long history of screwing itself. Who's to blame for this, but ourselves?

Mother nature shows no mercy for the retards of the world. The White race has got to stop acting like we are retarded and begin empowering ourselves. If we don't do it, who will?

You are an intelligent Aryan. You have the ability to become rich and powerful. You just need to take the time and learn how to do it. Just remember, no one ever got rich working for someone else. No one ever got rich from getting drunk. No one ever got rich from robbing 7-11s. Mother nature blessed us with this wonderful Aryan brain; isn't it time we started using it?

Jay, you have realized that your biggest problem is yourself.

Most people can live to be 100 years old and will never realize this greatest of all universal truths: we are our own worst enemies.

Every now and then, some one who is new to the movement will ask me who is the greatest enemy the White race faces. I always feel like shoving a mirror in front of them and saying: "You are."

We will never get on the road to Aryan Empowerment until we realize we are the enemy who is holding us down. The man in the mirror is the face of our oppressor.

Jay, the fact that you are aware that you are personally responsible for your life puts you light years ahead of the masses. The only reason each of us doesn't live our life to our full potential is we are keeping our selves down.

With me, my temper has always fucked up my life. We all have our own demons. Many skinhead let booze and rage ruin their lives. If we can't save our selves how can we save others? If we can't control ourselves, how can we control others?

Most people in prison are there because: they had a fucked childhood, they don't know how to control their rage, they have no education, no trade, nor skill to hold a good paying job, they believe the Hollywood lie that you can get rich through crime, they have a drinking problem, they have a drug problem, or they have a low resistance to peer pressure. These are all things we can teach ourselves to over come. We are not victims, but masters of our own lives, or at least, we should try to be. We are powerless because we made ourselves that way. The enemies of our people are powerful, because they worked their asses to the bone making themselves that way. The main activity of the skinhead movement is to get together and get drunk and get into a fight, usually, with each other. When the A.D.L. meets, do you think they get drunk and beat the crap out of one another? No, only Negro gangsters and White power skinheads are that silly.

Being in the joint can be the best thing that ever happened to you. Take full advantage of the classes they offer. Learn a trade in prison, get your G. E. D., take college classes. Learn computers, business, the law.... Take advantage of the programs the system offers, if they don't have many programs demand that they get them. If you can teach a class do so..... Not only will this help to empower you, but it will, also, help past the time.

Do I think Satanism can be helpful to our race as a Pagan religion? Yes, Satanism first became a religion in Europe as a protect to M. O. G. (Monotheist Occupational Government). So it is a part of the New Paganism. I don't like the word ZOG. Real traditional Zionism teaches that the Jews should go back to Israel. I'm all for Zionism. Jew go home! The Identity Christians are against Zionism, because they want Israel for themselves and see it as their homeland. I think that the Zionists and the Identity Christians should both go home to the middle east and fight it out. Only then will we know who the true Jews are.

Yes, stamps are cool...Hail Odin! Wyatt

Wyatt,

Greetings. Let me start off by saying thank you for sending me #43. I really enjoyed your "zine". I'm from the Vista-Oceanside area myself and would like to become involved with your publication when I parole. I have about 10 months on a four year term, so I'll be out there soon. Anything I can do for the movement I'm all for. After all isn't that what it's all about? Doing what we can?

Any hate, let me touch on something you said that really made my blood boiling and my wheels turn. It was in your response to Brother D in issue #43. You said and I quote: "There is nothing more un-American than to build a White community. The stronger the White community becomes the weaker we make America."

The tree of liberty must be periodically fertilized by the blood of revolutionaries and the tyrants they oppose. It is its natural manure.

Thomas Jefferson

America is the cancer of the world. America is universalism. America is the New Zion. The American mission is to turn the world into a giant multi-racial melting pot where mankind will become a Semitic tar baby like Jesus Christ." Is that right?

Well, let me break this down for you so maybe you can understand.

First of all, what do you think America started out as? It sure wasn't a multi-racial melting pot. It was a free White nation. Now, yes, what you said does seem to be the way of the American government today. It sickens me to see my country in the state that it's in; It's not the American way. Our forefathers weren't sympathizers or race traitors. They were all racially conscious, proud White folks. If they weren't then why didn't they share this land with the Indians and live in peace and harmony? But instead took it from them by any means necessary and made it "Our Land"? So all that garbage about "there's nothing more un-American than a White community." It's just not true! Maybe in this day and age, yeah. But this is no longer the land of the free. For the past 50 years or so the supreme court and congress has systematically raped the bill of rights and reduced the American population to a well dressed herd of sheep. When we allowed that to happen it's no wonder things are the way they are in this country today. It's nobody's fault but ours. This is supposed to be a democracy, a government for the people, by the people, which it is not. To think we can build a White community is a far fetched fantasy and misleading our people. Now, don't get me wrong, there's nothing more I'd like to see than a White community. But there's certain steps we must take first. Look what happened to Richard Scutari and the Order or Waco, Texas or Ruby Ridge. America has always had one of if not the best militaries in the world. There's no way we are going to defeat them and overthrow the government. To preach anything else to our people is White self-genocide. I am a proud American and believe in Race and Nation and will fight to the death backing my beliefs. The first thing we need to do is tighten up the reigns on this country by educating the masses and opening their eyes to the truth around them. Thomas Jefferson once said, "The tree of liberty must be periodically fertilized by the blood of revolutionaries and the tyrants they oppose. It is its natural manure." The time is now to make the stand. "We The People;" control this land.

In the next issue I will elaborate on the steps I feel we must take. I would appreciate it if you would print this letter along with my address. Looking for correspondence and any and all feed back on this issue...With Racial Love and Loyalty, 14/88... Bryan Duffin, K-705A7, AD-SEG 123 low, PO Box 5002, Calipatria, CA 92233

Brother Bryan:

Although my mail box is in Bonsall, I haven't lived in the Oceanside-Vista-Fallbrook-Bonsall area in years. I travel with my job. I live now in the hills above the beach near Del Mar. Who knows where I'll be tomorrow. I follow my work around city to city. I've lived in every major city and most minor towns in both Riverside and San Diego counties. Pagan Revival is a magazine on the go.

So when you get out drop me a line at the Bonsall box, but I can't promise you I'll be any where near Bonsall at the time.

You made some good points. I use to think a lot like you, but I've change my whole thinking over the years.

When I think of America, I think of the U.S. government. I have a hard time calling my self an American (AKA citizen of the U.S. government). Many Odinists call America Vinland and Canada Markland. This is what the Vikings named our homeland. The thinking being America and Canada are universalistic places where the flood gates are open to Third Word invaders, while Vinland and Markland are the Aryan Ideal of this land. I have a real problem calling myself an American. It's like bowing down to tyranny.

I think of myself as a White man, not as an American. America is just an evil which controls my homeland.

How did America start? A bunch of powerless Christian bigots in Europe thought they were following the Jewish teaching more faithfully than the powerful Christian bigots who controlled the European states. The powerless Jesusfreaks left Europe, not to form an Aryan Racialist Nation, but a Christian nation where they could honor Jewish religious beliefs in their own way. America was founded as a Christian nation, not as a racialist nation. They wanted religious freedom, not racial determination. Race meant nothing to the early settlers. The Jew Jesus meant everything. They came across Indians. They called them "red heathens". A heathen is a word the Christians called Germanic Pagans and Vikings. So, in a sense, they were calling the Indians "red Vikings" or "red Germans". The Christians saw a parallel between American Indians and their own Pagan past, and they hated the Indians for reminding them of who they once were. So the White Christians started killing the "red heathens" just as their Christian forefathers had slaughtered the White heathens many centuries before. The Indian wars had to do more with religion than race. The White Christians only fought against "heathen Indians". Once the Indians convert to Christianity and became "civilized" they were welcome into the American community as citizens. This is why so many White Americans are part Indian. They didn't marry the "savage Indians" who fought against the "White man's culture" and hid in hills and tried to save their native Pagan way of life. The Christians set up schools for the Indians and tried like hell to turn them White. Would a racist do this?

If America was a racist nation and wanted to kill off the Indians, why did they set up Indian Reservations so the Indians who refused to integrate with White society could have a place to live. The American Indian policy was not to kill the Indians, but to civilize them and make them good Americans. The Indian wars started when Indians resisted White civilization.

Many of the Indian tribes disappeared, not because they were killed by Whites, but because they intermarried with them. Is there a White person in Oklahoma who doesn't claim to be part Cherokee?

Most Cherokee Indian DNA got sucked up by a greater amount of Aryan DNA. The same is true with the Yokut Indians of central California. When I was a kid, there were only 36 Yokut Indians in the world. They all married White people. Not one Yokut Indian married a Yokut Indian. They killed themselves through race mixing. In the early 1800s, there were 1,000s of Yokuts. A few 100 died off from the White man's diseases. But where did the rest of the Yokuts go. Unlike the Great Plains Indians, the Yokuts did not resist "civilization" and they were absorbed into White America. This is the American way. E Pluribus Unum, baby, like it says on the one dollar bill. From many races, comes one race. E Pluribus Unum is the motto of America. If the founding fathers were racists, why did they pick such a race mixing motto? Instead of "from many, comes one" wouldn't a racist motto be: "Keep the White race pure"? Why isn't this the motto of America instead of E Pluribus Unum? Because the free masons and universal Christians who formed the United States were universalists, not racists or should I say not racist in the same way we use the word.

Perhaps, some White settler were at a level of race awareness as we are today, but not many. The ruling Whites were White Supremacists, not White Separatists as we are.

We want to live away from non-Whites. Many of the founding fathers were slave owners who imported blacks to live within the White community because they were too cheap to pay White working class people an honest wage. I've never heard of even one person during the American Revolution say to Thomas Jefferson nor George Washington: "Sir, stop bringing black slaves into America. You will hurt the White race in the long run." Why didn't a single person question importing blacks? Because no one back then were racial separatists like we are. They were White Supremacists who created a multi-racial America. The United States was founded on multi-racialism. In the early days of America, non-Whites had little rights, now they have more rights than Whites.

The very first post Viking White settlement in North America brought black slaves with them. The White Supremacists refused to allow America to be an all White nation, because they were too busy exploiting non-Whites to think about future generations of Whites. White Supremacy is race treason, because all White Supremacists believe they have a God given right to exploit non-Whites. Washington and Jefferson loved to fuck their black slaves. Do racists fuck black women? They do if they are White Supremacists, but they don't if they are White Separatists. America was never "racist" in a good sense of the word. As meaning a love for the White race. Although, I agree with you, that not all of our forefathers were bad, and some were even racially enlightened, James Madison, for instance, wanted to end slavery and ship the blacks back to Africa. But he was President of the United States and never shipped one back. Why? Because America wouldn't let him, America wanted to hang on to its blacks slaves, so she could use them as a source of cheap labor. Fuck America. Hail Vinland! The Viking settlements in America were wiped out from warring with the Indians.

If the Vinland settlements would have survived, they wouldn't have tried to convert the Indians to Odinism. The Vikings, unlike the Christians, would have been pissed off if non-Whites started worshipping their Gods. The Viking wouldn't have shipped in black slaves as the White Supremacist Christians and free masons did.

But like I've said before, this is just my view of American history. All Aryan Pagans are free to think for themselves, unlike some sects in the movement...Hail Odin! Wyatt

Brother Wyatt:

Enclosed is a check for $20, and some magazine reviews I typed up.... You sent me a sample issue of Pagan Revival which I passed around. I couldn't stop reading it. Everyone who read it either loved it or hated it. I, especially, enjoyed your diatribe against slackers etc., and your financial info was timely. As of now too many Whites are forgetting everything which matters in favor of a quest for money. Capitalism is in direct opposition to all that's natural, but we must deal with reality, and the reality is that money equals power. Another reality is that rampant Capitalism and Christianity (and Identity) has turned most into Jewophiles. ...More later, Nathan A Lindell #303724, WCI, PO Box 351, Waupun, WI 53963-0351

PS Keep it up, one day the bogs will reek with shirkers!

Brother Nate:

Thanks for buying a sub. Most of Pagan Revival's support is coming from prison. Since PR is a meritocracy, we should be thinking of setting up programs to help prisoners. Legal defenses. Prisoner rights. Social programs to help prisoners adjust to life on the outside, etc.

Christianity started in the slave quarters of Rome. The New Pagan is starting out in the Iron Heel's prisons.

It sounds like poetic justice to me....Hail Odin! Wyatt

Heilsa and What The Fuck:

I'm an Odinist. I'm in prison. I read your zine. I liked it! Here's a $10 donation so you can continue the fight. No need to send me a sub. As I read somebody else's who gets it here. You're doing the right thing. Keep up the good work....By Thor's Hammer, W. Millsaps Box 788 #280-588, Mansfield, OH 44901

Brother Millsaps:

Thanks for the donation. This is the second donation Pagan Revival has gotten now. I'm going to give you a sub anyway. You should have your own sub. Right now, about 75% of Pagan Revival's paid subscribers are behind bars. This is why I dislike the middle class. The people who can afford giving the least are always the one's to give the most. The people who can afford to give the most always give the least. The rich expect every one to kiss their asses. And this is what the movement has been doing since 1865. And our brown nosing the upper classes has never gotten us any where. I think Pagan Revival should focus on teaching the lower class how to empower themselves in order to create a power base.

For Odin...Wyatt

Hi, Wyatt:

First off, how about the latest propaganda film "Hurricane"? I hate to review something that I haven't seen, but from what I heard the entire film was one long lie about the innocence of this poor black man who was unfortunately born in a white society. Perhaps the most reprehensible lie was the coverage of his title shot at boxing's middleweight championship in 1964 against Joey Giradello, an honorable champion who was forced to wait a decade to obtain a title shot and fought Carter in his first title defense.

As a former boxer, I am capable of separating my personal feelings about Ruben Carter from my boxing opinion. By the way; my personal feeling about Carter is that he was guilty of everything he was charged of, and probably then some; I'd love to track the brutal black animal down and slaughter him myself. But I can be objective about boxing, and I have all the respect in the world for anyone who can fight at the championship level. I have watched excerpts from the fight, and it was a close decision, but at the end Giradello was not in any kind of trouble like he was depicted in the film. A close fight traditionally goes to the champ, and Carter didn't take Joey out. Oh well, what's a little truth compared to a good story? Interesting, though, how weak the Jews position is to be forced to lie about little things. Giradello held a press conference that was covered on Friday Night Fights in which he announced that he was suing the Jew producer, let's wish him well.

How about the LAPD's latest scandal? Let's hope that the Negro and Mestizo gang-bangers sue the hell out of the city, let it blow, and never forget Lakeview Terrace, and how those bastards in the LAPD treated Tom Metzger and the rest of our friends. Let the non-whites gun the LAPD down, I'm cheering them on!

And how about the acquittal of the NYPD officers in the shooting of the African "immigrant"? In a civilized society we would be cheering for the cops, but this has become an uncivilized society, so I'm cheering for Sharpton and the impending federal civil wrongs charges should make for great entertainment.

And did you hear about the Negro demand for reparations? Our old friend Randall Robinson has written a book called The Debt, in which he mentions the trifle sum of $1.4 trillion in "unpaid wages" for Negro slaves! And something called The National Coalition of Blacks for Reparations has called for a $100 billion "down payment" that would be used to set up 10 institutes where "scholars" could research slavery and its aftermath. Don't we have great enemies?

Finally, how about all of these quests for harmony, in which panels of non-whites get together with guilt ridden liberal whites to "breech the gap" between the races (good luck!)? Don't these dumb bastards realize the futility of converting the converted? That was even brought up to sleaze Dees when he was speaking to his brain-washed flock.

Well, that's about it for now, let's make Pagan Revival enormous, keep rolling the press! Thomas Padgett

Brother Wyatt:

Thank you for the PR #42 and for writing me back, it means a lot to me. I appreciate you promoting a positive message of revolution through self betterment and higher education in order to obtain wealth, which is power, to take back our land and our country and to build an economic base for the Odinic community; to be a loving father and husband to a large, Pagan family, giving them all the opportunities of an upper class education to further build the stronghold of Pagan run businesses and a strong folk community, strengthening our survival and by creating better respected White people with power.

Like you said, "...dying for the White race is easy, living for the White race is a bitch!" That's promoting the survival of our race!

I thank the Gods for coming across the Pagan Revival and learning these positive ideas. It probably has saved my life and spared a life prison sentence where I could do nothing for the Folk.

Dying for the our race does nothing for the preservation of the beauty of our children or their future, but living and becoming a better White person through education, acquiring wealth and having large, proud, Pagan families is revolutionary and does a whole lot!

I honor you, bro, for showing such love and care for the Folk that you promote life and positive action, instead of death, which won't change ZOG's (MOG's) opinions nor make the White ignorant sheep racially aware.

I, now, have a whole new perspective on my part in our cause which I so desperately want to contribute to and it begins with bettering and evolving myself. As to your letter you sent me, I'm going to enroll in the g.e.d. class and get it, then take a trade class, and when I get out of here (I have six years left!) I'm off to college for my degree in business and when my home boys are drinking at the bars or beating off in the joint, I'll be reading the Wall Street Journal! I will make a difference, bro, because I'm tired of being a loser and beating the shit out of non-Whites to no avail!

I want to be involved in the Pagan movement and I need to learn more about my true spirituality. I hope you can lead me to a better understanding of it. I had a girlfriend send you the sub fee. So I hope I can get PR #45 and the rest of them for as long as possible, for I surely have a lot to learn!

Here's a few questions I wanted to ask you:

(1.) Can you give me an example (to better argue my cause) of how the top 50 blue chip companies use their power to control the government and basically run America?

(2.) What kind of public outreach programs do you have? I wish somehow I could be a part of it.

(3.) Are the Folk Gods alive within our collective unconscious (our racial soul)? Or in the spiritual realm? Or both?

Here's a pamphlet from the White Order of Thule, it seems they are saying negative things about Odinism and make me feel like the Gods are all in my head. If you have the time, could you possibly review it? It would probably be a great topic of discussion!

"The Aryan is greatest not in his mental qualities as such, but in his extent of his willingness to put all his abilities in the service of his community. In him the instinct for self-preservation has reached its noblest form, since he willingly subordinates his EGO to the life of the community and, if the hour demands. Even sacrifices for it." Adolph Hitler-M.K. My idea exactly! Jay Jackson 14/88

A SONG OF BLASPHEMY

By Jay Jackson

Monotheist, come to me/ with your religion,/ defile my ground with your murder. You may say "One God, One way," an oath of righteousness - but it is a road of destruction, of monotheistic terror, a Satanic feat- of power, of pride, of deranged minds, of murdering greed.... I preach death to your philosophy, / your cowardness/ bought with one man's blood/ so many can be deceived.... Come Monotheist, let us reckon together. And let me murder your soul/ before your god and the world.... Let your children sing to your un-righteousness,/ of your power / of the death you've inflicted, / and no longer turn to hidden words/ that steal/ the life from our flesh/ and the joy from our souls.

Brother Jay:

Question (1.) Give an example how 50 blue chip companies use their power to control the government and run America?

Answer (1.) One example. Out side of the fact that the blue chip companies control all the means of communications, they, also, advertise in the media. They control the forum, the message of the forum, and the means of support for the forum. If this isn't absolute power, then what is?

Question (2.) What kind of public outreach programs do you have? I wish somehow I could be a part of it.

As of this minute: none. People in the bowel movement are not very active. Actually, most are the living dead. The only good 90% of the movement are for is they make great finks. A bunch of bums waiting for some one to entertain them.

Since I'm getting more support from inside the prisons than on the outside, the first out reach program should be prison reform and development. Prison reform would sooner or later lead to the abolishment of the prison system since caging human beings like wild animal is a creation of MOG. Pre-Christian peoples had no prisons. No moral civilization should. Slavery is more humane since a slave can marry, have children, and walk free among the community as a human being should, but he or she is still being punished by being denied certain social privileges. Even black slaves in the South had the freedom to own their own small businesses on the side. Some slaves worked hard and bought their own freedom. Black slaves had Sundays off. They were free to go to church and socialize with their own people. In the Winter months, when there was not farm work to do many were given vacations where they could go out of town and visit friends and relatives. MOG prisoners don't EVER get a day off. And slaves in pre-Christian Northern Europe had it a lot better than black slaves in America.

Prisoner self-development and empowerment should be our first program. We need to get as much out of the prison system as we can. If they offer classes, our people need to be the first to sign up. If the prisons have no social programs, we should start them.

A friend of mine told me when he was in the joint he wrote book and magazine publishers and told them his story that he was a convict in prison who wanted to straighten out his life by educating himself and if they would send him their seconds (books that are flawed and can't be sold) that he would pay for the postage. This convict got tons of free books and magazines for just the price of postage. He educated himself and is now a Aryan business man. Many convicts believe the Hollywood lie that they can get ahead in life by pulling a fast con on someone; these people are doomed to rot in a cage. The Iron Heel's law are set up to fuck us. They make laws in hopes that we'll break their laws, so they will have an excuse to take our freedom: We can't find freedom by walking into the enemy's trap. We can't fight the oppressor by breaking his laws. I once believed we could, but I was wrong.

Set up business classes. Anger Management groups. For Sex Offenders, have classes to teach them to control their rage against women. Have A. A. meetings and drug rehab meetings. This is the type of things real religions do. Always obey the prison rules. Have these groups open to all prisoners, so you won't have problems with the prisons. Don't form White "gangs" for this just gets you in shit with the system. Smile a lot. Be a part of a sea of smiling faces. The nicer we become the more we can do. This Aryan bad ass game has just hurts us. Even the S. S. spent most of their day smiling at people and being friendly. Smile and the world will like you. If people hate you it's their lose.

If you guys want to start a kindred, tell me and I'll work on seeing what type of programs I can swing. We have to aim for empowerment and learn to control our rage and focus it into useful directions.

(3.) Are the Folk Gods alive within our collective unconscious (our racial soul)? Or in the spiritual realm? Or both?

Answer (3.) I believe the Gods are living beings. This is Pagan Revival's position. Some people believe they are symbols of the Nordic character. This is the Jungian view. I believe both the Jungian idea that the Gods live in our blood and that they (the Gods), also, are living beings as we are. People are free to believe as they wish. There is a branch of Odinism that is a lot like Chinese Taoism. Pagans were always free to honor the Gods as they saw fit.

Subscribe to Pagan Revival
today!

4 issues
Only $20

Make All Checks & Money Orders Payable to: Wyatt Kaldenberg
P.O. Box 686
Bonsall, CA 92003
Single issues $5.00

PRISONERS
SUBSCRIPTION INFO
For U. S. Prisoners Only!!!
Inmate Subs Only $8.00

If you are in an American jail and do not have eight bucks, nor eight bucks worth of stamps, you can write articles or send in art work.. Write Wyatt Kaldenberg first to see what the needs of Pagan Revival are. Pagan Revival is sent all over the world and to many prisons in the U.S., so I can't use any art that conflicts with overseas laws nor Department of Correction Title 15